FOREWORD

The Constitution requires each house of the General Assembly to keep a Journal of its proceedings. The Journal is intended to assure a public account of legislative activity and constitutes the final official record of action by the General Assembly.

Under the provisions of Section 6.161, 6.162 and 57.151 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, the Legislative Research Commission is responsible for comparing, editing, correcting, and publishing the Journals as approved by each house of the General Assembly. This volume represents the fulfillment of this obligation for the House of Representatives of 1978.

The text of a bill is spread in full when it receives a first reading. The roll call on passage of a bill is indicated upon its receipt of a third reading, or upon concurrence by the originating house in amendments by the second house. Simple and concurrent resolutions are printed on first reading when applicable or when adopted, and joint resolutions are treated as bills. A table of actions on bills and resolutions is appended.

Mrs. Shan Stone Gray and Mrs. Martha Jane Rogers prepared the 1978 House Journal. The edited copy and index found in this volume reflect the cooperative efforts of the commission's staff.

HR 3, A RESOLUTION adopting permanent rules of the House of Representatives.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Rule 1. Hours of Meeting. The House shall meet at times set by the Committee on Committees.

Rule 2. Quorum. A majority of the members elected to the House shall constitute a quorum. If a quorum is not present at the time fixed for a meeting of the House, five members may adjourn or recess from day to day or from time to time and fifteen members may order a call of the House and send for absent members.

Rule 3. Call of the House. Upon a call of the House, the Clerk shall call the roll. Absentees are then only noted, but no excuses shall be made until the full roll is called. The clerk shall then call the absentees again. Excuses will be heard at this time. The doors of the House Chamber shall then be closed and the absentees not excused by the House may be sent for and arrested by the Sergeant-at-Arms and the House shall determine upon what conditions they shall be discharged from arrest. Members who voluntarily appear shall be immediately admitted to the floor of the House and names returned upon the Journal as present unless the House otherwise directs. Excuses for leaves of absence must receive a consent approval of 2/3 of the members elected.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

Rule 4. Order of Business. The order of business shall be as follows:

1. Invocation.
2. Roll Call.
3. Reading and approval of the Journal.
4. Introduction and Reading of New Bills and Resolutions Introduced by Title and Sponsor.
5. Report of Reference of Bills to Committees.
6. Report of Committees.
7. First Reading of Bills.
8. Second Reading of Bills.
9. Orders of the Day.
10. Motions, Petitions and Communications.
11. Announcements.
12. Adjournment.

No more than thirty minutes shall be allotted to Motions, Petitions and Communications.

Rule 5. Unfinished Business. Unfinished business which was being considered upon adjournment shall have precedence in the class of business to which it properly belongs upon the next succeeding legislative day.

MOTIONS

Rule 6. Reading of Motions. When a motion has been made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or, being in written form, it shall be read by the Clerk before debate, amendment or motion concerning it shall be in order.

Rule 7. Withdrawal of Motions. Every oral motion after it has been stated by the Speaker, and every written motion, bill, resolution or other paper, after it has been read by the Clerk, shall be the property and in the possession of the House and shall not be withdrawn without consent of the House. Every written motion, report or measure may be committed or recommitted at the pleasure of the House.

Rule 8. Order of Questions. All questions, whether in Committee of the Whole or in the House, when not privileged questions, shall be propounded in the order in which they were moved, except that in filing blanks the smallest sum and the most remote date shall be put first.

Rule 9. Precedence of Motions. When a question is under consideration, no motion shall be in order except:

1. To call the House when there is no quorum present.
2. To fix the time to which the House shall adjourn.
3. To adjourn.
4. To take recess.
5. To lay on the table.
6. For the previous question.

7. To limit or extend limits of debate.
8. To postpone to a fixed time.
9. To lay on the Clerk's Desk.
10. To refer or commit.
11. To amend.
12. To postpone indefinitely.

The above several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged and the first seven of them shall not be debatable.

A second motion to adjourn, to take a recess, to lay on the table, for the previous question, to limit or extend limits of debate, to postpone to a time certain, to lay on the Clerk's desk, to refer or commit or to postpone indefinitely shall not be in order on the same day, upon the same question, and at the same status unless other business intervenes; provided, however, that amendments may be made to the time to which it is proposed to adjourn, to take a recess or to postpone to a fixed time.

Rule 10. Motion to Adjourn. A motion to adjourn, to take a recess, or a motion to adjourn to a time certain, shall always be in order, except when a member is speaking, while a vote is being taken or when the Committee on Committees is reporting; subject, however, to the limitations set out in Rule 9. A motion to adjourn or a motion to adjourn to a time certain shall be taken by roll call vote.

Rule 11. Motion to Table. The adoption of the motion to table, under these rules, defeats the subject matter under consideration. The reconsideration of the motion to table shall require approval of a majority of the members elected.

Rule 12. Previous Question. When the previous question has been ordered, a vote shall be taken immediately upon the pending measure and such pending amendments as are in order. The effect of the previous question shall be to put an end to all debate; to prevent the offering of additional amendments and to bring the House to an immediate vote upon the measure and amendments aforesaid. The previous question may be ordered by a majority of the members elected. On the call of the roll, no member shall be allowed to speak more than three minutes to explain his vote and shall not speak at all if the question is not a debatable question. After the previous question has been ordered, and before the vote upon the main question, the opponents of the measure shall have ten minutes, and proponents of the measure shall have ten minutes.

Rule 13. Motion to Set the Limits on Debate. A motion to set a time limit for debate on a measure, in excess of that permitted under Rule 12, shall be in order unless the previous question shall have been ordered on the measure. The time limit set for debate under this rule shall be allotted by the Speaker evenly between the opponents of the measure and the proponents of the measure. Adoption of a motion under this rule does not prevent the offering of additional amendments.

Rule 14. Motion to Reconsider. A motion to reconsider a vote shall not be in order unless made by a member who voted upon the prevailing side of the question; nor shall such motion be in order unless made within two legislative days in which the House is in session next after the date the vote was taken; however, the motion to reconsider when coupled with the additional motion to lay that motion upon the table may be made by any member.

Rule 15. Motion to Lay on Clerk's Desk. The effect of the adoption of a motion to lay on the Clerk's desk under these rules is to place in charge of the Clerk the pending question and everything adhering to it. A motion laid on the Clerk's desk may be taken from the desk and proceeded with at any time in the same order as when laid on the Clerk's desk.

Rule 16. Motion to Strike Out Enacting Clause. A motion to amend by striking out the enacting words of a bill or resolution shall have precedence over a motion to amend; and, if adopted, shall have the same effect as though the bill or resolution were regularly voted upon and rejected.

Rule 17. Motion to Separate Part of a Measure. A motion to commit, recommit, or postpone a part of a measure so as to separate that part of the measure from the remainder shall not be in order.

Rule 18. Postponement of Measure. When a measure shall have been postponed indefinitely it shall not be in order again during the session.

Rule 19. Reading of Pending Papers. Any pending bill, resolution, motion or report shall be read by the Clerk upon the demand of any member, but it shall not again be read on the same day unless so ordered by the House.

Rule 20. Nominations. In all elections a previous nomination shall be made.

MEMBERS

Rule 21. Attendance of Members. No member shall absent himself from a session of the House without leave from the House. Written request for leave of absence may be obtained from the Clerk of the House and shall be submitted to the Speaker. The request shall state thereon the member's excuse for obtaining the leave. No excuse for leave of absence shall be heard from the floor.

Rule 22. Decorum of Members. No member shall designate another member by name.

Rule 23. Call to Order. If any member, in speech or otherwise, transgress the rules of order or decorum, he shall immediately be called to order by the chair and shall take his seat. The Clerk shall reduce the objectionable words to writing and read them to the House. After hearing a short explanation from the member called to order, or upon the withdrawal of the objectionable language, the Speaker may permit the member to proceed, or may compel silence upon him until the matter is disposed of. The ruling of the chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House. A member offending the House shall be liable to censure.

Rule 24. Debate. No member may speak more than once to the same subject until all members desiring to be heard have spoken, but nothing in this rule shall do away with the previous question if then in effect, nor permit debate on an undebatable motion.

No member shall speak more than thirty minutes in the aggregate on any question or measure, at the end of which period, or any portion thereof, the floor shall be returned to the Speaker.

Rule 25. Members Shall Vote at Seats. A member shall vote only when at his seat or visibly approaching it.

OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES

Rule 26. Duties of Speaker. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour fixed for the meeting of the House and on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read, unless the reading of the same is dispensed with by the House.

The Speaker shall preserve decorum and order and, in the event of any disorder in the gallery or in the House Chamber, may cause the same to be cleared of any persons creating disturbances or disorders.

All writs, warrants, subpoenas or other processes shall be signed by the officer who may be presiding over the House when the paper is issued; and his signature shall be attested by the Clerk, when ordered by a majority of the members.

Rule 27. Appeal from Decision of Chair. The Speaker while presiding may speak to points of order in preference to members. He shall decide points of order and manner of procedure. If two or more members arise from their respective seats and address the chair, the Speaker shall determine who was first and recognize him.

Any decision made by the Speaker shall be subject to appeal to the House. Every such appeal shall be in writing and signed by at least two members. During the pendency of an appeal to the House from a decision of the chair, the Speaker shall vacate the chair and call the Speaker Pro Tempore to preside. When the Speaker Pro Tempore is presiding on an appeal to the House from a decision of the Chair, no motion or business shall be in order except the motion on appeal from the decision of the Chair, and that motion shall not be debatable.

Rule 28. Speaker Pro Tempore. The House shall elect a Speaker Pro Tempore. The Speaker Pro Tempore shall perform the duties of the Speaker when the Speaker is absent from the House or when empowered by the Speaker to perform the duties of the Chair.

Rule 29. Duties of Clerk. The Clerk shall have charge of all the clerical business of the House. She shall have charge of the Clerk's section of the House Chamber and shall see that no one is permitted therein except herself, those assisting her, and members.

The Clerk shall read to the House papers ordered to be read; call the roll and note and report the absentees when a call of the House is ordered; call the roll and note the answers of members when a question is taken by yeas and nays; assist the Speaker in taking the count when any vote of the House is taken; notify committees of their appointment and business referred to them; attest all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House; keep a Calendar showing such bills as are entitled to their second reading each day, distinguishing between House and Senate bills; superintend the engrossing and enrolling of bills; certify to the passage of all bills and to the adoption of all joint and concurrent resolutions by the General Assembly; and make all reports to the Senate, unless otherwise ordered.

Rule 30. Journal of Proceedings. The Clerk shall cause to be kept the Journal of the proceedings of the House. The Clerk shall note upon the Journal all questions of order, together with the disposition of same, and the dates upon which all bills and resolutions were sent to committee and returned to the House. The House may correct errors in the Journal the day the Journal containing errors is presented to the House. No record which is in the hands of the Clerk and is required by law to be entered upon the Journal of the House shall be copied by any person until same shall have been entered upon the Journal and said Journal shall have been approved.

Half an hour before the time fixed for the meeting of the House each day, the Clerk or one of her assistants shall be present at the Clerk's desk with the Journal of the preceding session for inspection of any member of the House.

The original shall be the official bill, and shall be retained by the Clerk for the use of the House until engrossed and sent to the Senate. One copy shall be used by committees; one copy shall be for the use of the press and shall be given to a person designated by the press club; and one copy shall be given to the Legislative Research Commission. Each copy shall be backed with a protective cover, as provided for this purpose by the Legislative Research Commission. The title of the bill, or a portion thereof, and the signature of the member introducing the bill shall be placed on each cover.

In all bills, as introduced and as printed, which seek to amend existing sections of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, any new matter contained therein shall be underscored; and when an amendment proposes the omission or elimination of matter in an existing law, such omission or elimination shall be indicated on the typewritten bill and on the printed bill by placing the material proposed to be eliminated in brackets. The Clerk shall refer to the Legislative Research Commission any bills offered for introduction not conforming with the Automated Legal Text Entry and Revision System method of preparation, or with this format for revision as to form. The Enrolling Clerk in enrolling a bill which contains deleted material appearing in brackets shall strike over such deleted matter.

Rule 50. Introduction of Bills. Bills and resolutions may be introduced by filing them in the Clerk's office at any time that her office is open. The Clerk shall number bills in the order received, record their introduction, and transmit a copy immediately to the Committee on Committees for reference to committee. No bill or resolution having the force of law, shall be introduced during the last ten (10) legislative days of the session. The last two legislative days shall be reserved by the House exclusively for the business of concurring in amended House bills.

Rule 51. Fiscal Note Required. A sponsor of a measure may at any time prior to the filing of a request for posting form require a fiscal analysis to be made by the Legislative Research Commission upon the same and a fiscal note attached thereto.

The chairman of the committee to which the measure has been referred may, at any time after a request for posting form is filed with the committee by the sponsor, determine that a fiscal analysis is required on any measure not carrying a fiscal note. The chairman upon such determination shall cause a fiscal analysis to be made by the Legislative Research Commission and a fiscal note attached prior to posting the measure for consideration.

After posting the measure a majority of the committee may determine that a fiscal analysis is required on any measure not already carrying a fiscal note and shall direct the same to be accomplished and fiscal note attached with all dispatch. A committee may consider any measure on the date for which it is posted even if it is determined by the committee on that date that a fiscal analysis is required, however, no final action shall be taken by the committee upon said measure until a fiscal note is presented to the committee and attached to the measure.

Any member proposing to amend from the floor a bill or resolution which carries a fiscal note or if the proposed amendment itself carries a fiscal implication, the member proposing the amendment shall cause a fiscal analysis of the amendment to be made and a fiscal note attached to the proposed amendment at the time of introduction. In the event an amendment is introduced without a fiscal note, any member may raise the question of fiscal implication to the amendment by a motion and by majority vote require a fiscal analysis to be made and a fiscal note attached to the amendment. If a fiscal analysis and note is required by the membership, action on the bill or resolution to be amended along with the proposed amendment shall be passed over in the Orders of the Day but retained in the Orders of the Day. A fiscal note required by the membership shall be filed and attached to the amendment prior to the convening of the session of the next legislative day. In the event it is impossible to complete the analysis and prepare a fiscal note before the convening of the session on the next legislative day, the Director of the Legislative Research Commission shall so advise the membership by letter and state a time in which the same can be completed and filed with the House.

If the Director of the Legislative Research Commission certifies that the fiscal note cannot be completed within the prescribed time, the amendment shall not be in order unless the members, by majority vote, determine either: (1) act on the amendment and the bill or resolution without the benefit of the fiscal note, or to (2) pass over the bill or resolution in the Orders of the Day and allow it to be retained in the Orders of the Day until the fiscal note is filed.

Rule 52. Reference of Bills. The Committee on Committees shall refer all bills to the proper standing committee not later than the second day in which the House is in session after the date of introduction. When a House bill has been amended in the Senate and has been returned to the House for concurrence in the amendment, it may be referred to a committee in the same manner as original bills are referred. Bills originating in and passed by the Senate when reported to the House shall be referred to the Committee on Committees and shall take the same course as other bills.

Rule 53. Printing of Bills. Upon receipt of a bill, the Legislative Research Commission shall examine the form of the bill to ensure that it is free from errors of form or typography and has been assigned the proper KRS section or chapter numbers. If a formal change is necessary the Commission shall request the sponsor of the bill to sign a form approving the specified changes. If a bill is found to be correct, or corrections have been approved, the Commission shall authorize its printing.

The Legislative Research Commission shall have printed at least two hundred copies of each bill or resolution carrying the force and effect of law introduced in the House and of each bill or resolution carrying the force and effect of law acted on by the Senate and reported to the House. Bills shall be printed in the order in which they are introduced and shall be distributed to members immediately upon receipt from the printer.

Rule 54. Readings of Bills. If a bill be reported with the expression of opinion that it should not pass a vote may then be taken on whether it shall be read at length and be placed on the Calendar, if a majority of the members elected to the House shall concur therein. When reported favorably by the committee, the bill shall then be given its first reading at length and shall be placed by the Clerk upon the Calendar to be kept by him, and shall then be entitled to its second reading the next succeeding legislative day.

Every bill shall be read at length on three different legislative days; but the second and third readings thereof at length may be dispensed with by a majority of all the members elected to the House and the bill read by its title.

Rule 55. Calendar; Consent Calendar. (1) In order to reduce the time required for final passage of bills posted in the Orders of the Day, a consent procedure for the consideration of uncontested bills shall be established and designated as follows:

(a) The Clerk shall keep a Regular Calendar and a Consent Calendar for each legislative day showing the bills receiving their second reading.

(b) The Clerk shall also keep a Regular Orders and a Consent Orders showing bills posted for final passage by the Rules Committee.

(2) Bills reported by a Standing Committee with a regular "should pass" or "should pass with committee amendment/substitute attached" recommendation shall be shown in the Regular Calendar on the day on which they are entitled to a second reading.

(3) A Standing Committee may at the time of favorably reporting any House or Senate Bill, recommend that it be placed in the Consent Calendar provided:

(a) The primary sponsor has so requested when it is a House Bill, and

(b) The bill receives a "should pass" or "should pass with committee amendment/substitute attached" recommendation from such committee by a unanimous vote of the members present.

Any House or Senate Bill thus reported shall be first placed in the Consent Calendar on the day on which it is entitled to a second reading and shall continue to be shown in said Calendar until taken therefrom by the Rules Committee and posted in the Consent Orders. Bills receiving a second reading should be so designated to distinguish them from bills which have already received their second reading.

(4) A certificate shall be attached to each bill recommended for the Consent Calendar showing the request of the sponsor of any House Bill, and the unanimous recommendation of the members present signed by the Chairman.

(5) After a sufficient number of bills have accumulated in the Consent Calendar, the Rules Committee may post any or all of said bills to the Consent Orders for a day certain. On that day certain the Consent Orders shall be called before the Regular Orders.

(6) Upon the call of the Consent Orders each bill in said Orders shall be given a third reading by title only. The Speaker shall then allow a reasonable time for questions from the floor and any explanation necessary by the sponsor or committee chairman. Consent Order bills may not be amended from the floor.

(7) The Clerk shall attach a roll call to each bill in the Consent Calendar and any member may at any time prior to passage of the Consent Orders record with the Clerk his "nay" or "pass" vote on any bill within the Consent Calendar or Consent Orders.

(8) The vote on the Consent Orders shall be taken by use of the Electrical Voting System.

(9) Upon the written petition of any five members objecting to the placement or retention of any bill in the Consent Calendar or Consent Orders, such bill shall cease to be so considered and shall be placed in the Regular Calendar or Regular Orders as provided in these rules.

Rule 56. Orders of the Day. When a bill has had its second reading it shall be placed in the Orders of the Day, or be recommitted, and when next reached in the House it shall be ready for recommitment, or to be read a third time and placed upon its passage, and the Speaker shall so announce to the House.

A bill may be recommitted or amended in accordance with these rules at any time before its passage. Bills shall be placed in the Orders of the Day in the order in which they have been given their second reading, and shall be taken therefrom in accordance with Rule 41. When a House bill is in the Orders of the Day, it shall be in order on motion of the author to substitute for it an identical Senate bill which is in the Calendar of the House.

No bill shall be taken from the Orders of the Day unless it shall have been printed and previously distributed to members.

Rule 57. Final Passage. When a House bill has been amended in the Senate and the House has concurred in the amendment, the bill as amended shall immediately be placed upon its passage.

Rule 58. Amendments to Bills. All amendments offered shall be on sheets with a proper heading printed in black, furnished by the Clerk, and shall bear the signature of the members offering the same. All amendments shall give the proper page and line of the printed bill. Three copies of each amendment shall be introduced and the Clerk shall forward one copy to the Legislative Research Commission. No amendment shall be in order that is not germane to the matter under consideration and unless it shall have been printed and previously distributed by the Clerk to members at least one legislative day prior to consideration of the bill or resolution and unless it complies with Rule 51 relative to Fiscal Analysis; and the Speaker, when the question is raised, shall rule as to the admissibility of the proposed amendment, subject to appear to the House.

Rule 59. Engrossment of Bills. Every House bill and joint resolution, together with the amendments thereto, which has been passed by the House and not subject to further amendment or motion, shall be engrossed by the Clerk and so certified by him endorsing thereon the day of passage or adoption. The bill shall be delivered to the Senate in open session by the Clerk or someone designated by him, and Senate concurrence asked therein. A like procedure shall be observed toward Senate bills.

When engrossing a bill, the Clerk may incorporate amendments by means of typing only. When an amendment strikes out any part of the original it shall be indicated in the engrossed copy by one parallel line over the part to be stricken out, in such a way as not to render illegible the original words.

Rule 60. Enrollment of Bills. All House bills and resolutions which have passed both the Senate and the House shall be delivered by the House Clerk to the Enrolling Clerk, taking a receipt therefor, in the order in which passed. The House Clerk shall keep the number and title of all bills and joint and concurrent resolutions carrying the force and effect of law, passed by the House of Representatives and the Senate in a suitable record book attesting the fact and date of passage.

In the event a bill which originates in the House is amended by the Senate and the House concurs in the amendments proposed and adopted by the Senate, the Clerk of the House shall engross said amendments in the original copy of the House bill, attesting the same, before delivering the bill to the Enrolling Clerk of the House. The Enrolling Clerk shall then cause the original bill as attested by the Chief Clerk and the safety copy of the bill as delivered from the Senate to conform to each other by typing in indelible typewriter ink or by writing in red ink the amendments engrossed in the original bill in the safety copy. In cases of extreme emergency and during the last three days prior to sine die adjournment, where no correct printed copy is available, the Enrolling Clerk may enroll such bill or resolution by typing the same on safety paper or by enrolling the same in long-hand.

Lieutenant Governor Stovall
Mr. Speaker
Members of the General Assembly
My Fellow Kentuckians

You have asked me to report to you tonight on the state of the Commonwealth, and I accept with pride in our accomplishments, with humility before the challenges of the second biennium.

Almost two centuries ago, on a bleak November evening in 1793, Isaac Shelby, the beloved first Governor of this Commonwealth, stood before a similar assembled body to deliver his view of the condition of this then-fledgling state.

He opened his speech with the following remarks, and I quote: "The violent and general attack made by the Indians last Spring on the frontiers of this state obliged me to order a considerable number of guards and scouts into service."

We don't—obviously—have the same problems in this new year of 1978. But there is one major similarity between the administration of Isaac Shelby and that of Julian Carroll.

His mandate was to build a bridge from an uncertain past to a secure future, and that is mine also.

But our future—the future of Kentucky—is now. It is upon us today, and today we must seize it.

In the three years that I have been privileged to hold this office, Kentucky has experienced unprecedented growth and development. We have emerged from the dark night of recession into the radiant sunshine of prosperity and promise.

The statisticians tell us that Kentucky is a small state in terms of population. They say we are a poor state. But the statisticians have never measured the quality and fortitude and resourcefulness of our people. Thus they have some difficulty explaining the latest figures on our economy.

Our present rate of increase of personal income ranks fourth in the United States.

Our present unemployment rate is 4.1 percent, as compared to the national average of 6.3 percent. And this rate comes at a time of significant population increase in our state, indicating an exceptionally strong period of job creation.

Our economy is balanced and well-diversified, and our surge forward reflects this stability.

Nationally, farm income has decreased by 31.8 percent. In Kentucky, farm income is up 57.9 percent, making our agricultural production a two billion dollar a year business.

Nationally, manufacturing income has increased by only 29.5 percent. In Kentucky, the increase is 38.7 percent.

Our construction trade income has increased by 32.1 percent.

Personal income attributed to mining increased by 124.8 percent.

Incomes attributed to the service sector have increased by 47.1 percent, while state and local government and non-farm incomes have increased by 46 and 48.7 percent respectively.

From January, 1975 through September, 1977, we developed over 112,000 new jobs in the mining, construction, manufacturing and service industries alone.

Our efforts at increased tourism—to preserve and share the God-given beauty of this sprawling land—now bring in one billion dollars a year.

The list could go on. But these strong economic indicators did not just happen. We—the General Assembly, the people of Kentucky, and this Administration—made them happen.

You can take considerable pride in the fact that your legislative actions in the 1976 Session provided the seeds which have already produced surprising results.

We have managed our diversified economy well, and we expand its horizons daily.

We have sought and we have achieved a favorable business and labor climate within the Commonwealth, essentially ridding ourselves of a national image to the contrary.

We have established a broad range of urban redevelopment programs which will increase our growth opportunities even further.

We have concentrated on the revitalization of our urban centers because we believe them to be vital to the growth of our Commonwealth. Downtown development in Louisville is extremely vital to all of Kentucky as is the development of Lexington, our Northern Kentucky urban area and our other major urban areas.

We have capitalized on the resurgence of coal utilization, and we have become a leader in energy research and development.

We have modernized our government machinery until we are second to no state in this nation.

We have exercised prudent fiscal management, demanding that we do not spend what we do not have, that we do not borrow today what we cannot repay tommorow, that we do not accept from the Federal Government funds for programs that we are not willing to sustain when the time comes.

We have maintained a well-balanced tax system that provides adequately for our needs and yet is one of the lowest in the nation.

We have no debt issues in trouble and our recent bond issues show Kentucky to have a strong financial rating.

Our unemployment fund is solvent, and we will not allow it to become otherwise.

For these reasons and many others, we must now look to our future. We must provide for tomorrow today. But we cannot insure continued prosperity if we do not practice constant perseverence. We cannot forge a secure future unless we know where we have been and where we are.

In my inaugural address on December 9, 1975, I told you that it was time to roll up our sleeves and get down to some old-fashioned work, and with your help we have done that.

I told you that we must pursue a new standard of excellence in state government and seek to restore confidence, morality and integrity to that government, and with your help we have done that.

In my last state of the Commonwealth message, I told you that we would apply "common sense for the common good," and with your help we have done that.

Let me now share with you what our joint labors have accomplished, and where we must go.

We all know that a society riddled by crime is a society that cannot long survive. Of what solace is prosperity if we are fearful for our lives and property? We also know that the solution to crime is much more complex than merely exercising diligent law enforcement.

Thus, as you know, our criminal justice system has been completely reorganized, bringing together enforcement, training, corrections and the Public Defender's Office under one roof, with strong, centralized direction.

Now, for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth, we have a unified Department of Justice, one that has earned us the title "A Model for the Nation."

It is working, and working well. One of the reasons is our positive approach. We have gone on the offenseive, rather than the defensive, and this is perhaps best illustrated by our crime prevention program.

In those communities where the program has been adopted, the burglary rate has dropped dramatically. For example, the city of Campbellsville has received 97 percent participation in "Operation Identification." In the two years since they reached that goal, there have been only three burglaries. In the year preceding that, there were 75.

In Owensboro, Covington and some sections of Louisville where participation has ranged from 25 percent to over 50 percent, burglary rates have dropped by approximately 30 percent.

Our incentive pay to local law enforcement officers for extensive, professional training has had tremendous success, providing us with better trained officers who can now handle the stress and complexities of their dangerous assignments.

Our removal of bail bonding from the private sector has had a significant impact on the number of crimes which have been committed and on the lives of those charged with crimes.

Administrations have struggled for years with the sad and sorry state of our corrections system. With the help of a nationally known professional firm we are now facing up to those problems. Our institutions have been outdated and our personnel have been poorly trained, but we are changing that. We have brought accountability and openness and understanding to the system.

We have instituted mandatory training of correction officers; we have opened the system to the media, to citizens groups and to the families of those incarcerated. We have established career development programs so that prisoners can earn their way back into society. We have established gradual release centers to smooth out their re-entry, to help them better adjust to life outside.

We have established a classification system so that no longer are 18 year-old boys thrown in with hardened criminals. Now, when a prisoner is sent to Blackburn, or Eddyville, or LaGrange, there is a reason, based on a set of weighed criteria.

We have established the first minimum security facility for women, and this is both humane and productive.

We are revamping the parole system to make it function more effectively, with set guidelines and procedures, so that the prisoner who is truly ready to return to society may do so, and so that society may be protected from the indiscriminate release of those not ready.

We are not doing these things to coddle criminals, but to protect the fabric of our society, to decrease the chance of further abuse.

And while I am on this subject, let me reiterate something I have said before. We are going to have law and order in this Commonwealth. And while we observe the right of every Kentuckian to protest peacefully, we will observe no man's right to harm life or property. The way to settle disputes is through peaceful negotiations. Violence will not work, and violence will not be tolerated.

I often think, as we discuss grand plans and great matters of state, that perhaps too often we don't say enough about the little things, programs that don't cost millions of dollars, but that reach out into our communities and try to make right that which was wrong, that try to help individuals in special circumstances.

I can't talk about them all tonight, but I would like to single out several that are worthy.

The Crime Victims Compensation Board, enacted by you in the 1976 General Assembly, has now granted 57 awards totaling $125,000, and other claims are in process. This is a good program, badly needed, and you can be proud of its accomplishments.

In recent months, Kentucky has become the first state to establish a program for battered women, for abused wives. Technical assistance is being provided by L.E.A.A. funds, so it costs nothing, but the understanding and aid that it can bring to countless women, the potential it has for dealing with a serious problem in our society must be applauded.

Likewise, I would call to your attention the Jefferson County truancy project, which this Administration has just launched. We all know the debilitating effects of truancy on our educational system, we know the juvenile delinquency and crime that it breeds, but in the past, if a student was an habitual truant, what did we do? We threw him out of school.

Now, with this pilot project, we will be able to attack the root of the problem and not just remove the symptom. Through mandatory training and guidance, the student will benefit from an effort that will hopefully get him back on the right path and give him skills so that he may go forward. The program will free the educational process to pursue its prime directive, and it will reduce crime, by preventing it before it has a chance to fester.

There is another aspect of this program of which I am proud, it is the example, small though it may be, of how many departments of government—both local and state—should and can work together. Here, we have had the State Departments of Justice, Human Resources, Education, as well as the local school board and the courts, all joining together for a common goal. I am confident they will succeed, and the program can be expanded throughout the state.

With regard to education, the members of the General Assembly and every citizen of this Commonwealth can be proud of our accomplishments. You know the record of my involvement and concern.

We have made giant strides in upgrading our public schools, stressing accountability to our long-term needs, increasing the availability and variety of educational opportunity.

We have established new programs to abolish instructional fees and provide free textbooks.

We have brought our system within inches of parity with surrounding states in terms of expenditures per child and teacher salaries and benefits.

We have increased assistance for exceptional children and for the handicapped.

We have extended our kindergarten program, and before I leave this office I fully intend for every child in this state to have a public kindergarten available to him or her.

We have implemented the power equalization program conceived by the General Assembly to give each of our children the same quality of education, regardless of location.

Through the Governor's Educational Task Force, we are systematically analyzing the weaknesses in the educational structure, replacing bad bricks with good, just as we are replacing old, inadequate schools with modern, new ones.

We have implemented the new career education program mandated by you and increased assistance for vocational and technical education. Two million dollars have been provided to fund the career education program, to provide education in such necessary and high-opportunity areas as mine health and safety and medical technology.

Seventeen million dollars have been earmarked for the construction of new vocational educational facilities.

A state commission for post-secondary education was established to formulate a comprehensive plan for the coordination of vocational education in Kentucky.

Based on these recommendations, I have created the Department for Occupational Education and the State Board of Occupational Education to further develop the opportunities for Kentucky students to seek training in the areas of the employment market where there is the greatest need.

Thus, for the first time in our state, we now have a coordinating policy making body for all occupational educational programs offered at all levels. This will now insure that we offer what needs to be taught where it needs to be taught without duplication and unnecessary programs costly to our taxpayers.

Through the Council for Public Higher Education, we now have developed comprehensive planning and better coordination of our institutions of higher learning. All our public institutions now have designated missions which make their educational responsibility clearly defined. Again we have avoided duplication of facilities and programs costly to our taxpayers.

This marks the beginning of a new era in higher education in Kentucky, an era that will see all our public universities functioning as a unified whole to respond to the needs of the Commonwealth as a whole.

To those who have charged that this Administration has been lax in its support of public higher education, I would point to a recent analysis of appropriations for higher education across the United States. Our increase in expenditures for the 1977-78 period ranks fourth in this nation, a 31 percent increase over the previous two-year period.

And we will not stop there, as I will make clear in my budget message soon to be delivered. For education is the cornerstone and lifeblood of our future, and in this Administration, it will take a back seat to no other needs.

Our Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has been reorganized and strengthened.

I believe that the quality of Kentucky's air, water and land resources must be maintained for future generations, and that belief has been reflected in the actions of this Administration.

In the area of surface mine reclamation, the efforts of the Department have been unparalleled. Since the beginning of this Administration, we have collected over one million dollars in penalties resulting from the regulation of surface mining, and that far exceeds the amount collected during any previous periods.

We take no particular pride in the imposition and collection of these penalties, but they do serve notice to the coal industry, the public and the media that I view reclamation very seriously. I should also add that an enlightened and positive response on the part of most elements of the Kentucky coal industry has resulted in better reclamation than ever before achieved.

On August 1 of last year, a Harris survey indicated that 80 percent of the American people favored increased surface mining of coal while maintaining protection of the environment. My policies have reflected those sentiments. The mining of coal must increase to meet national energy needs, to meet Kentucky's economic needs, but it must be done in an environmentally sound manner, and there is no reason why it cannot be.

In order to protect the environment, the first surface mining permit revocations in the history of the Commonwealth have occurred during this Administration.

The state's enforcement program has improved, and the upgrading of job requirements of reclamation inspectors also has resulted in a greater sense of professionalism among enforcement personnel.

I know there are charges of abuse and corruption in the system, but any indication of illegal activity that we have received has been referred to the appropriate authorities for action. And I appeal to every citizen of this Commonwealth: If you have any evidence of illegal or questionable activity taking place with regard to mining and the reclamation program, then take it to the authorities.

Upon the production of evidence for prosecution, I will show you exactly what happens to those who would taint the fine employes of the Department by their corrupt acts.

In the 1976 Session of the General Assembly, I supported strengthening the state reclamation law and I intend to do so again this year. During the last Session, I supported a requirement that mine operators give public notice of their intention to mine, that penalties for violations be increased, and that maximum reclamation bonding fees be raised.

I intend to ask during this session that state law be brought into conformance with the U.S. Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, which President Carter signed into law last August.

I am not totally in agreement with all provisions of that Act, and I recognize the difficulties it presents to small operators. But it is the law of the land, and I will do everything within my personal power and capacity to effectively administer the mandate of Congress.

I might add that bringing Kentucky law into conformance with the Act during this Session of the General Assembly will be necesssary if the state is to be able to administer the 20 to 30 million dollars that will be coming to Kentucky annually for reclamation of abandoned mined lands.

Kentucky can assume administration of this fund from the U.S. Secretary of the Interior when we have an approved regulatory program. I am confident that the Kentucky coal industry will respond positively to the additional requirements of this Federal law and that reclamation will continue to improve.

As you know, the safety of our underground coal mine workers has been one of our major concerns. The Governor's task force on deep mine safety produced a report and legislation which you enacted at the special session in 1976. While we have had some difficulty in implementing the Act, it has received our personal attention to insure that no deficiency on our part lessened the safety of our underground coal miners.

In addition to our concentration on coal, we cannot forget the intelligent management of our water resources. We cannot ignore the damages of the floods and the actions we must take to circumvent future catastrophe.

We must be mindful of our dams, for we want no Buffalo Creek; we want no disaster similar to that which occurred several months ago in Georgia.

We must be ever vigilant against the danger of toxic substances and give every attention to the safe disposal of hazardous waste.

We must guard our land, our air and our water, for without them we cannot survive, and unless we maintain their purity, our prosperity will be short-lived.

In the past year, our Department for Human Resources has been completely reorganized, and its massive structure now functions as a series of integral units rather than separate entities.

It has been opened up—to its clients, to the citizens groups who act as advisors, to the press and to the general public.

Its administration has improved, and it now has efficiency, coordination and direction; it can now deliver its vital services in an organized and expeditious manner.

It has launched new and innovative programs—for the mentally retarded, for emotionally disturbed youngsters, for the handicapped—and it has reached out further to our senior citizens, to the less fortunate and disadvantaged than at any time in the past.

We are better able now, through effective management and control, to deliver welfare where it is needed and to cut it off where it is abused. Through my task force on welfare reform—and with the help of the General Assembly and the citizens of this Commonwealth—we will develop a system that insures that the needy are taken care of and welfare fraud punished. That is what the citizens who pay for welfare want, what they must have if they are to preserve and protect their own economic security. They deserve no less, and they will get no less from this administration.

In the area of commerce, let me single out three exciting programs that indicate the direction of hard work and innovation in this administration.

Since its creation in July of 1976, the Kentucky Film Commission has attracted a number of movies, television series and commercials to the state.

It's a small program, but let me tell you what it cost and what it brought in. It cost about $116,000 to produce direct revenues of almost two and one-half million dollars, with a total economic impact of over eight million dollars.

Our international division, in the last year, has brought six new foreign firms to the state, for an investment of over 25 million dollars. Four existing foreign industrial companies have expanded for a total of almost 31 million dollars in new facilities.

Although we do not have a direct measure of our program's impact on Kentucky's exports, 199 more Kentucky manufacturers, for a total of 425, reported the export of their products this year than reported in 1974. This means that the percentage of Kentucky manufacturers exporting is now twice the national average, and it can be safely estimated that Kentucky's export of manufactured, agricultural and mineral products has surpassed the billion dollar mark.

In 1976, I asked the General Assembly for an appropriation of seven million dollars to be used to develop Kentucky's river ports, and, as you know, I have supported the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway since my early days in the Legislature.

Already, we have seen the benefits. When the winter of 1977 hit, Paducah was the last ice-free port going north. It assumed the challenge, and many thousands of tons of gasoline, heating oil, agricultural products and steel were unloaded under the most adverse conditions, thus benefitting not only our fellow Kentuckians, but our northern ice-bound neighbors as well. And all of this was done at a profit.

When the river port and foreign trade zone program is complete, when the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway is finished, Kentucky will have an intermodal system of transportation that is second to no state in this nation.

Our highway system is already in that position. All the contracts have been let for our portion of the interestate system. Our toll road program is a masterpiece of transportation and economic recovery. And with the groundbreaking of Highway 80, we have finally begun to attack this problem of getting our coal to market efficiently and safely.

Through my constant national involvement in the energy crisis, and through my lobbying efforts in Washington, the Federal Government now realizes that getting our coal to the centers of this nation is of the utmost importance. And hopefully there is relief on the way.

In the ever-crucial area of agriculture, we have sought to develop new crops that can be profitably grown in the state, and to create new markets for existing farm products.

We have appropriated funds to the Department of Commerce to promote development of agri-business, and we seek constantly to develop an overall marketing program for farm products in both domestic and foreign markets.

We have sought to protect the interests of Kentucky's tobacco farmers through research and through insistence that the smoking-health controversy be resolved responsibly. And we should all applaud the considerable efforts of Senator Huddleston on behalf of our tobacco farmers.

We have sought fair fuel allocation and tax relief for farm families.

Agriculture is the second largest income producer in this Commonwealth, and some 150,000 families depend upon farms for a portion of their livelihood. While our state farm income is up, there are problems—as the demonstrations of the past few weeks have so amply shown.

The solution to the cost-price squeeze is in the hands of the Federal Government, but I can assure the farmers of this Commonwealth that we share their concern and will continue to advocate their interests wherever and whenever possible.

As you know, and as I have pointed out in several examples tonight, almost every major department of State Government has been reorganized, a process begun by Wendell Ford and extended vigorously by this Administration.

One of the major efforts we have made is in the reduction of state employes through our "proof-of-necessity" process initiated in January , 1977. We have now significantly less employes than we did when I took office, and no longer is there the steady 5 percent annual growth rate that took place in every previous Administration.

The savings generated by this control, coupled with our restructured pay system, have enabled the state to provide advancement and salary increases for essential employes. We have been able to recruit and retain employes in critical positions much more effectively, thus improving the quality of service that the state has been able to render.

The removal of assigned automobiles from state employes has enabled us to sell a number of cars and insure that state cars are not used for personal use.

We have completed a space utilization study in Frankfort, Louisville, and Lexington enabling State Government for the first time to be sure we do not overbuild in some areas while underbuilding in others.

We are now involved in centralizing our printing and duplicating and we have substantially reduced the paperwork of State Government.

The Governor's Financial Disclosure Review Commission has continued to function effectively, and in the three years since I established this process for all management personnel in State Government, the Commission has reported no conflicts of interest. Hopefully, this has helped to restore public confidence in the dedication and honesty of its elected and appointed officials.

For the first time in the history of this Commonwealth, there are now leasing policies to end a long-abused process. We have refined this system and will continue to do so until the public can know that honesty and openness are prime directives of this Administration.

By the same token, there has been criticism ever since I can remember over the securing of services by non-salaried employes. But there has been less abuse in this Administration than in any other, and I am determined that we do not purchase services we do not need, that the reporting procedure be adequate to identify potential problems and protect the public interest. We are now attempting to implement some major changes in this area. With your help, we will finally find the appropriate solutions.

Yes, we have made some mistakes, and yes, we have been criticized. When decisions are made, and action taken, on an unlimited range of programs and projects— errors will occur.

But the greater error would be to ignore justifiable criticism; to stick our heads in the sand of self-assured perfection. Consequently, we have recognized our mistakes, and responded to our critics, in what I believe to be a responsible and constructive manner. I have never confused the ability to find fault with the ability to have made the right decision at the outset, nor do I believe in serving as a reactionary for those whose criticism is ill-founded. But criticism and independent thought are at the heart of our system of government, and I welcome and will continue to respond to those who constructively illuminate our faults.

The implementation of the Judicial Article has been one of our most perplexing problems. Mandated by the people of Kentucky at the election in November, 1975, the Regular and Special Sessions in 1976 provided the framework for implementation. Special praise should be given to the leadership which our General Assembly has provided during this period of implementation. Quite frankly, we would never have been able to accomplish so much in such a short period of time had you not taken the initiative.

However, there are many problems yet to be resolved. With the continued cooperation we have received from the Judiciary and your strong leadership, I firmly believe we can fulfill the mandate of the people of Kentucky and make the implementation of the Judicial Article one of the hallmarks of our area of public service.

In the three years that I have served as Governor, we have been besieged by catastrophe—the bitterness and disruption of forced busing, the needless and tragic loss of life in the Beverly Hills fire, the Southeast Kentucky floods, the violence of mine strikes and the destruction of mine accidents. I know it is small consolation to those who have suffered irreparable loss, but those disasters have taught us how we must correct the inadequacies of our past and how we must protect our future.

For virtually all of my adult life I have been privileged to serve the people and the Commonwealth of Kentucky—as a Legislator, as Speaker of the House, as Lieutenant Governor and, finally, as Governor.

Thus, I can fully appreciate the tremendous responsibility which each member of this General Assembly has assumed as a lawmaker for the 3,300,000 people of Kentucky. I particularly understand the vast amount of work which must be accomplished by the various committee chairmen and legislative leaders.

The many years I spent in this Legislative Body have been some of my most satisfying years of public service.

During those years, I have looked up from our valleys; I have been to our mountain tops.

I have sailed our rivers and streams, on rough waters and smooth.

I have heard cheers for our prosperity, the continuing pleas of our poor.

I have heard laughter in our schoolyards, crying from our prisons.

I have walked our fertile fields and felt the rich earth of our sustenance.

I have held our black coal, awed by its blessing, troubled by its curse.

I have driven our bustling highways; I have heard the machinery of our progress.

I have walked in our past, and I have seen the promise our future holds.

I know it is good.

And when the history of this time is written, when our children and grandchildren inherit the Kentucky we will have made, let them say our vision was sound, our footprints firm, our cause just. Let us insure that they speak with truth.

Thank you.

God bless you in this new year.

Good night.

(1) On and after July 1, 1972 a tax levied upon its retail price at the rate of five percent shall be paid on the use in this state of every motor vehicle, except those exempted by KRS 138.470, at the time and in the manner provided in this section. In the case of trucks of gross weight in excess of ten thousand pounds (10,000 lbs.) the tax shall be levied upon ninety percent of the retail price of the vehicle.

(2) The tax shall be collected by the county court clerk or other officer with whom the vehicle is required to be registered:

(a) When he collects the registration fee for registering and licensing a motor vehicle the first time it is offered for registration in this state,

(b) Or upon the transfer of ownership of any motor vehicle previously registered in this state.

(3) The tax collected by the county clerk under this section shall be reported and remitted to the department of revenue on forms provided by the department and on such forms as the department may prescribe. The county clerk shall for his services in collecting the tax be entitled to retain an amount equal to two and one-half percent of the tax collected and accounted for.

(4) No county clerk or other officer shall register or issue any license tags to the owner of any motor vehicle subject to this tax, when the vehicle is then being offered for registration for the first time, or transfer the ownership of any motor vehicle previously registered in this state, unless the owner or his agent pays the tax levied under this section in addition to the transfer, registration and license fees.

(5) When a resident of this state offers a motor vehicle for registration for the first time in this state which was registered in another state that levied a tax substantially identical to the tax levied under this section, such person shall be entitled to receive a credit against the tax imposed by this section equal to the amount of tax paid to the other state. No credit shall be given under this subsection for taxes paid in another state if that state does not grant similar credit for substantially identical taxes paid in this state.

HB 103, AN ACT relating to county clerk's bonds.

WHEREAS, Senate Bill No. 15 of the 1976 Extraordinary Session of the General Assembly repealed Section 28.020 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes which provided for a bond for county clerks; and

WHEREAS, as of January 2, 1978 county clerks will not be covered by a bond to protect revenues of the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, Section 103 of the Constitution of Kentucky requires that county court clerks shall, before they enter upon duties of their office, give such bond and surety as may be prescribed by law;

NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. Every county clerk, before entering on the duties of his office, shall execute bond to the Commonwealth, with corporate surety authorized and qualified to become surety on bonds in this state. Any county clerk holding office as of January 1, 1978 who has not executed bond as provided herein shall do so within thirty (30) days from the effective date of this Act.

Section 2. In counties containing a city of the first class, the amount of the county clerk's bond shall be at least two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000). In counties containing a city of the second class, the amount of county clerk's bond shall be at least one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). In all other counties the amount of the county clerk's bond shall be at least fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

Section 3. The bond of the county clerk shall be examined and approved by the county judge/executive. The clerk shall record the bond in his records and a copy of the bond shall be transmitted within one (1) month to the department of revenue, where it shall be recorded and preserved.

Section 4. Where circumstances in a particular county indicate that the amount of the bond may not be sufficient, the department of revenue may request the county judge/executive to increase the bond as provided in Section 62.060 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes. The county judge/executive will then require a bond of sufficient amount to safeguard the Commonwealth.

Section 5. Whereas, as of January 2, 1978 county court clerks may not be covered by a bond to protect revenues of the Commonwealth, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act shall become effective on its passage and approval by the governor.

(1) The board shall meet as often and at such places as it deems necessary for examination of applicants who desire to practice dental hygiene in this state. The board shall keep a record of the names, addresses and license numbers of all persons legally entitled to practice dental hygiene in this state.

(2) The board may adopt and enforce such rules and regulations as it deems necessary and reasonable to carry out the provisions of KRS 313.260 to 313.350 and shall establish a continuing education program for dental hygienists.

Section 2. KRS 313.290 is amended to read as follows:

Any person [of good moral character] over eighteen (18) years of age who is [a citizen of the United States of America,] a graduate of an accredited high school or the equivalent, and has successfully completed a training program in a school of dental hygiene that is accredited by the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association and approved by the board, shall be eligible to take the examination for the practice of dental hygiene.

Section 3. KRS 313.300 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any eligible person desiring to practice dental hygiene shall make written application to the board to take the examination. Such application shall be accompanied by a written recommendation of two (2) reputable dentists or two (2) dental faculty members [of this state,] and by an examination fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), which sum is authorized to be charged for each examination by the board.

(2) As soon as the board has determined that an applicant has successfully passed the examination, a license to practice dental hygiene in this state shall be issued by the board to such applicant. The license shall be for one (1) calendar year or for the remaining portion thereof if issued as of a date after January 1. Each license shall be renewed from year to year, except for cause as herein provided.

(3) The board shall charge ten dollars ($10.00) for each license certificate or duplicate license certificate issued, which sum shall be paid in advance or at the time the license is issued.

Section 4. KRS 313.303 is amended to read as follows:

(2) An application for the license provided by this section shall be made on forms prescribed by the board and accompanied by:

(a) A fee for review of qualifications of the applicant of twenty-five dollars ($25.00); and

(b) A recommendation from the dental board of the state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia where the applicant has practiced.

(3) No license shall be issued under this section unless the state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia where the applicant has practiced grants a similar privilege to applicants holding a dental hygienist's license from this state.

[(4) The board shall charge ten dollars ($10.00) for each annual certificate of renewal of any license issued in accordance with the provisions of this section.]

SECTION 5. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 313 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) By December 31 of each year, every dental hygienist licensed to practice in this state shall return to the secretary-treasurer of the board, evidence satisfactory to the board that such dental hygienist has accumulated a sufficient number of points for continuing dental hygienist education in accordance with a schedule of points which shall be adopted by the board. In approving continuing education activities, the board shall develop criteria to determine the actual effect upon the competency of the participant. Provided, however, that the board, in its discretion, may make exceptions to the point requirement for continuing dental hygienist education for such hardship or other extenuating circumstances as the board deems appropriate.

(2) By March 1 of each year, every dental hygienist licensed to practice in this state shall return to the secretary-treasurer of the board his renewal notice properly signed and a fee of ten dollars ($10) or an amount as hereinafter prescribed by the board. The dental hygienist shall thereupon receive a license renewal certificate provided that he has also complied with the requirements of subsection (1) of this section. The board may fix the annual renewal license fee at such amount, not less than ten dollars ($10) nor more than twenty dollars ($20), as is necessary to maintain the level of the revolving fund in accordance with the provisions of KRS 313.080. The license fee for each year shall be set annually by the board. Notice of such change in the amount of license renewal fee shall be given to each dental hygienist registered in the state by the secretary-treasurer not later than December 1. Any license granted by the board shall be suspended if the holder fails to secure the renewal certificate by March 1 of each year, but any license thus suspended may be restored by the board upon the payment to the secretary-treasurer of a reinstatement fee of twenty-five dollars ($25) within one (1) year after the suspension.

Section 6. KRS 313.310 is amended to read as follows:

No person shall practice dental hygiene nor hold himself out as a dental hygienist without a license issued by the board, and unless he is an employe of a licensed and practicing dentist in this state and is under the continuous supervision and inspection of such dentist, provided that the board, in its discretion, may grant permission for the employment of a dental hygienist by any organization. [A practicing dentist may not have in his employ more than two (2) dental hygienists.] The license for each dental hygienist shall be continuously displayed in a conspicuous place in the office of the licensee.

Section 7. KRS 313.330 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The board may, upon complaint or upon its own motion, after a hearing, and after ten (10) days' notice, in writing, to the licensee of the time and place of hearing, revoke or suspend or refuse to renew the license of any dental hygienist by entering an order to that effect, together with its findings in respect thereto, if it shall be determined that such licensee:

AS used in this Act, unless the context requires otherwise:

(2) In determining if a conviction directly relates to the position of public employment sought or the occupation for which the license is sought, the hiring or licensing authority shall consider:

(a) The nature and seriousness of the crime for which the individual was convicted;

(b) The relationship of the crime to the purposes of regulating the position of public employment sought or the occupation for which the license is sought;

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335B IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(b) He has done any act involving dishonesty, fraud, or deceit with the intent to substantially benefit himself or another, or substantially injure another.

(c) No act shall be grounds for the denial, revocation or suspension of a license, however, which does not have a substantial relationship to the functions and responsibilities of the licensed occupation and in the same manner and to the same effect as provided in Section 2 of this Act.

(2) A license shall not be denied, suspended, or revoked on the grounds of a lack of good moral character or any similar grounds relating to an applicant's character, reputation, personality, or habits unless the applicant's character, reputation, personality or habits directly contravene the standards of good moral character as defined in subsection (1) of this section.

SECTION 6. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335B IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
Within thirty (30) days after final action by the hiring or licensing authority following a hearing, an aggrieved party may petition the Franklin Circuit Court for review. SECTION 7. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335B IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
The provisions of this Act shall prevail over any other laws, rules and regulations which purport to govern the granting, denial, renewal, suspension, or revocation of a license or the initiation, suspension, or termination of public employment on the grounds of conviction of a crime or crimes.

SECTION 8. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335B IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. KRS 92.285 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislative body of each city or urban county government which is authorized to impose and collect license fees or taxes upon insurance companies for the privilege of engaging in the business of insurance shall file with the commissioner of insurance a copy of all ordinances and amendments thereto which impose any such license fee or tax.

(2) Any license fee or tax imposed by such a city or urban county government upon any fire insurance company shall be based upon a percentage of the premiums received by the company within the preceding calendar year, for insurance on property located within the corporate limits of the city or urban county government, less all premiums returned to policyholders. A fire insurance company entering a city or urban county government during a license year shall at the end thereof promptly pay to such city or urban county government the full additional tax due on such percentage basis.

(3) Any license fee or tax imposed by such a city or urban county government upon a life insurance company may be based upon premiums received, and if so based shall be applied to premiums from new policies written within the preceding calendar year upon the lives of persons residing within the corporate limits of such city or urban county government.

(4) Any license fee or tax imposed by such a city or urban county government upon any insurance company other than those specified in subsections (2) and (3) shall be based upon a percentage of the premiums received by such company within the preceding calendar year on risks located within the corporate limits of the city or urban county government on those classes of business which such company is authorized to transact, less all premiums returned to policyholders, Provided, however, That any license fee or tax imposed upon premium receipts on a percentage basis shall not include premiums received for insuring employers against liability for personal injuries to their employes, or death caused thereby, under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

(5) Any city or urban county government which imposes a license fee or tax as authorized by this section shall, by ordinance, provide for a collection fee to be retained by the insurance company or its agent as compensation for collecting such tax; provided, however, that the collection fee shall not be more than ten percent of the fee or tax collected by the company or agent and remitted to the city or urban county government. To facilitate computation, collection and remittance of the fee or tax and collection fee provided herein, the fees or taxes set out in subsections (1), (2), (3) or (4) of this section, together with the collection fee herein may be rounded off to the nearest dollar amount.

Willful failure to properly collect and remit the fee or tax imposed by a city or urban county government pursuant to the authority granted by this section shall constitute grounds for the revocation of the license issued to an insurance company or agent under the provisions of KRS Chapter 304.

(8) [(5)] The license fees or taxes provided for by subsections (2), (3) and (4) of this section shall be due at the beginning of the tax year. The maximum amount of basic reparation benefits payable for all economic loss resulting from injury to any one person as the result of one (1) accident shall be ten thousand dollars ($10,000), regardless of the number of persons entitled to such benefits or the number of providers of security obligated to pay such benefits. Basic reparation benefits consist of one (1) or more of the elements defined as "loss."

(3) "Basic reparation insured" means:

(a) A person identified by name as an insured in a contract of basic reparation insurance complying with this subtitle; and

HR 12, A RESOLUTION relating to maleic hydrazide.

WHEREAS, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has taken steps which could result in a prohibition against the use of maleic hydrazide or MH, an active ingredient used for tobacco sucker control; and

WHEREAS, the cancellation of MH would place in jeopardy a dependable supply of high quality tobacco to tobacco products companies; and

WHEREAS, the cost of labor, even if available, to hand sucker tobacco would be prohibitive at present crop values; and

WHEREAS, the loss to Kentucky tobacco farmers could be as much as $76 million annually without MH; and

WHEREAS, the cancellation of MH would generally disrupt the tobacco industry in Kentucky and the country;

NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. That the members of Kentucky's Congressional delegation work for the continued registration of MH.

Section 2. That the members of the delegation inform the Environmental Protection Agency what effect cancellation of MH would have on the economy and a very important crop and industry in Kentucky.

Section 3. That a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of Kentucky's Congressional delegation and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Lieutenant Governor Stovall
Mr. Speaker
Members of the General Assembly
My Fellow Kentuckians

I come tonight to present to you — before the people of Kentucky — our Executive Budget recommendations for the expenditure of the public monies which we are mandated to administer in the upcoming biennium.

It has been said that I am an "Education Governor," and by the time I have concluded my remarks here tonight, there will be no doubt in your mind as to why. We need — indeed we must have — quality education in Kentucky, and we have a lot of catching up to do.

But we cannot — even in the pursuit of the highest ideals and the greatest dreams — for one second ignore the complexities of life in this Commonwealth that confront all our citizens daily. These next two years present us with a tremendous opportunity to maintain our present unparalled economic growth. The bulwark necessary to launch those two years is already in place. We do have a sound Kentucky economy. We face no deficits, and sound financial planning will enable us to continue to live within our always limited resources.

The needs of our people are many and varied. Some needs are easily attainable. Some are, at times, more pressing than others, but they all have one thing in common. They all cost money — money that must come from taxes.

It has been and continues to be my policy that these needs must be met to the best of our ability without imposing any new or increased taxes. Rather than adding to what our citizens must feel is a crushing burden of local, state and federal taxes. It has been my policy to stimulate the economic base from which these taxes are derived. Through the development of our many economic resources, the income of our people increases, and our public revenues are able to expand.

In recent years this policy has proven very successful. As I said to you in my State of the Commonwealth Address, the rate of personal income growth in Kentucky ranks fourth in the nation.

Our general fund is estimated to increase by nearly 12 percent each year of the coming biennium. But although Kentucky's economic growth has indeed been impressive, there is no guarantee that it will remain so, and the development of our economic resources must continue to be one of our highest priorities to insure that the funds we allocate are indeed realized.

The Executive Budget before you tonight contains a wealth of recommendations for a better life for all Kentuckians. It is the product of much thought and effort by hundreds, perhaps even thousands, of your fellow citizens.

Literally hundreds of Kentucky citizens participated in broad-based Governor's Task Forces on Education and Economic Development over a period of many months — giving freely of their personal time and attention to issues that must have the input of as many knowledgeable and dedicated people as possible.

But formal task forces are just one source of invaluable public involvement in the financial plan I am recommending. For the first time, we carried the opportunity for individual citizen involvement in the budget process across the entire state. This fall we invited the people to attend and speak out at eleven regional public budget hearings covering the entire scope of the budget.

Over 1,200 of our citizens attended, spoke personally with the Executive Cabinet secretaries and wrote to express their priorities to the budget office. These "people priorities" are prominently reflected in the elementary and secondary education, higher education, human resources and development cabinet budgets I am recommending to you.

Economic Development

Our unprecedented growth and potential for further growth demands a variety of new and strengthened programs to bolster Kentucky's economic development through a wide range of state-local cooperative ventures.

One of Kentucky's four one billion dollar industries, tourism, is a little heralded source of tremendous income to thousands of our citizens and a vast resource to our tax receipts at the state and local level. This budget clearly recognizes the value of our tourist industry which exceeded one billion dollars for the first time in our history in 1976.

Among the new and expanded recommendations which we feel will further bolster the tourism industry in Kentucky includes:

Upon the recommendation of the Governor's Task Force on the Economy, the initiation of a new division of tourism soon to be further expanded to a full department charged with local tourism development and management, with special emphasis on research, technical management assistance, and hospitality training as well as increasing our tourism promotion.

The further expansion of the finest park system in the nation with a $10.5 million capital construction appropriation. This includes the expansion of one park lodge, the design and possible construction of additional golf courses, and possible location of an additional new state park.

The opening of the new Kentucky State Horse Park in Lexington which will have the honor of hosting the 1978 World Three-Day Equestrian Event for the first time in North America. Over 100,000 visitors from all over the world are expected to attend this event.

The inclusion of a $1 million tourist loan program under the umbrella of KIDFA to encourage further tourism development.

A $22.5 million revenue bond for major development at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center including a year-around recreational vehicle park, a carnival midway, a theme park, relocation of the horse barns and a perimeter road with improved lighting and landscaping including construction of the downtown garage to furnish parking for the Convention Center.

The further renovation and expansion of downtown sections of our major cities as we have done in Louisville, Lexington and Northern Kentucky by again funding our Convention Center Fund in the amount of $7 million to match the efforts of our ambitious communities in constructing local convention centers for community, recreational, tourist and exhibition events.

Kentucky's navigable waterways are among her oldest, and most important, economic assets. The Executive Budget recommendation includes $7 million to construct additional, and expand existing, riverport development facilities. With the opening of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Canal, Kentucky will have the greatest concentration of navigable waterways in the world.

The nationally acclaimed Kentucky Energy Research Laboratory began operation in July of last year. The budget I am presenting to you tonight includes over $3.5 million in new money to fund all aspects of this up-to-date Coal Research Laboratory. My recommendations will provide significant expansion of our research activities in the areas of coal gasification, liquefaction, and other energy-related areas.

To further encourage development in our coal counties, I am continuing our general fund support for the Coal Severance Economic Aid Fund and the Area Development Fund. We have found that the restrictions on the use of this money have made it difficult for our coal counties to process their projects and to make all their proposed projects eligible for funding. Therefore, we will be recommending changes in the 1976 Act that will expand the uses for which these funds might be utilized as well as making it easier for projects to be processed.

In this budget, agriculture retains its high priority. As long as I have a voice in state government operations, the farmers of Kentucky will not be ignored.

I am asking you, through funding for the Governor's Council on Agriculture, to continue our strong advocacy for the interests of farmers, particularly in seeking better markets for farm products, and in gaining increased public awareness of the importance of agriculture.

Recognizing the current agricultural cost-price squeeze, the budget is geared to accommodate some tax relief for farmers. Therefore, I am supporting removal of the sales tax from motor fuels, used for off-highway agricultural purposes, and revision of the inheritance tax laws to make it easier for surviving spouses to keep smaller family farms in production.

I have recommended funding for virtually every budget proposal offered by the State Department of Agriculture.

This includes $200,000 in new funds for a first-point-of-concentration testing program for brucellosis, to be matched by $610,000 in federal funds; $200,000 for a calf-hood vaccination program, to be matched with federal dollars, and doubling the maximum a county fair can receive from the state for facility repair or expansion.

Further the budget proposes a $1.5 million fund for agricultural loans as recommended by the Agricultural Task Force of the Economic Development Commission. It also seeks $100,000 for soybean research, and expansion funds to strengthen the two animal diagnostic laboratories at Lexington and Hopkinsville.

Finally, I am recommending almost $7.5 million in new money to support the University of Kentucky Extension Service and agricultural research programs. Included are funds to raise the salaries of county agents and extension specialists to the national average. We should not do less if we are to properly support the extension and research programs so vital to rural Kentucky.

Regulation and Safety

We must constantly strive to ensure the citizens of the Commonwealth the safest possible living and working environment. To that end, I am recommending $1.4 million in new money for the State Fire Marshal's Office to increase the inspection staff by fifty percent.

These funds will enable the newly created Department of Housing, Buildings and Construction, which now contains the Fire Marshal's Office, to better regulate the various aspects of building safety.

The safety and accessibility of public buildings is a matter of immense national concern. The tragic Beverly Hills fire has brought the issue home to those of us in Kentucky. Those of us responsible for safety in our publicly owned buildings as well as the regulation of privately owned buildings utilized by the public are determined that we do everything within our power to prevent another Beverly Hills tragedy within our lifetime.

Unfortunately, most publicly owned and accessible buildings presently in use were constructed without regard to safety and accessibility.

We frankly have no complete statewide inventory of the life safety, fire code, and handicapped access status of the hundreds of state-run buildings. We do know that many, and possibly even most state buildings fall short in some aspect of current required standards. We also know that the cost of bringing such buildings immediately up to standards would be staggering.

There is no question but that our present state resources are inadequate to meet entirely these deficiencies within the time they should be corrected. I must therefore inform you that I considered the financial demands required to correct the life safety, fire code and handicapped access deficiencies so great that I was unable to even begin to fund them in this budget by direct appropriation.

Thus, it is imperative that we consider immediately other alternatives to correct these deficiencies and protect the lives of our citizens. It might be said that you and I have inherited decades of neglect, but whatever the circumstances, we must act responsibly now. Although I have no specific course of action to recommend to you tonight, this difficult issue must require considerable thought on our part during the ensuing weeks.

As a result of the recommendations of my Deep Mining Safety Commission, the members of the General Assembly during the Special Session enacted legislation that has made Kentucky a national leader in miner safety training and education. Over $1.4 million in increased support is provided for additional personnel in mine inspection and miner training.

Protection of the consumer continues to be one of my priorities. For this reason I am recommending additional general fund dollars for the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office to expand their efforts, particularly in the areas of insurance and utility rate increases. Also, state general funds are recommended to continue the economic fraud unit and the anti-trust unit which were initiated with federal grant funds.

The safety of our citizens is of paramount importance to those of us entrusted with public responsibilities, and this is especially true during times of natural disaster when entire communities can be paralyzed. The flooding in 15 southeastern Kentucky counties last April brought a disaster declaration from President Carter.

One program available to flood victims was the individual and family grant program which paid out over $18 million to more than 6,000 victims of the food in southeastern Kentucky. I am recommending $4.5 million to repay the state's share of this important program, which has benefitted our citizens in their time of distress.

Justice

My justice budget reflects my desire to improve the entire criminal justice system throughout the Commonwealth. I am recommending more than a 20 percent increase, or approximately $26 million in new state support over the biennium, for the Department of Justice.

It was necessary that we provide over $1.4 in state funds to replace a like amount of lost federal funds that were supporting our Boone County Career Development Center for Women, the innovative seventh step organization, and the crime prevention program and crime labs jobs that we implemented in 1975. I believe the $6 million in increased operating support for the Bureau of Corrections — the largest such increase in memory — clearly establishes my firm support for our corrections program. These funds plus $15 million in new capital construction funds will help alleviate the overcrowded conditions in our state penal institutions, maintain security, as well as help us address some long-deferred problems in prisoner rehabilitation, health care and career development.

To meet my commitment to prisoner rehabilitation, I am proposing over $1 million in new money to increase the professional staff at the State Penitentiary at Eddyville.

I am also recommending $745,000 in expansion funds for the Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange to help us deal with the projected increase in prisoner population at that institution over the biennium. In addition, over a quarter of a million dollars for renovation of the LaGrange Hospital is provided to serve female offenders from the Kentucky Correctional Institution for Women.

My budget recommendations to you also reflect my concern about further reducing our crime rate. To this end, I am recommending $670,000 in new money for 25 new troopers to increase our law enforcement efforts and $1.8 million for the replacement of several existing state police posts.

For far too long, state government has ignored the needs of its handicapped citizens. I am thus requesting new dollars to fund the protection and advocacy system of the public defender, which is designed to advocate and protect the rights of the developmentally disabled.

Judiciary

A little over two years ago, in November of 1975, the voters of Kentucky indicated their desire to have our judicial system revamped. Now in January, 1978, we are fully completing the mammoth task of implementing a unified court of justice.

The recommendations embodied in the Executive Budget reflect full funding of a fully operative unified court system.

For the upcoming biennium, I recommend a total of $77.2 million in general fund support. This is a $50 million and 184 percent increase over last biennium. As you remember, in the Special Session of 1976 this legislative body added over 900 new judges, circuit clerks, deputy clerks, and administrative personnel to the state payroll to support the new judicial structure. This Executive Budget for the 1978-80 fiscal period, will provide over 350 new judicial personnel — above those authorized just one year ago — to support the unified court of justice. In short, what has sometimes disparagingly been called a "bare bones" budget is now completely supported and funded at all levels in the Executive Budget. It is my expectation that this massive dose of new money and personnel will enable Kentucky to have a court system of which all Kentuckians may be proud.

Included in this $77 million recommendation are salary improvements for the 221 justices and judges serving in the new court system. Specifically, a $3,000 per year salary increase for the Supreme, Appeals, and Circuit Court justices and judges is recommended effective January 1, 1980. A $1,000 per year raise effective January 1, 1979 and a $3,000 per year raise effective January 1, 1980, is recommended for each district judge. I feel this is necessary to retain the quality of person needed to serve on the Commonwealth of Kentucky bench.

A most prominent new expenditure of the proposed budget is for circuit clerks and their deputies. On January 1, 1978, the 120 circuit clerk offices became a state funded responsibility.

The dimension of the state commitment to adequate support of this program is evidenced by the proposed expenditures of $14.9 million in fiscal year 1979 and $15.6 million in fiscal year 1980. A current year appropriation of $2.2 million is recommended to effect a smooth transition and for the hiring of 277 additional deputies in addition to those provided for by the Legislature in the 1976 Special Session. Additionally, I am proposing a $200,000 contingency pool this current year so that any unforeseen complications in the clerks' offices may be handled without disrupting normal court operations.

One of Kentucky's most innovative programs supported by the 1976 General Assembly was the pretrial release program created as a result of our abolishing commercial bail bonding and replacing it with a state-supported system. I am proud to say that the pretrial release program has met with tremendous success. For the upcoming biennium, I propose an expenditure level of $1.9 million the first year and $2 million the second year of the biennium to insure the fiscal integrity of this program. This cost is over $1 million less than projected when the program was inaugurated.

The question of providing adequate court space and facilities has been a complex and perplexing one for local elected officials, members of the General Assembly, the judiciary and the executive.

The budget recommendation before you represents a compromise that I think will realistically address this difficult problem. Assuming the passage of some new legislation, in large part drafted by members of your interim committee system, I am proposing a total of $3.6 million in fiscal year 1979 and $4.9 million in fiscal year 1980 for court facilities. It is my hope that a compromise legislative measure, utilizing the expanded dollar amounts included in my budget recommendations, will resolve this problem.

Finally, legislation enacted during the 1976 Special Session of the general Assembly to implement the new state court system has added significantly to many court-related costs the state executive branch must bear directly. To meet these costs, over $14 million in new general fund dollars are recommended for the county costs budget during the 1978-80 Biennium.

Included within this total are additional funds to pay for all witnesses in both circuit and district court rather than just felony witnesses in circuit court; an additional $800,000 to pay for all jurors in both circuit and district court, and approximately $9.2 million in new dollars to pay for "dieting" all prisoners who violate a state statute rather than just felony prisoners in circuit court.

This budget recommends over $8 million each year of the biennium to fund the unified prosecutorial system created by the 1976 Special Session.

This system in Kentucky will be totally state funded. Quite candidly, of all the requests received, we had the most difficulty in evaluating and determining what level of funding to recommend to you for the prosecutorial system. I counseled with numerous legislators and finally arrived at a minimum level of funding which must now be further evaluated by you. Quite frankly, I feel there is a necessity for some further legislative guidelines prior to an effective evaluation of the funding required for a prosecutorial system in Kentucky.

Human Resources

In the area of Human Resources, I firmly believe Kentucky's scarce human services' dollars are best spent on those programs offering the most hope of preventing the conditions that breed poor health, poverty and dependence. This pholosophy is evident throughout my budget recommendations. At the same time, we should all recognize that the first obligation of our human service programs is to offer assistance to those requiring it to achieve a minimal decent standard of living. I feel this administration has more than fulfilled its responsibility in this are and that my proposed budget reinforces our commitment throughout the next two year.

The largest single expansion in the Department for Human Resources is for new neonatal services. This budget recommends that you fund services in the department and the the University of Kentucky in the amount of $9.8 million, and expresses our concern and also our commitment to the severely ill infants of Kentucky. This high-priority item consists of a four-pronged effort to remedy current problems by:

Establishment of a reimbursement system for intensive-level facilities to insure availability of this care.

Provision of financial assistance for the development of intermediate-level care on a regional basis.

Establishment of a reimbursement system for intermediate-level facilities to insure availability of this care.

Increasing the number of beds available at the University of Kentucky.

> The development of a network of 14 intermediate level hospitals across the state will help reduce the critical situation in intensive-level care. Beds which are currently being occupied by infants who could effectively be treated at intermediate level facilities, will be freed for the more critically ill infants. The regional hospitals will be located in Bowling Green, Paducah, Henderson, Madisonville, Somerset, Frankfort, Hazard, Covington, Pikeville, Ashland, Morehead, Harlan, Elizabethtown, and Richmond.

In my last budget speech two years ago, I related to you my belief that disabilities in children which can be corrected early should receive high priority.

To that end, I proposed, and the General Assembly approved, funds to eliminate the waiting list for children who require corrective surgery and support services. There is a large unmet need in Kentucky with regard to the availability of early and periodic screening, diagnostic and treatment services for children ineligible for these services under the Kentucky medical assistance program. Expansion funds of approximately $2.9 million for the biennium are being recommended to allow the screening of approximately 30,000 children the first year and 30,000 children the second year.

Also in the human services area, I am proposing that the Division for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services receive over $3.6 million in additional funding during the biennium.

In addition to the human suffering these programs will ease, services like these are designed to save us millions of tax dollars in future years by insuring early, adequate attention.

Increasing demand and decreasing federal funding have led to a crisis situation for our system of comprehensive care centers. In an effort to bring this problem to light, I have asked the General Assembly to consider this problem along with the executive branch of government. Expansion funds of $3 million for the biennium have been included in this budget for comprehensive care center funding. However, the guidelines for the use of these funds will be based upon the recommendations of the special legislative Commission on Comprehensive Care Centers.

An increase of nearly $4 million in general funds over the 1978-80 biennium is recommended in this budget for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program in Kentucky. This increase will enable us to maintain our payment levels to recipients at their current level.

One program that should truly pay for itself is our collection of child-support payments. In responding to a federal mandate to assist both welfare and non-welfare families in collecting child-support and locating absent parents, Kentucky's program is set up to collect more in child-support payments than the state will have to spend to operate the child-support program itself. Thus, I am recommending an appropriation of $900,000 to find absent parents over the next biennium and require them to make their child-support payments. This should be welcome news to Kentucky's taxpayers.

One of the most common misconceptions about public assistance is the notion that anyone who lacks an adequate income is taken care of by one welfare program or another. That is simply not the case. Therefore, I am proposing that we allocate $1.5 million in general funds in the second year of the biennium to create a new program of short-term crisis assistance to aid these people.

With the establishment of the Office of Inspector General, state government now has a specialized unit to monitor welfare programs and investigate and prosecute fraud. It is our job both to take care of human needs and to stop those who would abuse the system to the detriment of all our taxpayers.

My proposed budget also includes funds to continue Kentucky's medical assistance program and to expand our efforts at early and periodic screening, diagnosis and treatment for under-privileged children: our home health services, so that more patients can be treated at home rather than remaining in a hospital, and our dental prevention services for under-privileged children.

My recommended budget includes $2 million in general funds to better enable Kentucky's aged, blind and disabled to obtain such specialized living arrangements as they may require.

Project independence is an innovative approach toward maintaining elderly Kentuckians in their own homes.

I am asking you to approve an additional $1 million to make possible the extension of this invaluable service to the elderly to an additional area development district.

In addition, I am recommending nearly $2 million for a specialized foster care program designed to provide for emotionally disturbed children who have multiple and/or severe problems. This program will offer specialized substitute family living through foster care to some 360 emotionally disturbed children who presently reside in institutions, private child care facilities or nursing homes.

Natural Resources and Environmental Protection

The conservation of our natural resources and the protection of our environment is of concern to us all. We must safeguard the quality of our water and air and provide for the safe disposal of our wastes to assure not only the safety of this generation of Kentuckians but also that of our children and grandchildren.

To that end, in this budget I am providing an increase of 47 percent, or $12.5 million in new state money, over the current biennial budget for the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

As you know, Congress recently enacted the first nation-wide program to regulate surfacing mining and its environmental effects.

The implementation of the new federal Surface Mining Reclamation and Control Act will be a challenge for all the coal-producing states in the nation. As the nation's leading producer of coal, Kentucky will be tremendously affected.

As a result of the federal legislation, I am recommending for your consideration not only the legislative proposals necessary to bring Kentucky's reclamation laws into compliance with this Act, but also a total of $2.2 million in new general fund dollars to allow Kentucky to attain a primary position among the states in the implementation of this law.

These new state funds will allow us to establish 248 new positions in the recently created Bureau for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement.

The inspection and engineering staffs will be doubled in size and district offices will be expanded from six to nine.

The tragedy recently experienced in Georgia as well as past tragedies such as Buffalo Creek place even greater emphasis on the need for continuous monitoring and inspection of dams throughout Kentucky. I am recommending in my Executive Budget three items related to dam safety:

First, I am doubling the present staff in the Bureau for Natural Resources charged with the inspection of some 779 identified dams which will provide for the inspection of the state's 200 high-hazard dams at least once a year.

Secondly, I am recommending a total of $5 million over the biennium to continue the community flood damage abatement program which was initiated in the last budget.

Finally, I am recommending $2 million over the biennium in capital construction funds to provide for the repair and maintenance of state-owned or state-constructed dams.

We have, in recent years, addressed ourselves to the need for clean air and water. We have not, however, dealt with the safe and adequate disposal of the mountains of waste our society generates, especially those wastes hazardous to the health of our citizens. For the 1978-80 biennium, over $400,000 is recommended to expand the professional staff trained to deal with the problems associated with hazardous waste disposal.

I will address the subject of solid waste separately as I transmit to you the recommendations from the Governor's Commission on Solid Waste.

Transportation

This administration believes that common sense dictates that we must provide adequate maintenance of a safe and efficient transportation system for the conveyance of our citizens and our goods. This goal has become increasingly difficult because of the tremendous increased cost of road building and maintenance. The problem is compounded by an interstate system that requires maintenance for which no federal funds are provided. Road maintenance difficulties were further aggravated by a severe winter last year and again by floods in the spring. Of course, our coal haul road maintenance continues to be a serious problem in our coal counties as well as in some non-coal producing counties through which coal is transported.

For these reasons we are recommending that:

You again appropriate $26 million from the general fund to the energy road fund to maintain our streets and highways in coal-producing counties.

You set aside $10 million in state road funds each year for the purpose of matching $80 million in anticipated federal funds for energy roads.

You authorize an additional $10 million for county-road aid on a one-time basis to catch up some of the damage inflicted by the severe winter and floods of last year.

We now see that with Kentucky's coal reserves and the energy shortage, our rail system is becoming more vital to the welfare of the Commonwealth.

Unfortunately, we also see an increase in dangerous derailments across the state. I am told that many of these accidents can be attributed to deteriorated trackage and rail beds. I feel that we must ensure an efficient rail transportation system, while at the same time protect the safety of our communities located on rail lines. Therefore, my budget — for the first time in history — includes state funds to match forthcoming federal dollars for Kentucky's rail system.

Executive Management

One of the prime concerns of this administration has been the economy and efficiency of state government, to improve our responsiveness to the citizens we serve.

When I spoke to the Kentucky Association of Counties last fall, I emphasized the need to cut red tape and increase the effectiveness of state programs so that the time between a request of state government and its subsequent response is reduced. I have, therefore, included in my budget recommendations funds to establish several regional state offices throughout the Commonwealth. These offices will serve to enhance the cooperation and coordination between state agencies in meeting an area's needs.

To meet the needs, outlined in the budget, our state payroll must grow. However, as I pledged to you two years ago, state government will not be allowed to grow "like a snowball rolling down a hill."

Instead, consistent with our hiring restraint program implemented two years ago, we will grow where justified; and we will cut back where possible. I do not surrender to the notion that every government agency must grow, and we will continue our restraints on personnel expansion, particularly our "proof of necessity" procedure through which every position must be fully justified before it can be filled. Thereby, the taxpayers of Kentucky can be assured that any growth which does occur will be limited, controlled, essential, and justifiable.

I commend the 1976 General Assembly for having approved a new pay system for state employes, and am asking you to endorse its continuation for the next biennium.

Therefore, the Executive Budget provides for annual 5 percent automatic increments for all permanent employees, and recommends a $35.6 million appropriation for selective pay adjustments needed to recruit and retain employees in critical positions.

Our budget this biennium also establishes three services for our state employees not previously authorized. We have funded medical insurance for our retired employees until they qualify for medicaid, and we have also funded moving expenses and a system of reimbursement for automobile liability insurance.

As I have mentioned previously, the recommendations contained in this budget will provide for the delivery of government services without an increase in existing taxes or the imposition of any new tax. In conjunction with this policy, I am recommending over $1.4 million in additional funding for the Department of Revenue to improve the administration of the present tax system. This recommendation will fund additional tax auditors, technical assistance, and support staff for the department's programs to ensure the efficient and equitable administration of present state taxes.

Higher Education

Two years ago, my recommendations for higher education resulted in a current-year level of support which represent the fourth highest increase of any state in the nation. My recommendation for higher education, as you will note tonight, exceeds by 46 percent my biennial recommendation of two years ago. Emphasis is placed on upgrading the salary level of faculty members whose current salary is below those benchmark levels identified by the Council on Higher Education. I am also recommending funds to upgrade the salaries of those employees who support the operation of these same institutions. Included in this group are all clerical, maintenance and other personnel providing direct and indirect support to the faculty, students and administrators of the universities.

Unlike two years ago, the Council on Higher Education played an important role in the development of the higher education budget for the next two years. I have been determined that the council assume a strong role in coordinating and planning our higher education system in Kentucky. The council's in-depth review of institutional budget requests indicates that my goal is being realized. My confidence in the council is reflected in the fact that I am recommending 99 percent of the council's request for general fund dollars in fiscal year 1979 and 98 percent in fiscal year 1980.

My recommendation for the University of Kentucky, our comprehensive state institution, ensures that UK will maintain its national status as one of the leading research and teaching universities in the country.

Once again the University of Louisville, our urban state institution, received substantial general fund increases. We are alleviating many problems at U of L during the current biennium; however, accreditation problems in a few areas still persist and my recommendations for the university will rectify this situation. I have also insured that the ambulatory care facility, a major portion of the Louisville Teaching Hospital Complex, which will be completed by the end of the biennium, will have ample operating funds.

I am also recommending $3 million to assist the city of Louisville and Jefferson County in paying for indigent patient care at Louisville General Hospital.

Our system of regional institutions is being encouraged to develop programs and activities unique to their service areas. Since the council undertook to define and clarify each institutional role and mission, the duplicative and unnecessary program offerings that were common during higher education's growth years are now being brought under control by the council's review of all new and existing programs.

Among all institutions, Northern Kentucky University received the largest percentage increase in general fund support — 26 percent in the first year of the biennium. As the state's fastest growing regional institution serving the state's second largest urban population, Northern's staff and faculty have been hard pressed to keep up with student growth. I pledged during my campaign that I would ensure that the facilities problems at Northern would be addressed. Northern now has the ability, as a result of this budget, to complete its campus.

As you are probably already aware, I have undertaken an innovative approach to funding an expanded program of student loans.

Since early last year I have been exploring the possibility of issuing revenue bonds to fund the state's loan program. The Higher Education Assistance Authority will introduce legislation asking for the authority to issue $23 million in bonds to fund its loan program during the biennium. This will benefit approximately 10,000 students each year.

In addition, the authority will operate the state student incentive grant program and the tuition grant program at expanded levels.

A $1.9 million appropriation for the tuition grant program will provide students attending the state's private institutions a tuition subsidy, while a $2 million appropriation each year for the state student incentive grant program will enable both private and public students to receive similar grants.

Elementary and Secondary Education

In elementary and secondary education, my recommendations for the next two years provide well over $270 million in new money.

The largest portion of the funding increase will be for support of the minimum foundation program. Foundation expenditures will increase from $536 million in fiscal year 1978 to $672 million in fiscal year 1980.

By the close of my administration the average teacher's salary in Kentucky will increase to the average of the seven surrounding states. Our recommended budget includes average instructional allotment increases of $1,480 for fiscal year 1979, and $1,465 for fiscal year 1980. This increase, accompanied by continued local school district support, should increase the average teacher's salary from approximately $11,700 in the current school year to at least $14,615 in the 1979-80 school year.

When I arrived in office, Kentucky ranked 46th nationally in teachers' salaries. As a result of my first budget, Kentucky ranks 38th among all states, according to national educational association figures, in level of the average teacher's salary for 1976-77.

My recommendations for salary increases are projected to improve this ranking to 24th nationally by the end of this administration. It is further projected that Kentucky's estimated per pupil expenditure level will increase as added funds are expended for salaries. The salary increases, plus my other recommendations, will move Kentucky's state support per pupil to a projected level of 11th in the nation two years from now.

In line with professional educators' recommendations, there will be higher than average salary increases for the more experienced and better educated teachers, while inexperienced teachers with limited education will realize less.

This will help keep qualified, experienced teachers on Kentucky's school payrolls.

The cost associated with the teacher salary increase will amount to approximately $144.2 million in additional funds for the biennium.

Another area that will receive substantial funding increases during the biennium is the current expense allotment — state funds provided to local school districts for basic operating expenses, $28.4 million in additional funds will be distributed in this category over the biennium. This represents a total current expense improvement of some 70 percent per unit since I assumed office. The recommended 1978-80 budget also includes a current year, one-time current expense allotment of $55 per unit. The state expense for this allotment will approximate $1.7 million.

In addition, the capital outlay category of the foundation program will receive added funding of $6.5 million over the biennium. Capital needs will be further aided by the establishment of the Kentucky School Building Authority which will assist school districts with local school construction and for which legislation will soon be introduced.

If you approve my recommendation, the Commonwealth of Kentucky will have a statewide public kidnergarten program by the end of this administration.

I have also included a new pilot program for educating gifted children through 200 "gifted" classroom units in this budget.

Other classroom unit increases will include 175 new vocational education units each year: 200 exceptional children units in 1978-79 and 400 in 1979-80; plus a new superintendent unit for each district.

With increasing strain on our schools to meet the cost of pupil transportation, I am recommending $4.4 million the first year of the biennium and $8.7 the second year for this portion of the foundation program. The transportation cost increases relate to inflation, increased kindergartens, greater transportation requirements for exceptional children, and improved safety equipment for school buses.

In an attempt to further equalize the educational opportunities among all areas of the Commonwealth, I am proposing significant increases to the power equalization program. Expansion in this program has also been suggested by my task force on education.

Under the power equalization formula, each district continues to determine its own tax rate. The state, however, supplements local revenues so that each district receives as much money per pupil as if its tax rate were applied in the wealthiest school district in the state.

During the current biennium, the concept of power equalization was established by the General Assembly at an annual cost of $10.5 million.

The 1978-80 Executive Budget includes an additional $31.5 million to increase the equalization by 200 percent.

In a further attempt to equalize educational opportunities in Kentucky's school districts, I am supporting a recommendation of the Education Task Force prohibiting the accumulation of bonus units by local school districts. Currently, some school districts have unfairly received double funding for certain students in special programs, while other districts have been ineligible for double funding. I am recommending that this inequity which allows such double funding be eliminated.

In the 1976-78 biennium we proposed eliminating student fees and provided over $7 per pupil each year to meet this need.

The annual cost for 1977-78 is $4.6 million. I suggest we increase this allotment to $20 per pupil and statutorially prohibit the practice of charging students fees in the public schools. This dramatic increase in funding, which will be used primarily to offset the operating expenses of school districts, will cost in excess of $16 million in new money.

With this proposed budget, all textbooks and supplemental materials will be completely free to all students from kindergarten through high school starting in the 1978 school year. With the abolition of student fees and this comprehensive textbook program, we are for the first time in history capable of saying that Kentucky's children have 13 grades of free education.

In accordance with the Task Force on Education recommendation and in response to legislation introduced two years ago, I have recommended over $1 million for both career and consumer education so that our children might have a well-rounded education.

One of the major problems in our school system in Kentucky has been the lack of broad based public confidence. Recognizing this fact, the Governor's Task Force on Education recommended the implementation of a statewide testing program in order to accurately measure the academic achievements of our students. I am supporting this recommendation and have funded in this budget a testing program that will center on diagnostic tests for pupils in the 3rd, 5th, 7th and 10th grades.

These tests will not be utilized to promote or graduate the students, but will only be used to determine what remedial instruction a student requires in order to meet certain desired educational standards. I am convinced that this testing program will further improve our elementary and secondary education system in Kentucky and hopefully restore the public's confidence in our educational system.

My vocational education budget provides for opening 12 new facilities and provides training for 100,000 additional citizens. This will be done through a 58 percent increase in state support, including $5.5 million for additional programs and $4.5 million for modern equipment to assure students receive training relevant to today's industry needs.

Some Kentuckians must receive special attention through our vocational rehabilitation programs, and our residential educational facilities for the blind and the deaf. All of these programs will receive substantial increases for both construction needs and program expansion.

When our teachers retire after years of dedicated service to our Commonwealth, they deserve to have an adequate retirement plan provided through a soundly funded retirement system. My budget proposal contains $20.4 million to reduce unfunded liabilities of our system, and to provide increases in benefits for presently retired teachers, plus those retiring in the future.

We are fortunate to have at our disposal substantial new money in the upcoming biennium, largely due to the relatively healthy and productive economic climate that I outlined to you in my State of the Commonwealth Message several weeks ago.

Thanks to this, we are able to provide many new services demanded by our citizens, improve many of the programs already in existence, and, at long last, bring Kentucky's public educational system into the light of a new and rewarding day.

I have talked long tonight, and I have covered only some of the highlights of the Executive Budget. I hope every member of the General Assembly — every citizen of Kentucky — will study it carefully in the coming weeks.

I think you will then all agree with those who have worked so long to formulate it that it is strong, it is tight, it is good.

Thank you and Good Night.

HB 113, AN ACT relating to teacher retirement.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 161.600 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Effective July 1, 1976, a member of the retirement system may qualify for service retirement by meeting either of the following requirements:

(a) Attainment of age fifty-five (55) years and completion of five (5) years of Kentucky service, two (2) years of which are subsequent to July 1, 1941, or

(b) Completion of thirty (30) years of Kentucky service, two (2) years of which are subsequent to July 1, 1941.

(c) Benefits will be reduced in accordance with KRS 161.620 for persons qualifying under (a) who are less than age sixty (60) years [, and under (b) if less than age fifty-five (55) years].

(2) Any member shall be automatically retired as of July 1 next following the seventieth (70th) birthday, providing, however, that a member reaching age seventy (70) and having fewer than five (5) years of Kentucky service, two (2) years of which are subsequent to July 1, 1941, shall receive a refund of the member's accumulated contributions as provided in KRS 161.470(6) in lieu of a retirement annuity.

(3) Any person who has been a teacher in Kentucky for thirty (30) years or more and who withdraws from teaching after July 1, 1941, and before reaching the age of sixty-five (65) years may continue to pay into the fund each year, until the end of the fiscal year in which he reaches the age of sixty-five (65) years, the current contribution rate based on the annual compensation received during his last full year as a teacher. If he so elects he shall at any time be entitled to receive a retirement allowance as provided in KRS 161.620. No member shall make contributions as provided for above if such member is at the same time making contributions to another retirement system in Kentucky supported wholly or in part by public funds.

(4) Service credit in the Kentucky employes retirement system, the state police retirement system, the county employes or the judicial retirement system may be used in meeting the service requirements of subsections (1)(a) and (1)(b) of this section, provided such service is subsequent to July 1, 1956.

(5) No retirement annuity shall be effective until written application and option election forms are filed with the retirement office in accordance with regulations of the board of trustees.

Section 2. KRS 161.620 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The retirement allowance, in the form of a life annuity with refundable balance, of a member retiring for service [whose age at retirement is fifty-five (55) years or more] shall be calculated as follows:

(a) For retirements effective during the 1976-77 fiscal year the annual allowance shall be sixty-four dollars ($64) times the number of years service credit prior to July 1, 1941, plus two percent (2%) of the final average salary times the number of years service credit after July 1, 1941. Actuarial discounts due to age at retirement may be applied as provided in subsection [subsections] (1)(c) [and (1)(d)] of this section.

(b) For retirements effective July 1, 1977, and thereafter the annual allowance shall be determined as set out in subsection (1)(a) of this section, except that the allowance for service prior to July 1, 1941, shall be eighty-eight dollars ($88) per year.

[(c) If the member has thirty (30) years or more of Kentucky service, including credit for military service and is less than fifty-five (55) years of age, the allowance shall be reduced by three percent (3%) for each year the member is less than fifty-five (55).]

(c) [(d)] If the member has five (5) years or more of Kentucky service, but less than thirty (30) years of such service credit, the allowance shall be reduced actuarially for the number of years the member is less than sixty (60) years of age or by the number of years the service credit is less than thirty (30) years, whichever is the lesser number. The board of trustees shall adopt an actuarial table of discounts for the purpose of calculating these allowances.

(2) Effective July 1, 1970, and annually on July 1 thereafter the annual retirement allowance of each retired teacher and of each beneficiary of a retirement option shall be increased in the amount of one percent (1%) of the retirement allowance in effect on July 1, 1970, or the date of retirement, whichever occurs later.

(3) Any member qualifying for retirement under a life annuity with refundable balance shall be entitled to receive an annual allowance amounting to not less than sixty dollars ($60) multiplied by the service credit years of the teacher, except that no retired teacher who was sixty (60) years of age or older at retirement, and who has five (5) years or more service credit in a position covered by the teachers' retirement system shall receive a monthly benefit of less than fifty-five dollars ($55). The above minimums shall be effective July 1, 1974, and shall apply to those members retiring on or subsequent to that date.

(4) The minimum provided in this section shall apply in the case of teachers retired or retiring under an option other than a life annuity with refundable balance in the same proportion to the benefits of the teacher and his beneficiary or beneficiaries as provided in the duly adopted option tables at the time of the member's retirement.

(5) Effective July 1, 1976, the monthly retirement allowance of each member retired on or before June 1, 1976, and of each recipient of a retirement option of such retired member shall be increased in the amount of three percent (3%) of the monthly allowance for each year from the effective date of retirement of July 1, 1971, whichever is the later date, to July 1, 1976. Fractional years shall be calculated on a pro rata basis. The above percentages shall be based on an assumed minimum allowance of two hundred dollars ($200) per month and an assumed maximum of five hundred dollars ($500) per month of annuity in effect the previous month.

(6) Effective July 1, 1976, each member who retired prior to that date and each recipient of a retirement option of such member shall receive an increase in monthly benefits equal to two dollars ($2) for each year of credited service prior to July 1, 1941. Each member who retired prior to July 1, 1977, and each recipient of a retirement option of such member shall receive an increase of two dollars ($2) per month for each year of credited service prior to July 1, 1941, to be effective July 1, 1977. No more than fifteen (15) years of service prior to July 1, 1941, shall be used in calculating these increases for each member.

Section 3. KRS 161.675 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The board of trustees is empowered to enter into contracts with insurance carriers for the purpose of providing a broad program of hospital and medical insurance coverage to teachers retired for service [who are age fifty-five (55) or older], to teachers retired by reason of disability, and to the spouses and minor children of said retired teachers, coverage may also be extended to spouses and to minor children of teachers in active contributing status who are deceased prior to retirement if such teachers were [fifty-five (55) years of age or older and] eligible for service retirement at the time of death.

(2) The coverage provided shall be as set forth in the contracts and the regulations of the board of trustees. The contracts and regulations shall provide for, but not be limited to, hospital room and board, surgical procedures, doctors' care in the hospital and miscellaneous hospital costs. A retiree whose effective date of retirement is July 1, 1974, and thereafter, must have a minimum of five (5) years creditable Kentucky service in the teachers' retirement system to qualify for such coverage.

(3) The board of trustees is empowered to pay premiums for insurance coverage from the hospital and medical insurance fund. It may provide such insurance coverage as is deemed desirable by making payment to institutions and individuals for services performed, or the board of trustees may elect to provide such insurance protection on a "self-insurance" basis.

(4) Contracts negotiated may include the provision that a stated amount of hospital cost or period of hospitalization shall incur no obligation on the part of the insurance carrier or the retirement system.

(5) The board of trustees is empowered to adopt such rules and regulations as are necessary to assure efficient operation of the hospital and medical insurance program.

HB 23, AN ACT relating to motor vehicles.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 189.338 is amended to read as follows:

Whenever traffic is controlled by traffic-control signals exhibiting different colored lights, or colored lighted arrows, successively one at a time or in combination, only the colors green, red and yellow shall be used, except for special pedestrian signals carrying a word legend, and said lights shall indicate and apply to drivers of vehicles and pedestrians as follows:

(1) Green indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a circular green signal may proceed straight through or turn right or left unless a sign at such place prohibits either such turn. But vehicular traffic, including vehicles turning right or left, shall yield the right of way to other vehicles and to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection or an adjacent crosswalk at the time such signal is exhibited.

(b) Vehicular traffic facing a green arrow signal, shown alone or in combination with another indication, may cautiously enter the intersection only to make the movement indicated by such arrow, or such other movement as is permitted by other indications shown at the same time. Such vehicular traffic shall yield the right of way to pedestrians lawfully within an adjacent crosswalk and to other traffic lawfully using the intersection.

(c) Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, pedestrians facing any green signal, except when the sole green signal is a turn arrow, may proceed across the roadway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk.

(2) Steady yellow indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a steady yellow signal is thereby warned that the related green movement is being terminated or that a red indication will be exhibited immediately thereafter when vehicular traffic shall not enter the intersection.

(b) Pedestrians facing a steady yellow signal, unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, are thereby advised that there is insufficient time to cross the roadway before a red indication is shown and no pedestrian shall then start to cross the roadway.

(3) Steady red indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a circular red signal alone shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, then before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or if none, then before entering the intersection and shall remain standing until a green indication is shown, except as follows:

1. The driver of a vehicle which is stopped as required by subsection (3)(a) [close as practicable at the entrance to the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection or, if none, then at the entrance to the intersection in obedience to a red or stop signal, and] with the intention of making a right turn, may make such right turn, after stopping, unless an official sign has been erected prohibiting such movement, but shall yield the right of way to pedestrians and other traffic lawfully proceeding through the intersection.

(b) Cities and counties may, by ordinance, and the bureau of highways may, by regulation, prohibit any such right or left turn against a steady red signal at any intersection, which prohibition shall be effective when an official sign prohibiting such movement is erected at the intersection.

(c) [(b)] Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, pedestrians facing a steady red signal alone shall not enter the roadway.

(4) In the event an official traffic-control signal is erected and maintained at a place other than an intersection, the provisions of this section shall be applicable except as to those provisions which by their nature can have no application. Any stop required shall be made at a sign or marking on the pavement indicating where the stop shall be made, but in the absence of any such sign or marking the stop shall be made at the signal.

HB 24, AN ACT relating to the use of streets and highways.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 189.010 is amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) "Bureau" means the bureau of highways.

(2) "Crosswalk" means:

(a) That part of a roadway at an intersection within the connections of the lateral lines of the sidewalks on opposite sides of the highway measured from the curbs or in the absence of curbs, from the edges of the traversable roadway; or

(b) Any portion of a roadway at an intersection or elsewhere distinctly indicated for pedestrian crossing by lines or other markings on the surface.

(3) [(2)] "Highway" means any public road, street, avenue, alley or boulevard, bridge, viaduct or trestle and the approaches to them and includes off-street parking facilities offered for public use, whether publicly or privately owned, except for-hire parking facilities listed in KRS 189.700.

(4) "Intersection" means:

(a) The area embraced within the prolongation or connection of the lateral curb lines, or, if none, then the lateral boundary lines of the roadways of two (2) highways which join one another, but not necessarily continue, at approximately right angles, or the area within which vehicles traveling upon different highways joining at any other angle may come into conflict; or

(b) Where a highway includes two (2) roadways thirty (30) feet or more apart, then every crossing of each roadway of such divided highway by an intersecting highway shall be regarded as a separate intersection. In the event such intersecting highway also includes two (2) roadways thirty (30) feet or more apart, then every crossing of two (2) roadways of such highways shall be regarded as a separate intersection. The junction of a private alley with a public street or highway shall not constitute an intersection.

(5) [(3)] "Motor truck" means any motor-propelled vehicle designed for carrying freight or merchandise. It shall not include self-propelled vehicles designed primarily for passenger transportation, but equipped with frames, racks or bodies having a load capacity of not exceeding one thousand (1000) pounds.

(6) [(4)] "Operator" means the person in actual physical control of a vehicle.

(7) "Pedestrian" means any person afoot.

(8) "Right of way" means the right of one (1) vehicle or pedestrian to proceed in a lawful manner in preference to another vehicle or pedestrian approaching under such circumstances of direction, speed and proximity as to give rise to danger of collision unless one grants precedence to the other.

(9) "Roadway" means that portion of a highway improved, designed or ordinarily used for vehicular travel, exclusive of the berm or shoulder. In the event a highway includes two (2) or more separate roadways the term "roadway" as used herein shall refer to any roadway separately but not to all such roadways collectively.

(10) "Safety zone" means the area or space officially set apart within a roadway for the exclusive use of pedestrians and which is protected or is so marked or indicated by adequate signs as to be plainly visible at all times while set apart as a safety zone.

(11) [(5)] "Semitrailer" means a vehicle designed to be attached to, and having its front end supported by, a motor truck or truck tractor, intended for the carrying of freight or merchandise and having a load capacity of over one thousand (1000) pounds.

(12) [(6)] "Truck tractor" means any motor-propelled vehicle designed to draw and to support the front end of a semitrailer. The semitrailer and the truck tractor shall be considered to be one (1) unit.

(13) [(7)] "Sharp curve" means a curve of not less than thirty (30) degrees.

(14) [(8)] "State police" includes any agency for the enforcement of the highway laws established pursuant to law.

(15) [(9)] "Steep grade" means a grade of exceeding seven per cent (7%).

(16) [(10)] "Trailer" means any vehicle designed to be drawn by a motor truck or truck-tractor, but supported wholly upon its own wheels, intended for the carriage of freight or merchandise, and having a load capacity of over one thousand (1,000) pounds.

(17) [(11)] "Unobstructed highway" means a straight, level, first-class road upon which no other vehicle is passing or attempting to pass, and upon which no other vehicle or pedestrian is approaching in the opposite direction, closer than three hundred (300) yards.

(18) [(12)] "Vehicle" includes all agencies for the transportation of persons or property over or upon the public highways of this commonwealth and all vehicles passing over or upon said highways, excepting road rollers, road graders, farm tractors, vehicles on which power shovels are mounted, such other construction equipment customarily used only on the site of construction and which is not practical for the transportation of persons or property upon the highways, such vehicles as travel exclusively upon rails, and such vehicles as are propelled by electric power obtained from overhead wires while being operated within any municipality or where said vehicles do not travel more than five (5) miles beyond the city limit of any municipality. "Motor vehicle" includes all vehicles as defined above which are propelled otherwise than by muscular power.

Section 2. KRS 189.337 is amended to read as follows:

(1) As used in this chapter [section] "official traffic control devices" shall mean all signs, signals, markings, and devices placed or erected by authority of a public body or official having jurisdiction, for the purpose of regulating, warning, or dividing traffic.

(2) The bureau of highways shall promulgate and adopt a manual of standards and specifications for a uniform system of official traffic control devices for use upon all roads and streets. The manual and its future revisions and supplements shall be applicable to all roads and streets under the control of the bureau of highways or any county or incorporated city.

(3) All traffic control devices installed on any road or street after the adoption of the manual shall conform to the provisions thereof. Satisfactory operating traffic devices in use on the date of the adoption of the manual may continue to be used, however, if such devices are replaced or revised, they must be replaced or revised in conformance with the provisions of the manual.

Section 3. KRS 189.330 is amended to read as follows:

(1) When two (2) vehicles approach or enter an intersection from different roadways at approximately the same time, the operator of the vehicle on the left shall yield the right of way to the vehicle on the right.

(2) The right of way rule declared in subsection (1) is modified at highways and through intersections and as otherwise stated in this chapter.

(3) Preferential right of way may be indicated by stop signs or yield signs. The state highway commissioner with reference to state highways and local authorities with reference to other highways under their jurisdiction may designate any intersection as a stop intersection or as a yield intersection and erect stop signs or yield signs at one (1) or more entrances to such intersections.

(4) Except when directed to proceed by a police officer, every operator of a vehicle approaching a stop sign shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or, if none, then at the point nearest the intersecting roadway where the operator has view of approaching traffic on the intersecting roadway before entering it. After having stopped the operator shall yield the right of way to any vehicle in the intersection or approaching on another roadway so closely as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time when such operator is moving across or within the intersection or junction of roadways.

(5) The operator of a vehicle approaching a yield sign shall in obedience to such sign slow down to a speed reasonable for the existing conditions and, if required for safety to stop, shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or, if none, then at the point nearest the intersecting roadway where the operator has a view of approaching traffic on the intersecting roadway before entering it. After slowing and stopping, the operator shall yield the right of way to any vehicle in the intersection or approaching on another roadway so closely as to constitute an immediate hazard during the time such operator is moving across or within the intersection or junction of roadways. Provided, however, that if such an operator is involved in a collision with a vehicle in the intersection or junction of roadways after driving past a yield sign without stopping, such collision shall be deemed prima facie evidence of his failure to yield right of way.

(6) The operator of a vehicle intending to turn shall do so as follows:

(a) Right turns— both the approach for a right turn and a right turn shall be made as close as practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway;

(7) The department of transportation and local authorities in their respective jurisdictions may cause official traffic control devices to be placed and thereby require and direct that a different course from that specified in this section be traveled by turning vehicles and when such devices are so placed no operator shall turn a vehicle other than as directed and required by such devices.

(8) The operator of any vehicle shall not turn such vehicle so as to proceed in the opposite direction unless such movement can be made in safety without interfering with other traffic.

(9) The operator of a vehicle intending to turn to the left within an intersection or into an alley, private road or driveway shall yield the right of way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard.

(2) Except as stated in subsections (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7), or where otherwise directed by a traffic officer, the operator of a vehicle shall yield the right of way at the intersection of their paths to a vehicle approaching from the right unless the vehicle approaching from the right is further from the point of intersection of their paths than the first named vehicle.

(3) A vehicle being operated upon any intercounty seat highway, designated state highway or boulevard, or any street which by ordinance has been designated as being equal in importance to a boulevard, need not yield the right of way to a vehicle approaching from the right where such a highway intersects another highway of lesser class. Any vehicle operated on the lesser class highway shall stop before entering a highway of a higher class, except as provided in subsection (6).

(4) Except as provided in subsection (6), the driver of a vehicle shall stop at the entrance to a through highway and shall yield the right of way to other vehicles which have entered the intersection from the through highway or which are approaching so closely on the highway as to constitute an immediate hazard, but the driver having so yielded may proceed and the drivers of all other vehicles approaching the intersection on the through highway shall yield the right of way to the vehicle so proceeding into or across the through highway.

(5) The driver of a vehicle shall likewise stop in obedience to a stop sign at an intersection where a stop sign is erected at one or more entrances to the intersection although part of a through highway does not form the intersection. He shall proceed cautiously, yielding to vehicles not so obliged to stop which are within the intersection or approaching so closely as to constitute an immediate hazard, but may then proceed.

(6) Whenever it is determined, upon the basis of an engineering and traffic investigation at an intersection, that the assignments of rights of way described in subsections (2), (3), (4) and (5) are more restrictive than necessary for the safe and efficient control of that intersection's vehicular and pedestrian movements, yield right of way signs may be installed on one or more of the intersection approaches for the purpose of assigning right of way. The driver of a vehicle, in obedience to a yield right of way sign shall yield right of way to vehicles and pedestrians not so obliged to yield or stop which are within the intersection or approaching so closely as to constitute an immediate hazard; but such driver, having so yielded, may proceed at such time as a safe interval occurs.]

(10) [(7)] The operator [driver] of a vehicle about to enter or cross a roadway [highway] from any place other than another roadway [a private road or driveway] shall yield the right of way to all vehicles approaching on the roadway to be entered or crossed [highway].

Section 4. KRS 189.338 is amended to read as follows:

Whenever traffic is controlled by traffic-control signals exhibiting different colored lights, or colored lighted arrows, successively one at a time or in combination, only the colors green, red and yellow shall be used, except for special pedestrian signals carrying a word legend, and said lights shall indicate and apply to drivers of vehicles and pedestrians as follows:

(1) Green indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a circular green signal may proceed straight through or turn right or left unless a sign at such place prohibits either such turn. But vehicular traffic, including vehicles turning right or left, shall yield the right of way to other vehicles and to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection or an adjacent crosswalk at the time such signal is exhibited.

(b) Vehicular traffic facing a green arrow signal, shown alone or in combination with another indication, may cautiously enter the intersection only to make the movement indicated by such arrow, or such other movement as is permitted by other indications shown at the same time. Such vehicular traffic shall yield the right of way to pedestrians lawfully within an adjacent crosswalk and to other traffic lawfully using the intersection.

(c) Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, pedestrians facing any green signal, except when the sole green signal is a turn arrow, may proceed across the roadway within any marked or unmarked crosswalk.

(2) Steady yellow indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a steady yellow signal is thereby warned that the related green movement is being terminated or that a red indication will be exhibited immediately thereafter when vehicular traffic shall not enter the intersection.

(b) Pedestrians facing a steady yellow signal, unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, are thereby advised that there is insufficient time to cross the roadway before a red indication is shown and no pedestrian shall then start to cross the roadway.

(3) Steady red indication.

(a) Vehicular traffic facing a circular red signal alone shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, then before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or if none, then before entering the intersection and shall remain standing until a green indication is shown, except as follows: the driver of a vehicle which is stopped as close as practicable at the entrance to the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection or, if none, then at the entrance to the intersection in obedience to a red or stop signal, and with the intention of making a right turn, may make such right turn, after stopping, unless an official sign has been erected prohibiting such movement, but shall yield the right of way to pedestrians and other traffic lawfully proceeding through the intersection. Cities and counties may, by ordinance, and the bureau of highways may, by regulation, prohibit any such right turn against a steady red signal at any intersection, which prohibition shall be effective when an official sign prohibiting such movement is erected at the intersection.

(b) Unless otherwise directed by a pedestrian-control signal, pedestrians facing a steady red signal alone shall not enter the roadway.

(4) In the event an official traffic-control signal is erected and maintained at a place other than an intersection, the provisions of this section shall be applicable except as to those provisions which by their nature can have no application. Any stop required shall be made at a sign or marking on the pavement indicating where the stop shall be made, but in the absence of any such sign or marking the stop shall be made at the signal.

(5) Whenever an illuminated flashing red or yellow light is used in a traffic signal or with a traffic sign it shall require obedience by vehicular traffic as follows:

(a) Flashing red (stop signal)— When a red lens is illuminated with rapid intermittent flashes, operators of vehicles shall stop at a clearly marked stop line, but if none, before entering the crosswalk on the near side of the intersection, or if none, then at the point nearest the intersecting roadway where the operator has a view of approaching traffic on the intersecting roadway before entering it, and the right to proceed shall be subject to the rules applicable after making a stop at a stop sign.

(b) Flashing yellow (caution signal)— When a yellow lens is illuminated with rapid intermittent flashes, operators of vehicles may proceed through the intersection or past such signal only with caution.

Section 5. KRS 189.340 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Vehicles overtaking other vehicles proceeding in the same direction shall pass to the left of them and shall not again drive to the right until reasonably clear of those vehicles. The person operating or in charge of the overtaking vehicle shall sound his horn or other sound device before passing. Vehicles overtaking street cars may pass either to the right or left when so directed by a police officer, when on a one-way street or where the location of the tracks prevents compliance with this section, with regard for other traffic.

(2) The operator of a vehicle may overtake and pass upon the right of another vehicle only under the following conditions:

(a) When the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn;

(b) Upon a roadway with unobstructed pavement of sufficient width for two (2) or more lines of vehicles moving lawfully in the direction being traveled by the overtaking vehicle.

(3) The operator of a vehicle may overtake and pass another vehicle upon the right only under conditions permitting such movements in safety. Such movement shall not be made by driving off the roadway unless passing vehicle comes to a complete stop and such movement may be made safely.

(4) [(2) The operator of a vehicle may overtake and pass upon the right of another vehicle which is making or is about to make a left turn. The operator of a vehicle may overtake, and, allowing sufficient clearance, pass another vehicle proceeding in the same direction upon the left or upon the right on a roadway with unobstructed pavement or sufficient width for four (4) or more lines of traffic when the movement can be made in safety. No person shall drive off the pavement or upon the shoulder of the roadway in overtaking or passing on the right.

(3)] No vehicle shall be driven to the left side of the center of the roadway in overtaking and passing another vehicle proceeding in the same direction unless the left side is clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic for a sufficient distance ahead to permit overtaking and passing to be completely made without interfering with the safe operation of any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction or any vehicle overtaken. In every event the overtaking vehicle must return to the right-hand side of the roadway before coming within one hundred feet (100') of any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction.

(5) [(4)] The commissioner of highways is hereby authorized to determine those portions of any highway where overtaking and passing or driving to the left of the roadway would be especially hazardous and may by appropriate signs or markings on the roadway indicate the beginning and end of such zones, and when such signs or markings are in place and clearly visible to an ordinary observant person, every driver of a vehicle shall obey the directions thereof.

(6) [(5)] Whenever any roadway has been divided into three (3) clearly marked lanes for travel the following additional rules shall apply:

(a) A vehicle shall be driven as nearly as may be practical entirely within a single lane and shall not be moved from that lane until the driver has first ascertained that the movement can be made with safety;

(b) A vehicle shall not be driven in the center lane except when overtaking and passing another vehicle where the roadway is clearly visible and the center lane is clear of traffic within a safe distance, or in preparation for a left turn or where a center lane is at the time allocated exclusively to traffic moving in the direction in which the vehicle is proceeding and is signposted to give notice of the allocation;

(c) Official signs may be erected directing slow-moving traffic to use a designated lane or allocating specified lanes to traffic moving in the same direction and operators of vehicles shall obey the directors of such signs.

(7) (6) The operator of a motor vehicle shall not follow another vehicle more closely than is reasonable and prudent, having regard for the speed of the vehicle and the traffic upon and condition of the highway.

(b) The operator of any motor truck, semitrailer truck, bus or heavy construction equipment unit when traveling upon a highway outside of a business or residential district shall not follow within 250 feet of another such vehicle or equipment unit. This subsection shall not prevent overtaking and passing, nor shall it apply to any lane specially designated for use of motor trucks or semitrailer trucks, buses or heavy construction equipment units.

Section 6. KRS 189.380 is amended to read as follows:

(1) No person shall turn a vehicle or move right or left upon a roadway unless and until such movement can be made with reasonable safety nor without giving an appropriate signal in the manner hereinafter provided.

[(1) No person shall turn a vehicle from a direct course upon a highway unless and until such movement can be made with reasonable safety, and only after a clearly audible signal has been given by sounding the horn if any pedestrian shall be affected by the movement. No person shall so turn any vehicle without giving an appropriate signal in the manner hereinafter provided in the event any other vehicle may be affected by such movement.]

(2) A signal of the intention to turn right or left shall be given continuously for not less than the last one hundred (100) feet traveled by the vehicle before turning.

(3) No person shall stop or suddenly decrease the speed of a vehicle without first giving an appropriate signal in the manner provided herein to the operator of any vehicle immediately in the rear when there is opportunity to give such signal.

(4) All signals required herein shall be given either by means of the hand and arm or by a signal lamp or lamps or a mechanical signal device, except that the operator of a motor vehicle used for the transportation of persons for hire with taxicabs excluded, the operator of a school or church bus, and the operator of any vehicle so constructed or loaded that a hand and arm signal would not be visible both to the front and rear of such vehicle shall indicate an intention to turn by use of a signal lamp or lamps or mechanical signal device and must indicate an intention to stop or suddenly decrease speed by illuminating at least one (1) red or yellow light with the word "Stop" on it on the rear of the vehicle.

(5) All signals herein required given by hand and arm shall be given from the left side of the vehicle in the following manner, and such signals shall indicate as follows:

(a) Left turn — hand and arm extended horizontally;

(b) Right turn — hand and arm extended upward;

(c) Stop or decrease speed — hand and arm extended downward.

SECTION 7. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 189 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) No vehicle shall be driven on the left side of the roadway under the following conditions:

(a) When approaching or upon the crest of a grade or a curve in the highway where the operator's view is obstructed within such distance as to create a hazard in the event another vehicle might approach from the opposite direction;

(b) When approaching within one hundred (100) feet of or traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing;

(c) When the view is obstructed upon approaching within one hundred (100) feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel.

(2) The foregoing limitations shall not apply upon a one way roadway, nor when an obstruction exists making it necessary to drive to the left of the center of the highway; provided, any person so doing shall yield the right of way to all vehicles traveling in the proper direction upon the unobstructed portion of the highway within such distance as to constitute an immediate hazard, nor to the operator of a vehicle turning left into or from an alley, private road or driveway.

Section 8. KRS 189.570 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Pedestrians shall obey the instruction of any official [be subject to] traffic control devices [signals] specifically applicable to them, unless otherwise directed by a police officer or other officially designated persons [at intersections].

(2) Pedestrians shall be subject to traffic and pedestrian control signals as provided in KRS 189.231 and 189.338.

(3) At all other places, pedestrians shall be accorded the privileges and shall be subject to the restrictions stated in this chapter.

(4) [(2) Except as provided in subsection (4), where] When traffic control signals are not in place or in operation the operator of a vehicle shall yield the right of way, slowing down or stopping if need be to so yield, to a pedestrian crossing the roadway upon which the vehicle is traveling, or when the pedestrian is approaching so closely from the opposite half of the roadway as to be in danger [within any marked crosswalk or within any unmarked crosswalk at an intersection. If necessary in order to yield the right of way, the operator shall slow down or stop].

(5) [(3)] Whenever any [a] vehicle is stopped at a marked crosswalk or at any unmarked crosswalk at an intersection, to permit a pedestrian to cross the roadway, the operator of any other vehicle approaching from the rear shall not overtake and pass the stopped vehicle.

(6) (4) Every pedestrian crossing a roadway at a [any] point other than within a marked crosswalk or within an unmarked crosswalk at an intersection shall yield the right of way to all vehicles upon the roadway.

(b) Any pedestrian crossing a [on the] roadway at a point where a pedestrian tunnel or overhead pedestrian crossing has been provided shall yield the right of way to all vehicles upon the roadway.

(c) Between adjacent intersections within the city limits of every city at which traffic control signals are in operation, pedestrians shall not cross at any place except in a marked crosswalk.

(d) Notwithstanding other [the] provisions of this subsection or the provisions of any local ordinance, every operator of a vehicle shall exercise due care to avoid colliding with any pedestrian and [upon any roadway,] shall give warning by sounding the horn when necessary and shall exercise proper precaution upon observing a child or an obviously [a] confused or incapacitated person upon a roadway.

(7) No vehicle shall at any time be driven through or within a safety zone.

(8) The operator of a vehicle shall yield the right of way to any pedestrian on a sidewalk.

(9) No pedestrian shall suddenly leave a curb or other place of safety and walk or run into the path of a vehicle which is so close as to constitute an immediate hazard.

(10) No pedestrian shall cross a roadway intersection diagonally unless authorized by official traffic control devices; and, when authorized to cross diagonally, pedestrians shall cross only in accordance with the official traffic control devices pertaining to such crossing movements.

(11) [(5)] Pedestrians shall move, whenever practicable, upon the right half of crosswalks.

(12) Where a sidewalk is provided and its use is practicable, it shall be unlawful for any pedestrian to walk along and upon an adjacent roadway.

(13) Where a sidewalk is not available, any pedestrian walking along and upon a highway shall walk only on a shoulder, as far as practicable from the edge of the roadway.

(14) [(6)] Where neither a sidewalk nor a shoulder is available, any pedestrian [Pedestrians shall at all times, when] walking on or along a highway shall walk as near as practicable to an outside edge of the roadway, and, if on a two-way roadway shall walk only [, walk] on the left side of the roadway [highway].

(15) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, any pedestrian upon a roadway shall yield the right of way to all vehicles upon the roadway.

(16) A pedestrian who is under the influence of alcohol or any kind of drug to a degree which renders himself a hazard shall not walk or be upon a highway except on a sidewalk.

(17) No pedestrian shall enter or remain upon any bridge or approach thereto beyond the bridge signal, gate, or barrier, after a bridge operation signal indication has been given.

(18) No pedestrian shall pass through, around, over, or under any crossing gate or barrier at a railroad grade crossing or bridge while such gate or barrier is closed or is being opened or closed.

(19) [(7)] No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride [from the operator of any private vehicle].

(20) No person shall stand on a roadway for the purpose of soliciting employment or business from the occupant of any vehicle.

(21) No person shall stand on a highway for the purpose of soliciting contributions unless such soliciting is designated by the presence of a traffic control device or warning signal or an emergency vehicle or public safety vehicle as defined in KRS 189.910 making use of the flashing, rotating or oscillating red, blue, or yellow lights on such devices or vehicles.

(22) No person shall stand on or in proximity to a street or highway for the purpose of soliciting the watching or guarding of any vehicle while parked or about to be parked on a street or highway.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 186.043 is amended to read as follows:

(1) In enacting this section, it is the intention of the general assembly to recognize the special value of historic vehicles to the commonwealth, and also to recognize the historic vehicles, because of their limited use and easily identifiable characteristics, do not require the same degree of regulation as other vehicles.

(2) As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires, "Historic Vehicle" shall mean all motor vehicles twenty-five (25) [thirty-five (35)] years old or older, which are used primarily for exhibition in shows, parades, tours and other special uses, but not for general transportation.

(3) Historic vehicles shall be registered and licensed by the department of transportation. Such registration shall be in lieu of registration and license required by KRS 186.020 to 186.270.

(4) Upon payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and an application in accordance with regulations issued by the department of transportation, the secretary of transportation shall issue a certificate of registration and two (2) special license plates of a different color and design than the regular license plate, which, in the judgment of the secretary of transportation, will best advertise, popularize and promote the commonwealth of Kentucky. These plates, besides the word "Kentucky" shall have the words, "Historic Motor Vehicle" inscribed in a conspicuous manner and carry no year date. These plates shall have a serial number beginning with the number "100" and continue in a consecutive numerical sequence.

(5) The registration license and license plates of historic motor vehicles shall be valid without renewal as long as the vehicle is in existence. If the historic motor vehicle is sold, the registration and license shall be assigned and transferred to the new owner on the records of the department of transportation upon receipt of an application in accordance with regulations issued by the department and payment of a fee of two dollars ($2.00).

(6) The secretary of transportation may make such reasonable rules and regulations as he deems necessary to further the purpose of this section.

HB 67, AN ACT relating to motor vehicle operators' licenses and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 186.565 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person who operates a motor vehicle in this state is deemed to have given his consent to a chemical test of his blood, breath, urine or saliva for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his blood, if arrested for any offense arising out of acts alleged to have been committed while the person was driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle in this state while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. The test shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle in this state while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. The law enforcement agency by which the officer is employed shall designate which of the aforesaid tests shall be administered, and provide necessary equipment. The state shall provide, upon the request of law enforcement agencies, one-half (1/2) of the funds necessary to furnish and maintain the equipment.

(2) Any person who is dead, unconscious or who is otherwise in a condition rendering him incapable of refusal, is deemed not to have withdrawn the consent provided in subsection (1) of this section and the test may be given.

(3) If a person under arrest refuses upon the request of a law enforcement officer to submit to a chemical test designated by the law enforcement agency as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the requesting officer shall warn the person of the effect of his refusal to submit to the test. If the person again refuses, none shall be given, but the Department of Transportation, upon the receipt of a sworn report of the law enforcement officer that he had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle in this state while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, that the person refused to submit to the test upon the request of the law enforcement officer, and that the person again refused to submit to the test after the law enforcement officer warned him of the effect of his refusal, the department shall immediately serve notice upon said person in writing by mailing the notice to the person by certified or registered mail to the last known residence address of the person or if the address is unknown, to the last known business address of the person to appear before the secretary or his duly authorized agent and show cause why his license to operate a motor vehicle, or if said person is a nonresident his privilege to operate a motor vehicle within this state should not be revoked; or if the person is a resident without a license or permit to operate a motor vehicle in this state why that person should not be denied the issuance of a license or permit. The hearing shall be scheduled as early as practical; but not sooner than ten (10) days after the issuance of the notice and at a time and place designated by the secretary.

(4) For the purpose of the hearing, held in accordance with the order to show cause, the secretary may appoint an examiner who shall have the power to preside at the hearing. Upon the hearing the secretary or his duly authorized agent may administer oaths and may issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books and papers and may require a re-examination of the licensee. The scope of the hearing shall cover the issues of whether a law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physicial control of a motor vehicle in this state while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, whether the person was placed under arrest, and whether he refused to submit to the test upon request of the officer. All testimony at the hearing shall be recorded. The secretary's ruling shall include a statement of the findings of fact, rulings of law and other matters pertinent to the question at issue. The secretary within ten days after the completion of the hearing shall order either: that the person's license to operate a motor vehicle, or, if the person is a nonresident, his privilege to operate a motor vehicle within this state be revoked for a period of not more than six months or if the person is a resident without such license that there should be a denial of issuance of a license for a period of not more than six months; or that no action be taken regarding said person's privilege to operate a motor vehicle. The secretary shall immediately notify the person of his ruling in writing by certified or registered mail. If the person shall fail to attend the show cause hearing without good cause shown the secretary shall forthwith revoke the person's license or privilege to operate a motor vehicle or deny issuance of a permit or operator's license.

(5) If the revocation or determination that there should be a denial of issuance is sustained after the hearing, the person whose license or permit to drive or nonresident operating privilege has been revoked, or to whom a license or permit is denied, under the provisions of this section, may file a petition in the circuit court of the county in which the person resides or in the circuit court of the county in which the alleged offense was committed or in Franklin Circuit Court to review the final order of revocation or denial by the secretary within twenty (20) days after the final order has been issued. The perfected appeal suspends the order of revocation pending a final determination of the review. If the final judgment of the court finds against the person appealing, the period of revocation is determined by taking into account the period of time during which the revocation was effective before the appeal was perfected. The department of transportation shall file with its answer a copy of the secretary's ruling and a transcript of evidence. The court's review is limited to whether the secretary's ruling is supported by substantial evidence and whether his action is arbitrary or capricious. An appeal to the Court of Appeals suspends the order of revocation pending a final determination of the review. If the final judgment of the court finds against the person appealing, the period of revocation is determined by taking into account the period of time during which the revocation was effective before the appeal was perfected.

(6) When it has been finally determined that a nonresident's privilege to operate a motor vehicle in this state has been revoked, the department shall give information in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administrator of the state of the person's residence and of any state in which he has a license. The provisions of this section shall not apply to a person who refuses to submit to a chemical test of his blood, breath, urine or saliva if that person has enrolled in a driver's education program under the terms and conditions of KRS 186.560(4) and rules and regulations adopted thereunder.

HB 55, AN ACT relating to legislative jurisdiction over federal lands within the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

SECTION 1. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The general assembly finds that it is desirable that the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the United States exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over lands of the national park system of the United States department of the interior lying within the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and to that end this Act provides a mechanism for the adjustment of legislative jurisdiction.

SECTION 2. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

"Concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement," as used in this Act, means the joint power of the United States and the Commonwealth of Kentucky to enact and enforce their own criminal laws, including those pertaining to motor vehicle traffic control, over the lands in question. Under concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement, both the United States and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, or either of them, may take jurisdiction over a given criminal offense, according to the laws of the respective sovereign.

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Whenever the United States shall desire to acquire concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over any lands within this Commonwealth which the United States has or shall have acquired for purposes of the establishment or extension of a unit of the national park system of the United States department of the interior and shall make application for that purpose, Kentucky cedes such measure of legislative jurisdiction, not exceeding that requested by the United States, as may be necessary to enable the United States and the Commonwealth of Kentucky to exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over such lands. The governor is directed to negotiate with the United States, on behalf of the general assembly, the administrative details of any such cession, which details shall be included in the instrument of cession.

(2) Said application on behalf of the United States shall be accompanied by an accurate description of the lands over which such concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement is desired.

(3) Said cession of legislative jurisdiction shall become effective when the instrument of cession is signed by the governor and the acceptance of jurisdiction by the United States is indicated in writing upon the instrument of cession by the United States secretary of the interior or his designee and entered upon the executive journal. In the event the governor is of the opinion that the cession of legislative jurisdiction embodied in any proposed instrument of cession exceeds the measure of legislative jurisdiction necessary to enable the United States and the Commonwealth of Kentucky to exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over the lands in question, he shall not sign the instrument of cession, and the cession shall not become effective until the general assembly, at its next session, shall approve same.

SECTION 4. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The powers conferred by this Act are solely to enable the Commonwealth and the United States to exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over United States department of the interior national park system lands in Kentucky. No other legislative jurisdiction is ceded by this Act, and there are specifically reserved over any lands as to which any legislative jurisdiction may be ceded pursuant to this Act:

(a) The entire legislative jurisdiction with respect to taxation of the Commonwealth, and of each state agency, county, urban county government, city, special district and other political subdivision

(2) No person residing upon such lands shall be deprived of any civil or political rights by reason of the cession of such legislative jurisdiction to the United States.

SECTION 5. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Whenever the United States, in order to enable the Commonwealth and the United States to exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement, tenders to the Commonweatlh a relinquishment of all or part of the legislative jurisdiction theretofore acquired by it over lands within this Commonwealth for purposes of the establishment or extension of a unit of the national park system of the United States department of the interior, Kentucky accepts the legislative jurisdiction so relinquished.

(2) The acceptance of such relinquishment of jurisdiction shall be indicated by a writing signed by the governor addressed to the United States secretary of the interior, or as the laws of the United States may otherwise provide, and such acceptance shall be effective when said writing is deposited in the United States mails or, if it is not mailed, when it is personally handed to the secretary of the interior or his designee.

(3) The governor shall negotiate with the United States, on behalf of the general assembly, the administrative details of any relinquishment of jurisdiction by the United States under the provisions of this Act. In the event the governor is of the opinion that the relinquishment of legislative jurisdiction tendered by the United States exceeds that necessary to enable the Commonwealth and the United States to exercise concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over the lands in question, or commits the Commonwealth or any of its political subdivisions to expenses or obligations beyond those necessarily entailed by the exercise of concurrent legislative jurisdiction for purposes of criminal law enforcement over the lands in question, the governor shall not indicate the acceptance of such relinquishment of jurisdiction, and such acceptance shall not become effective until the general assembly, at its next session, shall approve same.

SECTION 6. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 3 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Whenever an acceptance or cession of legislative jurisdiction is sought by the United States pursuant to the terms of this Act, the governor, prior to negotiating the administrative details of any such acceptance or cession, shall consult with the appropriate local authorities within whose territorial jurisdictions the lands in question lie, including, but not limited to the county judges/executive, the mayors and the sheriffs.

Section 7. KRS 3.090 is amended to read as follows:

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, whenever the United States, or any agency thereof, shall request the Commonwealth to cede jurisdiction over any area, it shall be the duty of the governor to transmit such request to the next session of the general assembly for such action as it may deem proper.

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the Commonwealth consents to any retrocession by the United States of lands within its geographical boundaries whenever the United States shall have ceased to exercise exclusive or special jurisdiction over such lands. STATE OF THE JUDICIARY ADDRESS

To the General Assembly of Kentucky

By John S. Palmore, Chief Justice
Commonwealth of Kentucky

January 24, 1978

INTRODUCTION

I am here at your kind invitation to report on the state of the judiciary. It is a rare privilege, and I accept it with humility.

The Judicial Amendment of the Constitution, adopted just 26 months ago, precipitated the greatest political upheaval the Commonwealth has experienced in this century. The stress that was thrust upon the General Assembly was tremendous, and the manner in which you responded to it bears witness to the strength of our government and to the responsibility of this body. Not all problems have been resolved, of course. They never are. But today, I am happy to say, the judiciary of this Commonwealth is in a far better state of health, vitality and good order than it ever has been before, and certainly better than many predicted it would be.

In the trying hours, days and months during which my predecessor in office and I, our Administrative Director and his staff, and the other members of the Supreme Court have labored to accomplish an orderly transition from the old to the new court system, our spirit has been sustained by the constant cooperation and sympathetic consideration given to us by Governor Carroll and his staff and by the Judiciary-Courts Committees of these two legislative houses. In like manner the Crime Commission and the Department of Justice have been most liberal with their time, their efforts and their expertise in helping us to get funding from available federal grants. We are grateful also to the office of Policy and Management for its assistance and patience in the unenviable task of working out our budgetary problems.

It may come as something of a surprise for some to hear me say, and I say it with a feeling of real pleasure, that in spite of the annoyance and uneasiness felt by many county officials who had opposed the Judicial Amendment and were disappointed no less than they were surprised by its passage, by and large they have given us their wholehearted cooperation in accomplishing the transition. Ordinarily, a person is not elected to an important county or city office unless he has the recognized qualities of a good citizen. I have been confident all along that ultimately those qualities would prevail in this instance, and indeed they have.

THE JUDICIAL AMENDMENT

The amendment established two new courts, the District Court and the Court of Appeals. It consolidated all of the courts into one unified Court of Justice. It provided a Retirement and Removal Commission, replacing the unworkable, never-used process of impeachment, for the enforcement of discipline and good behavior on the part of all members of the judiciary. It ended the trial of cases by judges who were not qualified by training in the complicated and increasingly technical subject of law, and who therefore were not licensed to practice that profession. It forbade any judge to carry on a law practice. Most importantly of all, by providing for the election of all judges on a nonpartisan basis it took the judiciary out of party politics, insofar as that is possible in the world of human beings.

THE SUPREME COURT

At the beginning of 1976 the Supreme Court, then called the Court of Appeals, consisted of seven judges and four commissioners. During the calendar year 1975 these eleven members had handled 1150 cases, 857 of which were by opinions disposing of original actions and appealed cases on their merits, leaving at the end of that year a backlog of 770 pending appeals ready for disposition. Advanced cases, notably criminal and workmen's compensation appeals, were being handled on a current basis, which meant that those of the 770 civil appeals that were classified as routine, or nonadvanced, had been awaiting disposition for up to two years. Moreover, the quality of workmanship borne of the haste of writing such a large volume of opinions was something less than desired. Oral arguments were then a rare luxury, simply because we could not indulge the time.

Today, oral arguments in the Supreme Court are the rule rather than the exception. During 1977 it made final dispositions of 726 cases, including 430 written opinions. Its work is current, and there is virtually no backlog of cases submitted and ready to be assigned for hearing. This has been made possible by the Court of Appeals.

One of the ways in which the Court of Appeals has alleviated the case-inventory of the Supreme Court is that we have been able to screen the backlog of cases on hand in the Supreme Court when the Court of Appeals became fully operative in late 1976 and transfer to that Court the routine cases that otherwise would have required disposition by the Supreme Court. From the latter part of 1976 through December of 1977 a total of 541 appeals were so transferred. This division of work was, of course, a one-time procedure and should not recur.

The other way in which the Court of Appeals has relieved the burden of the Supreme Court was made possible by a provision of the Judicial Amendment (Section 110(2)(b) of the Constitution) that enables the Supreme Court to fix the scope of its own jurisdiction except for criminal cases involving the death penalty or imprisonment for 20 years or more, which the Constitution specifies may be appealed to the Supreme Court as a matter of right. By rule of court, the acceptance of all other appeals is at the discretion of the Supreme Court. This discretion is exercised through two avenues. Upon a showing that a case is of great and immediate public importance an appeal may be granted directly from the Circuit Court to the Supreme Court, by-passing the Court of Appeals. Other appeals from the Circuit Court are heard by the Court of Appeals, and the second avenue by which the Supreme Court exercises its jurisdictional choice is through the granting of motions for discretionary review of decisions made by the Court of Appeals in these cases.

During 1977 the number of original actions and appeals as a matter of right filed in the Supreme Court was 126. 24 motions for transfer were filed and five were granted. 164 motions for discretionary review were filed and 34 were granted. The spread between these numbers and the total of 430 opinions issued in 1977, reflects the final clean-up of our backlog. With that behind us, we expect to be able to accept more transfers, grant more discretionary reviews, and write better opinions.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

From late 1976, when it became organized and housed and was able to move into high gear, until the end of 1977 the Court of Appeals had received 2,787 cases, including those that had been transferred to it out of the Supreme Court's backlog, and had disposed of 1,578 of those cases, leaving an inventory of 1,209 cases pending at the beginning of this year. Of these 1,209 cases 1,015 were in process of being briefed and 194 were under submission and ready to be heard. At the present time the Court of Appeals is deciding between 100 and 135 cases per month, which means that it is very nearly current in the handling of its work.

Whatever words of praise I might choose in describing the performance of the Court of Appeals would be inadequate. Its membership of 14 judges includes the very highest caliber of lawyers and is under the direction of an able chief judge. Its practice of hearing the argument of its cases in the local communities throughout the state has been of great convenience to the litigants and their lawyers and has added to the popularity it has justly gained through the quality of its work. The people of Kentucky have every reason to be proud of their new Court of Appeals.

THE CIRCUIT COURT

The Circuit Court consists of 87 judges and is divided into 56 circuits. The average annual caseload per judge in these 56 circuits ranges from about 500 in some to more than 1400 in others. However, the Judicial Amendment (Section 110(5)(b)) provides flexibility in adjusting these disparities by authorizing the Chief Justice to assign any justice or judge, active or retired, to sit temporarily in any court other than the Supreme Court. During 1977 there were 473 of these special assignments, 105 of which were filled by retired judges.

The extent to which temporary assignments can be successfully used in balancing caseloads is now being tested through the operation of two pilot administrative regions, each consisting of several circuits under the supervision of one circuit judge elected by the other circuit judges in the region as the administrative judge of that region. The administrative judge will endeavor to equalize the workload of the various circuit judges in his region by assigning those with lighter caseloads to assist temporarily in circuits with caseloads in excess of what the judges for those circuits are able to handle without unreasonable delay. For this purpose the Chief Justice has authorized the Administrative Judges to make such assignments. The pilot regions are receiving staff support from the Administrative Office of the Courts.

A suggestion by the Judicial Council that certain of the judicial circuits be redistricted resulted in serious opposition in the affected localities. As usual in such instances, alternative proposals for the addition of new judges surfaced. Under the Judicial Amendment (Section 112(2) and (3)) any change in districts or in the number of judges must first be certified by the Supreme Court as necessary, and at the present moment we are not able to say that 87 judges are not enough to handle the total caseload of the Circuit Court. We do not know, for example, what impact the District Court will have on the volume of work in the Circuit Court. When the General Assembly convenes in 1980 we will have that information, and we will have also the benefit of having observed the experimental operation of the pilot regions. At this time, therefore, the Supreme Court does not plan to recommend any changes in the territorial arrangement of the judicial circuits or in the number of circuit judges.

THE DISTRICT COURT

The real moment of truth for the new judicial system arrived just three weeks ago, with the physical launching of the District Court. Fortunately, as in the instance of the Court of Appeals, the men and women elected as the first judges of this court proved to be competent lawyers, several with extensive experience. Fortunately also, both they and the personnel of the circuit clerks had availed themselves of the assistance and training programs arranged for them by the Administrative Office of the Courts. And so it came to pass that instead of chaos we saw a surprisingly uneventful changing of the guard. There were, of course, some exceptions. One of the judges elected in November decided at the end of December that he did not want the job after all. But the system had been soundly designed to meet such exigencies, and the District Court in that judicial district was opened and held by the circuit judge until someone qualified and willing to accept the office could be found. On last Wednesday the Judicial Nominating Commission for that district met and made its recommendations to the Governor, the Governor promptly made his appointment,and the new district judge assumed his duties. Our complement of 113 district judges is now filled.

Until we have had more time in which to observe the operation of the District Courts we cannot determine whether 113 is a sufficient number of judges or whether the use of trial commissioners for the 56 counties in which no district judge resides will prove satisfactory, nor will we be able to determine accurately the number of trial commissioners actually needed for those counties in which a district judge does reside. At the present time we have 56 trial commissioners for counties in which there is no resident district judge and 8 others in counties that do have resident district judges but have caseloads or geographic problems that justify the appointment of trial commissioners.

One district judge, as you all know, opened court in a tent. Now, however, he is in the county court house. Whether he occupied the tent by preference or by necessity I am not certain, but from the standpoint of the media it surely must have added a little life to the party. In any event, it is in this matter of court facilities that our most pressing need remains unsatisfied.

Many of our district judges are holding court in county court houses as a matter of sufferance. That is, they are there temporarily and without protection of any contractual arrangement. Others are housed in private facilities for which rent is being paid. In some instances we have been prevented from occupying buildings because they do not comply with the requirements of the state fire marshal. At best this is a dismal picture.

LEGISLATIVE NEEDS

Prior to the statutory amendments that were occasioned by the Judicial Amendment, the various county and city governments bore the cost of housing the courts. In return, they received the net revenues from fines and forfeitures collected in their local courts. Presumably, House Bill 16 (KRS 24A.190 et seq.), the "net court revenue" act, was intended substantially to replace these revenues. At the same time, House Bill 23 (KRS 26A.100) required cities and counties to provide space for the circuit and district courts insofar as it was "reasonably available" without disrupting their local governmental operations. From all reports, however,it appears that the revenues being received by the local communities pursuant to the calculation of "net" revenues under the 1976 legislation has not come up to local expectations. The resulting dissatisfaction in turn has given rise to an understandable reluctance on the part of many local governmental bodies to provide, at what they consider to be a loss to the local taxpayers, facilities that are adequate and necessary to an efficient functioning of the courts. To remedy that vital problem, the Supreme Court, and through it the Judicial Council, have recommended to the Joint Subcommittees of the House and Senate on Appropriations and Revenue and Judiciary-Courts, and to the Governor, that legislation be enacted at this session providing for the payment of a fair rental to each local governmental unit, based upon the costs incurred by that governmental unit in providing and maintaining the facilities used by the courts. I am pleased that the Governor in his recommended budget has made allowance for such a plan. It may be that financial information that is now being compiled will necessitate an adjustment of the amount required for that purpose. In any event, it is a matter that calls for your careful attention.

The Supreme Court now occupies the second floor of the State Capitol. Its administrative office and the Court of Appeals are housed in the Bush Building, across the river in downtown Frankfort. Obviously they should all be located together, and this need has been recognized by the General Assembly through the appropriaton of funds for that purpose at a previous session. Plans are now being made by the executive branch for the construction of a suitable building in Frankfort for these two courts.

The subject of legislative needs embraces other problems of the District Court. At the present time, although Section 46 of House Bill 23 (KRS 30A.300) authorized their employment, there is no budgetary support for secretaries for the district judges except that the circuit clerks, who serve also as clerks for the district court, are required to furnish such clerical aid as is necessary. While the circuit clerks and their personnel thus far have been most cooperative and helpful, it needs no feat of the imagination to demonstrate that such a duality of control and supervision is ambiguous at best and conducive to conflict and disharmony at worst. We do not need a secretary for each and every district judge, but in each judicial district at least one secretary should be under the exclusive control of the district court and should be so budgeted. The offices of the circuit clerks, which formerly were independent, are now within the judicial personnel system and represent about 40% of our total budget. Needless to say, we respect and appreciate these fine public servants and are proud to have them in our judicial family. For that reason alone we strongly prefer to avoid any prospective source of internal friction.

Another concern expressed by many of the district judges is the disparity between their salary and that of the circuit judges. Perhaps I ought not to mention this, but it is the truth and we may as well face it. The salary spread between the Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals, and between that court and the supreme court is $2,000.00. Between the District Court and the Circuit Court it is $7500.00. All of us would like to see this difference reduced to something more nearly like that which separates the other levels of the judiciary. In their defense, let me add that the district judges are fully alert to the inevitable reaction that they knew what the salary was when they ran for the office and are not in much of a position to complain about it so soon. They would respond, however, that most of them aspired to the office with a judicial career in view and with the intention of doing what they could to upgrade the office of district judge to the level they believe it should enjoy. To put it another way, that they knew the boat leaked before they got aboard is no reason why they should not try to have the leaks repaired.

ADMINISTRATION

No semblance of order in the transition from the old system to the new could have been possible without the assistance of the Administrative Office of the Courts. This office has the duty of insuring uniform operations and procedures in our courts.

Operational manuals have been developed to standardize procedures throughout the state. New recordkeeping procedures to improve efficiency in the courts, the reduction of the number of forms being used by all courts from 500 to 100, and the elimination of order and judgment books, are examples of efforts to reduce costs and improve efficiency.

A new accounting system has been installed. The state auditor's office, the state treasurer, and the secretary for finance and administration have aided in the development of this system.

A personnel system for the Court of Justice similar to the state personnel system has been implemented. All personnel actions in the judicial department are governed by these rules.

A judicial college was conducted by the Administrative Office for the first time in the history of this state. The college included over 35 hours of class time. 68 circuit judges attended the first judicial college in Kentucky.

110 district judges attended a week-long orientation session. This program aided them in preparing to take the bench on the first Monday of January.

The Administrative Office also has prepared a bench manual for ready reference of the judges and a circuit clerk's manual for the assistance of the circuit clerks.

The pretrial release agency administered by the Administrative Office of the Courts has been designated as one of the ten most successful new programs in the United States. The agency maintained a failure-to-appear rate of 3.5% throughout the year.

Kentucky remains the only state with such a program. Its success has established a precedent for other jurisdictions to follow.

THE JUDICIAL BUDGET

The judicial phase of the executive budget submitted to this body last week p rojects for the next biennium expenditures of some $77 million against anticipated revenues of about $67 million. The revenues, of course, are less predictable than the expenditues, and of necessity the revenue estimates have been derived largely from figures reported by several hundred quarterly, police and magisterial courts throughout the Commonwealth. Some of these figures are more reliable than others. From the amount of fines already collected by some of the district courts in less than three weeks there is good reason to believe that court revenues during the next biennium wil be substantially in excess of the conservative estimate presented in the budget. It should be recognized, of course, that it really is not the function of the courts to make money. Their revenue-producing capacity is strictly incidental to the administration of justice. Be that as it may, the projected difference of some $10 million between revenues and expenditures for the next biennium compares favorably with past appropriations of about $13 million per biennium for the judicial branch of government. Though much as been said of the expense of the new system, what the proposed budget really brings into focus is that this $10 million net outlay for the courts and their support amounts to a mere 14 cents out of every $100 contained in the total budget of more than $7 billion.

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Before leaving you, I am moved to discuss one further subject. That is the state of relations between your branch of government and ours. A spirit of friendship, respect and common purpose must prevail among us if we are ever to realize the public confidence in government that is in such short supply today. It is a tragic fact that the average citizen has come to fear and distrust his own government. If he had his choice about it, I suspect he would prefer that we all stay home. If we who are a part of his government do not understand each other, he is not likely to understand or believe in any of us.

It seems to me that over the 18 years in which I have been a member of your highest court there has never been a sufficient congeniality between us. Probably there has been a lack of communication, which is the usual source of misunderstanding. The historic role of judges, appellate judges in particular, is to be uncommunicative. At least one author has characterized them as a "priestly caste," like Indian medicine men uttering mysterious incantations the ordinary citizen finds hard to understand. But if there is such a barrier between us, the time has come to break it down.

That our function in the scheme of government saddles us with the duty from time to time of passing on the constitutional validity of your work is one of those unavoidable facts of life that is bound to generate a degree of annoyance now and then. I think you should rest assured that it never gives us any pleasure or satisfaction to declare an act unconstitutional. Whether or not it shows or is made apparent, the court always "leans over backward" to uphold the validity of a statute. Sometimes we receive equal criticism whichever way it goes. We upheld the no-fault insurance law and were criticized by the lawyers. We struck down the medical malpractice insurance law and were criticized by the doctors. But of one thing you may be certain: in all the time I have been a member of the court, though some of the other 16 judges with whom I have served were more politically oriented than others, never has a decision been made for the purpose of influencing the outcome of an election of any kind, and that includes our first opinion in the home-rule case.

Most of the men with whom I have had the privilege of serving have been men of courage. The proudest moment of my judicial career was the day they stood as one man on the 100% assessment case. They knew their political careers were on the block. Other judges before them had ducked, evaded and slipped around the question, but the time had come to meet it, and they did what was right, bitter as it was. The broad-form deed cases have been just as bitter. It gave us no pleasure to decide them against the small landowner, and certainly it was not the popular thing to do. But the law had been settled before we came along, and we had no more right to shift property rights without due process of law than you do. I cite these examples to suggest that many things that are unspoken and unseen go into the decisions we are required to make in cases of great public interest, and to impress upon you that those hard decisions do not reflect our own personal preferences.

In all of this, what I seek of you today is a better understanding of us, an understanding that we can and will reciprocate. Both of us are bound in the service of the same master, the citizens and taxpayers of this great state. It is just as much to our interest as it is to yours that every dollar of their money be spent where it will do the most public good. So in leaving you today I extend to you, the General Assembly, the hand of friendship, indeed of brotherhood, as it is so appropriately symbolized on the seal of our Commonwealth. From this day on, let us plow forward and break ground as a team, neither pulling against the other, but as partners, for the common good of our people.

Representative B. Richardson moved that the Joint Session of the House and Senate be dissolved. Agreed.

The Speaker resumed the Chair.

(7) "Supervisor" means any individual having authority, in the interest of the public employer, to hire, transfer, suspend, lay-off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward, or discipline other public employes, or responsibility to direct them, or to adjust their grievances, or to effectively recommend such action, if in connection with the foregoing exercise of such authority is not of a merely routine or clerical nature, but requires the use of independent judgment;

(8) "To bargain collectively" is the performance of the mutual obligation of the public employer or his designated representatives and the representative of the employes to meet at reasonable times, including meetings in advance of the budget-making process, and negotiate in good faith with respect to wages, hours, other conditions of employment including any other matters agreed to by the parties as a subject of bargaining and other matters of mutual concern, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder and the execution of a written contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested by either party, but such obligation shall not compel either party to agree to a proposal or require the making of a concession, provided, that where there is in effect a collective bargaining contract covering employes of the public employer, the duty to bargain collectively shall also mean that no party to such contract shall terminate or modify such contract, unless the party desiring such termination or modification:

(a) serves a written notice upon the other party to the contract of the proposed termination or modification ninety (90) days prior to the expiration date thereof, or in the event such contract contains no expiration date, ninety (90) days prior to the time it is proposed to make such termination or modification;

(b) offers to meet and confer with the other party for the purpose of negotiating a new contract or a contract containing the proposed modifications;

(c) notifies the commissioner of labor sixty (60) days prior to the expiration date thereof, or in the event such contract contains no expiration date, sixty (60) days prior to the time it is proposed to make such termination or modification, provided no agreement has been reached by that time;

(d) After notice is given to the commissioner of labor, he shall promptly communicate with the parties and use his best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to bring them to agreement. (1) The department of labor shall have the authority to administer this Act in cooperation with a part-time board.

(2) Within the department of labor there is hereby created such a board to be known as the Commonwealth of Kentucky employment relations board which shall be composed of five members, appointed by the governor on the basis of training, practical experience, education, and character. His announcement and official act of appointments shall enumerate in detail those qualities, training, education and practical experience of the appointee, upon which he based his appointment. Initial appointments shall be made by the governor within ninety (90) days of the effective date of this Act. Two of the original members shall be appointed for terms of two years, one for a term of three years and two for terms of four years, but their successors shall be appointed for terms of four years each, except that any individual chosen to fill a vacancy shall be appointed only for the unexpired term of the term of the member who he is to succeed. The governor shall designate one member to serve as chairman of the board. Any member of the board may be removed by the governor, upon notice and public hearing, for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office, but for no other cause.

(3) A vacancy in the board shall not impair the right of the remaining members to exercise all the powers of the board, and three members of the board shall, at all times, constitute a quorum. Board vacancies shall be filled by the governor within ninety (90) days.

(4) The board shall make an annual report in writing to the governor and the commissioner of labor, stating in detail the work it has done.

(5) Examiners and other agents whose functions are to conduct hearings, shall be selected and assigned with due regard to their impartiality, judicial temperament and knowledge. If in any proceeding under this Act, any party prior to five days before the hearing thereof shall file with the commissioner a sworn statement charging that the examiner or other agent designated to conduct the hearing is believed to be biased or partial in the proceeding, such examiner may be disqualified by the board, and another examiner or agent may be designated to conduct such proceeding. At least ten (10) days preceding any hearing the board shall notify all parties to a proceeding of the name of the examiner or agent designated to conduct such hearing.

(6) The principal office of the board shall be in the city of Frankfort, but it may meet and exercise any or all of its powers at any other place within the state. The board may, by one or more of its members or any such agents or agencies as it may designate, conduct in any part of this state any proceeding, hearing, investigation, inquiry, or election necessary to the performance of its functions. A member who participates in any such proceeding shall not be disqualified from subsequently participating in a decision of the board in the same case.

(7) In addition to the powers and functions provided in other sections of this Act, the board shall have the following powers and functions:

(a) To make studies and analyses of, and act as a clearing house of information relating to conditions of employment of public employes throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and to request assistance, services, and data from any public employer or governmental unit, and such public employers or governmental units are authorized and directed to provide such assistance, services and data as will enable the board to carry out its functions and powers;

(b) To conduct studies of problems involved in representation and negotiation and to make recommendations from time to time for legislation;

(c) To hold hearings pursuant to this Act and for the purpose of such hearings and inquiries, to administer oaths and affirmations, examine witnesses and documents, take testimony and receive evidence, compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents by the issuance of subpoenas, and delegate such powers to any member of the board or any attorney-trial examiner appointed by the board for the performance of its functions;

(d) To make, amend, and rescind, from time to time, after notice and a public hearing, such rules regulations and procedures and to exercise such other powers, as may be appropriate to carry out the provisions of this Act.

(8) In cases of neglect or refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, the circuit court of the county in which the investigations or the public hearings are taking place upon application by the board, or its representative, may issue an order requiring such person to appear before the board, and give testimony about the matter under investigation. A failure to obey such order may be punished by the court as contempt, and;

(9) Any subpoena, notice of hearing or other process or notice of the board issued under the provision of this Act shall be served in accordance with the Kentucky rules of civil procedure;

(10) All of the expenses of the board, including all necessary traveling and subsistence expenses incurred by the members or employes of the board under its orders, shall be allowed and paid on the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the commissioner of labor or by any individual he designates for that purpose and in accordance with established auditing and payment procedures.

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Public employes shall have the right to:

(1) Self organization, to form, join, assist, or participate in, or to refrain from forming, joining, assisting, or participating, except as otherwise provided in this Act, in any employe organization of their own choosing.

(2) Be represented by an employe organization, and

(3) Bargain collectively with their public employers to determine wages, hours and terms and conditions of employment and enter into collective bargaining agreements which may provide, among other things, fair procedures to settle grievances which may include final and binding arbitration.

SECTION 4. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Public employers shall extend to an employe organization, certified or recognized as the exclusive representative pursuant to this Act, the right to represent exclusively the employes in the appropriate bargaining unit and the right to unchallenged and exclusive representation status.

(2) A public employer shall bargain collectively with an employe organization certified pursuant to the provisions of this Act.

Whenever a public employer is notified by the board that an employe organization has been certified as exclusive representative for a unit of its employes, such public employer shall designate an employer representative, and shall promptly notify the board and the employe organization of his identity and address. All communications concerned with collective relationships under this Act, from the employe organization or from the board, shall be addressed to the employer representative. The designated employer representative is hereby empowered to sign agreements resulting from collective bargaining on behalf of the public employer, but such agreements shall be subject to the procedures set forth in this Act.

(3) This Act does not abridge the recognition of or agreement with any employe organization which is in effect at the effective date of this Act, provided the agreement is for a term not exceeding three (3) years.

SECTION 5. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Representatives designated or selected for the purposes of collective bargaining by the majority of the employes in a unit appropriate for such purposes or by the majority of the employes voting in an election conducted pursuant to Section 7 of this Act, shall be the exclusive representatives of all employes in the appropriated unit for the purposes of collective bargaining. Any individual employe shall have the right at any time to present grievances for adjustment without the intervention of the bargaining representative, as long as the adjustment is not inconsistent with the terms of the collective bargaining then in effect; provided that the bargaining representatives have been given opportunity to be present at such adjustment. Such adjustment or determination shall not be a precedent in other grievances, whether similar or dissimilar.

(2) The board, in accordance with the procedures established herein, shall decide in each case the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining.

SECTION 6. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The board, in determining whether a unit of employes is an appropriate unit, shall consider among other relevant factors, such factors as the effects of over-fragmentization, community of interest, wages, hours and other working conditions of the employes involved, the history of collective bargaining, and the desires of the employes; provided, that a unit may be found to be the appropriate unit in a particular case, even though some other unit might also be appropriate, or might be more appropriate.

(2) In determining the appropriate bargaining unit, the board shall also:

(a) Not decide that any unit is appropriate if such unit includes both professional and non-professional employes, unless a majority of such professional employes vote for inclusion in such unit and unless a majority of such non-professional employes vote for inclusion in such unit.

(b) Not permit correction officers or guards at prisons or other institutions, or any individual employed as a guard to enforce against other employes rules to protect property of the employer or to protect the safety of persons on the employer's premises to be included in a unit with other public employes.

(c) Not permit supervisors as defined in this Act to be included in a unit with the employes they supervise.

SECTION 7. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) When a petition has been filed, in accordance with such regulation as is prescribed by the board:

(a) By any employe or group of employes or any individual or employe organization acting in their behalf alleging that thirty (30) percent of the employes in an appropriate unit (i) wish to be represented for collective bargaining by an exclusive representative, or (ii) assert that the designated exclusive representative is no longer the representative of the majority of employes in the unit;

(b) By the employer alleging that one or more employes organizations have presented to it a claim to be recognized as the exclusive representative of an appropriate unit. The board shall investigate such petition, and if it has reasonable cause to believe that question of representation exists, it shall provide for an appropriate hearing upon due notice to the parties. Notice of the hearing shall be posted in conspicuous places about the premises of the employer and served upon the existing exclusive representative, if any, at least ten (10) days prior to the date of the hearing. If the board finds upon the record of such hearing that such a question of representation exists, it shall direct an election and shall certify the results thereof. No one shall be permitted to vote by mail or proxy. The board may also certify an employe organization as an exclusive representative if it determines that a free and untrammelled election cannot be conducted because of the employer's unfair labor practices and that at one time the employe organization had the support of the majority of the employes in the unit.

(2) Only those employes organizations which have been designated by more than ten (10) percent of the employes in the unit found to be appropriate shall be placed on the ballot. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the waiving of hearings by stipulation for the purpose: of a consent election, in conformity with the rules and regulations of the board; of recognizing an employe organization as the exclusive employe organization when there is no dispute as to its majority status, in which event the board shall, upon request by the employe organization, certify such employe organization as the exclusive employe organization of the employes in the unit.

(3) Representation elections shall be conducted by secret ballot at such times and places selected by the board subject to the following:

(a) The board shall give no less than ten days' notice of the time and place of such election.

(b) The board shall establish rules and regulations concerning the conduct of any election including but not limited to regulations which would guarantee the secrecy of the ballot.

(c) A representative may not be certified unless it receives a majority of the valid ballots cast.

(d) Except as provided herein, the board shall include on the ballot a choice of "no representative."

(e) In an election where none of the choices on the ballot receives a majority, a run-off election shall be conducted within a maximum of thirty days, the ballot providing for a selection between the two choices or parties receiving the highest and the second highest number of ballots cast in the election.

(f) No election shall be conducted pursuant to this section in any appropriate bargaining unit within which in the preceding twelve-month period a board-conducted election shall have been held nor during the term of any lawful collective bargaining agreement between a public employer and an exclusive representative. This restriction shall not apply to that period of time covered by any collective bargaining agreement which exceeds three years. For the purposes of this section, extensions of agreements shall not affect the expiration date of the original agreement.

(2) Petitions for elections may be filed with the board: (a) not sooner than one hundred twenty (120) days nor later than ninety (90) days before the expiration date of any collective bargaining agreement; or (b) after six (6) months after the expiration date until such time as a new written agreement has been executed. For the purposes of this section, mere extensions of the expiration dates of agreements shall not affect the expiration date of the original agreement.

SECTION 8. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) All matters pertaining to wages, salaries, employe benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment shall be subject to collective bargaining between the public employer and the exclusive representative.

(2) Nothing in this section shall interfere with the right of the public employer: (a) to direct and supervise employes; (b) to discipline employes for just cause; (c) subject to contract seniority and tenure rights, to determine the adequacy of the work force and to lay off employes for lack of work or funds; (d) to maintain the efficiency of governmental operations. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as preventing an employe or employe organization from raising a legitimate complaint or filing a grievance based on the effects of such management decisions.

SECTION 9. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Any collective bargaining agreement reached by the employer and the exclusive representative shall be immediately reduced to writing and executed by both parties.

(2) Said agreement, which may contain a grievance procedure culminating with final and binding arbitration of unresolved grievances and disputed interpretations of agreements, shall be valid and enforced under its terms when entered into in accordance with the provisions of this Act. No publication thereof shall be required to make it effective. Suits for violation of agreements or the enforcement of an award by an arbitrator may be brought by the parties to such agreement in the circuit court for any county wherein a party resides or transacts business, or the Franklin circuit court.

(3) Said agreement may contain a provision which requires the public employer to deduct the periodic dues, initiation fees and assessments or service fees uniformly required of members or employes represented by the exclusive representative upon presentation of a written deduction authorization; provided such authorization may be revocable by written notice to the public employer and the employe organization upon the will of the employe, at any anniversary date of the authorization. The deduction shall be made periodically as directed by the employe organization and remitted by the employer to the employe organization within thirty (30) days of the deduction.

(4) Until such time as a public employe organization has been certified as the exclusive representative, each public employer shall adopt policies or regulations which provide for deductions from salaries of its employes or groups of employes, periodic dues or initiation fees and assessments of employe organization(s) upon written authorization by the member or group of employes, provided such authorization may be revocable by written notice to the public employer and the employe organization upon the will of the member.

SECTION 10. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) It shall be an unfair labor practice for a public employer to:

(a) Interfere with, restrain, or coerce employes in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in this Act;

(b) Initiate, create, dominate, interfere with the formation of administration of any employe organization, or contribute financial or other support to it; provided, that a public employer shall not be prohibited from permitting employes to confer with it during working hours or perform activities related to this Act without loss of time or pay;

(c) Discriminate in regard to hire or tenure of employment, or any term or conditions of employment on the basis of the exercise of rights guaranteed by this Act; provided that nothing in this Act or any other statute of this state shall preclude any employer from making and enforcing an agreement requiring as a condition of employment membership in an employe organization on or after the 30th day following the beginning of such employment or on the effective date of such agreement, whichever is the later;

(d) Discharge or otherwise discriminate against an employe because he has filed charges or given testimony under this Act;

(e) Refuse to bargain collectively with the exclusive representative of his employes or fail to submit to any required legislative body of the public employer for approval any provision of the agreement requiring legislative approval within fourteen (14) days after agreement is reached.

(2) It shall be an unfair labor practice for an employe organization, its agents, or representatives, or public employes to:

(a) Restrain or coerce (i) employes in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in this Act; provided, that this paragraph shall not impair the right of an employe organization to prescribe its own rules with respect to the acquisition or retention of membership therein; or (ii) an employer in the selection of his representative for the purpose of collective bargaining or the adjustment of grievances;

(b) Cause or attempt to cause an employer to violate Section 10(1) of this Act;

(c) Refuse to bargain collectively with a public employer, provided the employe organization has been certified as the exclusive representative of public employes in a bargaining unit;

(d) Fail to fairly represent all public employes in a bargaining unit.

(3) The determination by the board or any court that a public official or employe has committed any unfair labor practice prohibited by this section shall not in and of itself form the basis of any charge for the removal from office or recall of such public official or employe, but such determination may be introduced as evidence in support of such charge.

SECTION 11. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Violation of Section 10 of this Act shall be deemed to be an unfair labor practice remediable by the board as provided in this section.

(2) If a charge is filed alleging that any person has engaged in or is engaging in any unfair labor practice, as defined in Section 10 of this Act, and it appears to the agent designated by the board for such purposes that formal proceedings in respect thereto should be instituted, he shall issue and cause to be served upon the charged party a formal complaint and a notice of hearing before the board or a member thereof, or before a designated agent or agency, at a place therein fixed, not less than ten days after the service of said complaint:

(a) Any such complaint may be amended by the board at any time prior to the issuance of an order based thereon; provided, that the charged party is not unfairly prejudiced thereby. The person so complained of shall be allowed to file an answer to the original or amended complaint. The board, the person making the charge, and the person charged shall be parties and shall have the right to appear or otherwise give testimony and subpoena witnesses at the place and time fixed in the notice of hearing. Any other interested person may be allowed upon motion to intervene in the said proceedings and to present testimony.

(b) The testimony taken by such member, agent, or agency or the board shall be reduced to writing and filed with the board; thereafter in discretion, the board, upon notice, may take further testimony or hear argument. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board shall be of the opinion that any person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in any such unfair labor practice, then the board shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on such person an order requiring that he cease and desist from these unfair labor practices, and take such affirmative action, including reinstatement of employes with or without back pay, as will effectuate the policies of this Act, provided, that where an order directs reinstatement of an employe, back pay may be required of the public employer or employe organizations, as the case may be, responsible for the discrimination suffered by him. Such order may further require such person to make reports from time to time showing the extent to which he has complied with the order.

(c) If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board shall not be of the opinion that the person named in the complaint has engaged in or is engaging in any such unfair labor practice, then it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue an order dismissing the said complaint. No notice of hearing shall be issued based upon any unfair labor practice occurring more than six (6) months prior to the filing of the charge with the board, unless the person aggrieved thereby was prevented from filing the charge by reason of service in the armed forces, in which event the six (6) months period shall be computed from the day of his discharge. No order of the board shall require the reinstatement of any individual as an employe or the payment to him of any back pay, if such individual was suspended or discharged for just cause. In case the evidence is presented before a member of the board, or before an examiner or examiners thereof, such member, or such examiner or examiners, as the case may be, shall issue and cause to be served on the parties to the proceeding a proposed decision, together with a recommended order, which shall be filed with the board, and if no exceptions are filed within twenty (20) days after service thereof, such recommended order shall become the order of the board and become effective as therein prescribed.

(d) If exceptions are filed to the proposed report, the board shall determine whether such exceptions raise substantial issues of fact or law, it may refuse to grant review, and the recommended order shall become effective as therein prescribed.

(3) Whenever a complaint alleges that a person has engaged in an unfair labor practice and that it will suffer substantial injury if it is not granted temporary relief, the board may petition the Franklin circuit court for appropriate injunctive relief, pending the final adjudication by the board with respect to such matter. Upon the filing of any such petition, the court shall cause notice thereof together with the time and place of hearing to be served upon the parties, and thereupon shall have jurisdiction to immediately conduct a hearing and grant such temporary relief or restraining order as it considers just and proper.

(4) Until the record in a case has been filed in a court, as hereinafter provided, the board may at any time upon reasonable notice and in such manner as it considers proper, modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order made or issued by it.

SECTION 12. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The board or the complaining party shall have the power to petition the Franklin circuit court for the enforcement of such order and for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, and the board shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the entire record in the proceeding, including the pleadings and testimony upon which said order was entered and the findings and order of the board. When the board petitions the court, the complaining party shall be permitted to intervene in the case as a matter of right. Upon such filing, the court shall cause notice thereof to be served upon such person and thereupon shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and the question determined therein, and shall have power to grant such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, and to immediately make and enter upon the pleadings, testimony, and proceedings set forth in such transcript a decree enforcing, modifying, and enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board.

(2) The findings of the board as to the facts, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive. If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and show to the satisfaction of the court that such additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the hearing before the board, its member, agent, or agency, the court may order such additional evidence to be taken immediately before the board, its member, agent, or agency, and to be made a part of the transcript. The board may modify its findings as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of additional evidence so taken and filed, and it shall file such modified or new findings, which, if supported by such evidence, shall be conclusive and shall file its recommendations if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order.

(3) The jurisdiction of the Franklin circuit court shall be exclusive and its judgment and decree shall be final, except that the same shall be subject to review on questions of law as in civil cases.

(4) Any person aggrieved by any final order of the board granting or denying, in whole or in part, the relief sought may obtain a review of such order in the Franklin circuit court by filing in such court a written petition praying that the order of the board be modified or set aside. A copy of such petition shall be forthwith served upon the board, and thereupon the board shall file in the court a transcript of the entire record in the proceeding, certified by the board, including the pleadings and testimony upon which the order complained of was entered and the order of the board. Upon such filing, the court shall have exclusive jurisdiction to grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, and to immediately make and enter a decree enforcing, modifying and enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board, and the findings of the board as to the facts shall be conclusive.

(5) The commencement of proceedings under subsections (1) or (4) of this section shall not, unless specifically ordered by the court, operate as a stay of the board's order.

(6) Petitions filed under this Act shall be heard expeditiously by the circuit court to which presented and shall take precedence over all other civil matters except earlier matters of the same character.

SECTION 13. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The following procedures shall be followed in the resolution of disputes or negotiations between an employe organization and a public employer:

(a) Where a settlement procedure is provided in a collective bargaining agreement, such procedure shall prevail, or if such procedure does not terminate in voluntary, final and binding arbitration or does not otherwise result in a settlement, then the following procedure shall prevail:

(1) In the event that the parties are unable to reach agreement, any party may serve notice upon the commissioner of labor and the other parties to the dispute setting forth the names and addresses of the parties, the issues involved and the expiration date of the agreement if an agreement exists. Where an agreement exists the notice shall be served not later than sixty (60) days before the expiration date.

(2) If the mediator advises the commissioner that the parties are unable to reach agreement, or upon the expiration date of the agreement, if one exists, whichever occurs sooner, the commissioner may in his discretion appoint a fact-finding panel of not more than three (3) members who have been selected by the parties in accordance with rules established by the commissioner, from a list of qualified persons maintained by the department. The fact-finding panel shall in accordance with rules and procedures established by the commissioner which shall include the regulation of costs and expenses of fact-finding, gather facts and make recommendations for the resolution of the matter.

(3) The fact-finding panel acting by a majority of its members, shall transmit its findings of fact and recommendations to the public employer and employe organization involved and to the board. Such findings of fact and recommendations shall be transmitted no later than thirty (30) days after the appointment of the fact-finding panel. The state shall pay one-half the costs of the fact-finding panel; the remaining one-half of the cost shall be divided equally between the parties.

(4) Not more than ten (10) days after the findings and recommendations shall have been sent, the parties shall notify the commissioner and each other whether or not they accept the recommendations of the fact-finding panel and if they do not, the panel shall publicize its findings of fact and recommendations. But if the parties so choose, the fact-finders' recommendations can be viewed as defining and narrowing the issues and the parties may bargain over the fact-finders' recommendations and modify them if it accommodates settlement. If such bargaining appears productive giving latitude to the parties, the commissioner of labor may postpone publishing the fact-finders' recommendations if this would facilitate agreement.

(5) If the parties are unable to reach agreement: within ten (10) days after the publication of the findings and recommendations from the fact-finding panel or if, where fact-finding has not been requested or ordered, mediation has failed to bring the parties into agreement or the collective bargaining agreement, if one exists, has expired, or thirty (30) days have elapsed since the commissioner was notified that the parties cannot reach an agreement, then the matter shall be submitted to final and binding arbitration by an arbitrator selected by the parties. If the parties cannot agree upon an arbitrator within five (5) days, the commissioner shall immediately appoint an arbitrator from a list of qualified persons maintained by the department.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the parties from voluntarily agreeing to submit any or all of the issues in dispute to final and binding arbitration. If such agreement is reached said arbitration shall supersede the settlement procedures set forth in this section. An agreement shall be enforceable in the same manner as is provided in Section 9(2).

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit a party from seeking enforcement of a collective bargaining agreement or an arbitrator's award as provided in Section 9(2).

(d) Allegations of unfair labor practices during the settlement procedures set forth in Section 13 shall receive priority by the commissioner.

SECTION 14. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
Formal charges, petitions, complaints, orders, testimony, fact-finding recommendations, and other proceedings instituted by the board under this Act shall be public records and available for inspection or copying subject to rules and regulations to be made by the board. All hearings on complaints, or petitions pursuant to this Act shall be open to the public.

SECTION 15. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
This Act shall preempt without abrogating any existing collective bargaining rights of public employes all contrary local ordinances, executive orders or legislation; provided, that any political subdivision may enact, through its appropriate legislative body, procedures which will effectuate within its jurisdiction all of the mechanisms, purposes, and intent provided herein. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as precluding subordinate governmental units from further extension of their rights. Such procedures shall be discussed before enactment within interested organizations involved, and the procedures shall be approved by the board as complying with this Act before being put into effect. Charges of departure from approved procedures may be brought before the board for remedy.

SECTION 16. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 336 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
There is hereby created a council to be known as the Kentucky public employment citizens advisory council, the members of which shall be appointed by the governor to review developments regarding public sector employe relations matters and to make recommendations for continuing improvements in this area. HCR 26, A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION in memory of Coach Adolph Rupp.

WHEREAS, Adolph Frederick Rupp, beloved Baron of Basketball in Kentucky, has crossed that bourne from which no traveler returns; and

WHEREAS, this man in brown, this legend, this giant among the everlasting monuments to athletic competition and prowess has meant so much to so many, and has heaped laurels upon the Commonwealth of Kentucky the listing of which approaches the notion of infinity; and

WHEREAS, nowhere in all the annals of sport has there been exemplified a more dedicated, more disciplined, more knowledgeable, more competitive, more successful, more colorful, more astute, more devoted or more ardent devotee and practitioner of the will to win and to achieve greatness; and

WHEREAS, Coach Rupp's legacy to all Kentuckians in pride, success, achievement and recognition is matched only by men such as Lincoln, Clay and McDowell, and has been distributed without ration and with an abundance seldom equaled; and

WHEREAS, the burden of sorrow and grief at the loss of Adolph Rupp can be measured solely by the joys and triumphs his illustrious days and ways have lavished upon each of those fortunate enough to have known and recognized his magnificence;

NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. That when the House of Representatives and the Senate do adjourn on (day), January 26, 1978, they do so in honor, memory and loving tribute to Coach Adolph Rupp.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 13.087 is amended to read as follows:

(1) There is hereby created a permanent subcommittee of the legislative research commission to be known as the administrative regulation review subcommittee. The subcommittee shall be composed of three (3) members, no more than two (2) of whom shall be members of the same political party. The legislative research commission shall appoint from the membership of the general assembly, the members of the subcommittee for terms of two (2) years, and the members so appointed shall elect one (1) of their number to serve as chairman. Any vacancy which may occur in the membership of the subcommittee shall be filled by the legislative research commission at its next regularly scheduled meeting after the occurrence of the vacancy.

(2) The subcommittee shall meet monthly at such time and place as the chairman may determine. The members of the subcommittee shall be compensated for attending meetings, as provided in KRS 7.090(2).

(3) Any professional, clerical or other employes required by the subcommittee shall be provided in accordance with the provisions of KRS 7.090(4) and (5).

(4) Prior to filing, all regulations shall be submitted to the administrative regulation review subcommittee to determine if the regulation conforms to the statutory authority under which it was promulgated and if it carries out the legislative intent of the statutory authority under which it was promulgated. The subcommittee's finding that a regulation does not conform to the statutory authority or carry out the legislative intent shall be reported to the promulgating administrative body and to the director of the legislative research commission. In the event the subcommittee determines that a regulation, other than an emergency filing approved by the governor, does not conform to the statutory authority, or does not coincide with the legislative intent, the subcommittee shall attach to the regulation a written notation of its objection, including a statement of the reasons therefor, and shall return the regulation to the promulgating administrative body. Notice of such objection shall be given by the subcommittee to the director of the legislative research commission. The subcommittee shall act on a regulation submitted to the legislative research commission within thirty (30) days of the submission of the regulation, subject to the provisions of subsection (10) of this section.

(5) The promulgating administrative body may revise a regulation to comply with the subcommittee's objections, and may return the revised regulation to the subcommittee, or it may return the regulation, with the subcommittee's notation attached, without change. The legislative research commission shall immediately accept a regulation as filed if it is not objected to by the subcommittee.

(6) In the event an administrative body returns a regulation, objected to by the subcommittee, to the legislative research commission without change, the regulation shall be referred by the director to the standing committee of the house of representatives and senate or to the interim committee with appropriate jurisdiction as determined by the rules of the house and senate then in effect or in effect during the most recent session of the general assembly. The standing committees of the house and senate or the interim committee to which a regulation is referred under this section shall review the regulation in the same manner as did the administrative regulation review subcommittee and shall not expand their review beyond determining whether the regulation conforms to the statutory authority under which it was promulgated and whether the regulation carries out the legislative intent of the statute it seeks to implement. In the event the standing committee of the house and senate or the interim committee determines that a regulation does not conform to the statutory authority under which it was promulgated, or does not coincide with the legislative intent of the statute it seeks to implement the standing committees or the interim committee shall attach to the regulation a written notation of its objection, including a statement of the reasons therefor, and the director shall return the regulation to the promulgating administrative body. Notice of such objection shall be given by the standing committees or by the interim committee to the director of the legislative research commission. The standing committees or interim committee shall act on a regulation submitted in accordance with this section within thirty (30) days of the date the administrative body returns the regulation, subject to the provisions of subsection (10) of this section; provided, however, if there are no authorized meetings of the standing committees or the interim committee within such thirty (30) day period, the legislative research commission shall take action on the returned regulation in the same manner herein described at its next regularly scheduled meeting.

(7) The promulgating administrative body may revise a regulation to comply with the subcommittee's interim or standing committee's objections, and may return the revised regulation to said subcommittee or committee, or may return the regulation with the subcommittee's interim or standing committee's notation attached, without change. The legislative research commission shall immediately accept the regulation as filed.

(8) The subcommittee shall report monthly to the legislative research commission all action taken on administrative bodies' regulations. The director of the legislative research commission shall report to the commission all action taken by the standing committee or by the interim committee.

(9) All regulations objected to by the subcommittee and by the standing committees or interim committee and not revised by the promulgating administrative body together with the notations of the subcommittee's and the standing committee's or interim committee's objection shall be transmitted by the director to the clerk of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives on or before the first day of each regular session of the general assembly. The clerk of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives shall lay all regulations so transmitted before the senate and the house of representatives, respectively, for such action as the respective legislative bodies may determine to be appropriate.

(10) The subcommittee, standing committees or interim committee shall not be required to review, at any given meeting thereof, any regulation which was submitted or referred less than fourteen (14) days before such meeting; in such cases the subcommittee, standing committees or interim committee may elect to review such regulation at the next scheduled meeting. Whenever the subcommittee, standing committees or interim committee shall defer action or regulation to allow the promulgating administrative agency to revise the regulation and re-submit same, the subcommittee, standing committees or interim committee shall not be required to review, at any given meeting, any revised regulation which was re-submitted less than fourteen (14) days before such meeting; in such cases the subcommitte, standing committees or interim committee may elect to review such re-submitted regulation at the next meeting.

SECTION 2. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 241 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:
(1) The urban-county administrator in each urban-county government and such investigators and clerks as are deemed necessary for the proper conduct of his office, shall be appointed by the mayor. The urban-county administrator, and his investigators, shall have full police powers of peace officers, and their jurisdiction shall be co-extensive with such urban-county governments. They may inspect any premises where alcoholic beverages are manufactured, sold, stored or otherwise trafficked in, without first obtaining a search warrant.

(2) No person shall be an urban-county administrator, an investigator or an employe of the urban-county government under the supervision of the urban-county administrator, who would be disqualified to be a member of the board under KRS 241.100.

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 241 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Each urban-county administrator before entering upon his duties as such, shall take the oath prescribed in Section 228 of the Constitution, and shall execute a bond with a good corporate surety in the penal sum of not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

No regulation of an urban-county administrator shall become effective until it has been approved by the board.

SECTION 5. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 241 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Appeals from the orders of each urban-county administrator may be taken to the board by filing with the board within ten (10) days a certified copy of the orders of the urban-county administrator. Regulations need not be uniform in their application, but may vary in accordance with reasonable classifications;

(2) To limit in its sound discretion the number of licenses of each kind or class to be issued in this state or any political subdivision, and restrict the locations of licensed premises. To this end the board may make reasonable division and subdivision of the state or any political subdivision into districts. Regulations relating to the granting, refusal and revocation of licenses may be different within the several divisions of subdivisions;

(3) To hold hearings, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, administer oaths, examine any person under oath and require the production of any books or papers relative to the inquiry, regardless of whether the witnesses are licensees. (6) If violation of KRS chapter 241, KRS 243.020 to 243.670 or KRS chapter 244 has taken place on the premises within the knowledge of the owner, or was committed or permitted in or upon premises owned by a licensee, the board shall prohibit the issuance of a license for the premises until the expiration of two (2) years from the time the offense was committed;

(7) To suspend a license for any cause for which the board is authorized to exercise its discretion as to revoking a license;

[Before any such rule or regulation is adopted, the board, after notice, shall hold a public hearing at its offices in Frankfort, Kentucky, not less than five (5) days before said rule or regulation is to be adopted. Notice of such hearing and of the proposed rule or regulation, shall be given in the following manner:

"Agency" is defined as any board, commission or any other regulatory instrumentality of state government created and functioning to license and regulate.

(5) The provisions of this Act shall not terminate any claim or right of a citizen against any such agency or any claim or right of an agency terminated pursuant to this Act which is subject to litigation. Said claims and rights shall be assumed by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration.

(6) All outstanding debts of the terminated agencies shall be assumed by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and shall be paid from unexpended funds appropriated to the terminated agency. (7) Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prohibit the General Assembly from terminating an agency covered by these provisions at a date earlier than that provided herein, nor to prohibit the General Assembly from considering any other legislation relative to such agency.

SECTION 2. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335A IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Two (2) years prior to each scheduled statutory repeal and agency termination, the Legislative Research Commission or a duly designated committee thereof, shall conduct a comprehensive review and evaluation of the need for and the performance of the scheduled agencies. During the review and evaluation process, a public hearing shall be held at which the public shall have the opportunity to testify on the need for and the performance of the agency.

(2) The agency shall be evaluated for need and performance. In evaluating need, it must be demonstrated that the benefits to the public clearly outweigh the burden which regulation imposes and the burden of proof is on the agency. The following criteria shall be considered in evaluating need:

(a) Would the absence of regulation significantly harm or endanger the public health, safety or welfare?

(b) Is there a reasonable relationship between the exercise of the state's police power and the protection of the public health, safety or welfare?

(c) Is there another less restrictive method of regulation available which could adequately protect the public?

(d) Does the regulation have the effect of directly or indirectly increasing the costs of any goods or services involved, and if so, to what degree?

(e) Is the increase in cost more harmful to the public than the harm which could result from the absence of regulation?

(f) Are all facets of the regulatory process designed solely for the purpose of, and have as their primary effect, the protection of the public?

(3) If it is determined that a regulatory function is not needed, the evaluation report shall recommend that the respective agency be allowed to terminate. If, however, it is determined that a regulatory function is needed, the function will be additionally evaluated on its effectiveness and efficiency in executing its regulatory responsibilities. This evaluation shall include but not be limited to the following criteria:

(a) Has the agency permitted qualified applicants to serve the public?

(b) Has the agency supported affirmative action requirements by licensing minorities and women?

(c) Has the agency operated for the benefit of its licensees as opposed to the public interest?

(d) Has the agency sought criticism aimed at improvements from the public and from its licensees?

(e) Has the agency recommended statutory changes that would benefit the public, as opposed to those it regulates?

(f) Has the agency encouraged participation by the public in rule- and decision-making, as opposed to participation by the person it regulates?

(g) Have complaints from the public been handled efficiently?

(4) All agencies being reviewed and evaluated shall cooperate with the Legislative Research Commission and shall supply any and all information required and requested by the Legislative Research Commission to conduct its review.

(5) No agency under review shall expend public funds for the purpose of influencing its evaluation, except for funds expended in the process of generating information and other documentation required and requested by the Legislative Research Commission.

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 335A IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The Legislative Research Commission shall have completed its evaluation report on an agency one (1) year prior to its scheduled termination date. The report shall include the findings of the evaluation and recommendations as to the termination, continuation or continuation with modification of the agency. If continuation or continuation with modification is recommended, appropriate legislation shall be included with the report. This legislation shall be prefiled for the next regular session of the General Assembly.

(2) The life of any agency continued or continued with modification shall not exceed six (6) years. Any newly created agency as defined by this Act shall have a life not to exceed six (6) years and shall be reviewed and evaluated as to need and performance as provided in Sections 2 and 3 of this Act.

(3) A copy of each evaluation report shall be submitted to the Governor and to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for consideration in preparing the executive budget.

The vouchers accompanying the settlements or reports shall not be recorded.

Section 5. KRS 395.650 is amended to read as follows:

Whichever court first acquires jurisdiction of such child may proceed to final disposition of his case, or, in its discretion may make an order transferring the case to the court of the county of his residence, or the county wherein the offense was committed, as the case may be.

HB 132, AN ACT relating to juveniles.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 208.020 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The juvenile session of the district court of each county shall have exclusive jurisdiction in proceedings concerning any child living, or found within the county who has not reached his eighteenth birthday:

(a) Who has committed a public offense, except a moving motor vehicle offense, involving a child sixteen (16) years of age or older. The court shall not have jurisdiction in any prosecution of a moving motor vehicle offense involving a child sixteen (16) years of age or older. Juvenile offenders sixteen (16) years of age or older accused of moving motor vehicle offenses shall be treated as any adult offender; provided, however, that the term "moving motor vehicle offense" shall not be deemed to include the offense of stealing or converting a motor vehicle nor operating the same without the owner's consent, nor any offense which constitutes a felony; or

(b) Who does not subject himself to the reasonable control of his parents, teacher, guardian or custodian, by reason of being wayward or habitually disobedient; or

(c) Who is an habitual truant from home or from school; or

(d) Who is found by the court to be dependent, neglected, or abused.

(2) The court of each county wherein a public offense, as defined in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section, is committed by a child who is a resident of another county of this state, shall have concurrent jurisdiction over such child with the court of the county wherein the child resides, or the court of the county where the child is found. Whichever court first acquires jurisdiction of such child may proceed to final disposition of his case, or, in its discretion may make an order transferring the case to the court of the county of his residence, or the county wherein the offense was committed, as the case may be.

(3) The court of each county shall have exclusive jurisdiction of persons charged with violations of KRS 530.060 and 530.070.

(4) The juvenile session of district court shall have exclusive jurisdiction of persons who and no person shall willfully and unnecessarily expose to the inclemency of the weather, or in any other manner willfully injure in health or limb any child actually or apparently under the age of sixteen (16) years.

(5) The juvenile session of district court shall have exclusive jurisdiction of persons who and no person shall for gain or reward employ or cause to be employed, or exhibit, use, or have in his custody for the purpose of exhibiting, or employing, any child actually or apparently under the age of sixteen (16) years, nor shall any person having the care, custody, or control of such child, in any way procure, or consent for gain or reward, to the employment or exhibition of such child, either:

(a) In begging or receiving alms, or in any mendicant occupation;

(b) If the child is a female, in peddling or in any wandering occupation;

(c) In any indecent or immoral occupation or practice;

(d) In the exhibition of any such child when mentally ill or mentally retarded [insane, or idiotic]; or

(e) In any practice or exhibition of unusual danger to life, limb, health or morals of the child.

(6) Any person, over whom the court has jurisdiction under subsections (3), (4) or (5) of this section, shall be entitled to a trial by jury.

(7) Nothing in this chapter shall deprive other courts of the jurisdiction to determine the custody or guardianship of children upon writs of habeas corpus, or to determine the custody or guardianship of children when such custody or guardianship is incidental to the determination of other causes pending in such other courts; except that decisions made pursuant to KRS 208.200 are final unless appealed; nor shall anything in this chapter affect the jurisdiction of circuit courts over adoptions and proceedings for termination of parental rights. The juvenile session of district court shall have no jurisdiction to make permanent awards of custody of a child, but if the court finds an emergency to exist affecting the welfare of a child, it may make temporary orders for its custody, pending the outcome of proceedings in circuit court to determine its permanent custody. Such orders shall be entirely without prejudice to the proceedings for permanent custody of the child, and shall remain in effect until modified or set aside by the court. Upon the entry of a temporary or final judgment in the circuit court, awarding custody of such child, all prior orders of the juvenile court in conflict therewith shall be deemed canceled.

(8) Actions brought under subsection (1)(a) of this section shall be considered to be delinquency actions.

(9) Actions brought under subsection (1)(b) and (c) of this section shall be considered to be status actions.

(10) Actions brought under subsection (1)(d) of this section shall be considered to be dependency actions.

Section 2. KRS 208.200 is amended to read as follows:

(1) If in its decree the juvenile court finds that the child comes within the purview of subsections (1) or (2) of KRS 208.020, the court may, by order:

(a) Place the child on probation or under supervision in his own home or in a suitable family home or boarding home, upon such conditions as the court shall determine. Probation or supervision shall not be ordered or administered as a punishment, but as a measure for the protection, guidance and well-being of the child and his family. A child so placed on probation or supervision shall be subject to the visitation and supervision of a probation officer or a child welfare worker. Probation and supervision methods shall be directed to the discovery and correction of the basic causes of maladjustment and to the development of the child's personality and character, with the aid of the social resources of the community. A child so placed on probation or supervision shall remain subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court until he becomes twenty-one (21) [eighteen (18)] years of age, unless he is discharged prior thereto by the court.

(b) Commit the child to the custody or guardianship [of the department or] of a private institution or public agency other than the department authorized to care for such children, or under the guardianship [place the child under the custody and the supervision] of a suitable person. All orders of commitment may include such advisory recommendations as the court may deem proper in the best interests of the child and of the public. Such commitment [or placement] shall be until the age of twenty-one (21) [eighteen (18)] subject to the power of the court to [terminate the order and] discharge the child prior thereto, [.] or of the governing authorities of said [department,] agency or institution to do so upon notice to the court at least thirty (30) days prior to said discharge and provided the court does not lodge objections to the contrary [may likewise discharge the child unless the court directs otherwise]. Prior to said discharge two weeks' notice must be given to the committing court [, to the legal representative of the child and to the county attorney of the county in which committing court presides. During the period of commitment or placement, the court may review a dispositional order and may modify or terminate such order as the court deems essential to the best interests of the child]. In committing a child to a private institution or agency the court shall select one that is approved by the department for human resources and children committed to such an institution or agency shall be subject to the visitation and supervision of a probation officer or child welfare worker.

(c) Commit the child to the department. Such commitment shall be for an indeterminate period not to exceed the age of twenty-one (21). All orders of commitment may include such advisory recommendations as the court may deem proper in the best interests of the child and of the public. Prior to discharge of the child, the department shall give notice to the committing court, after which time the child shall be so discharged unless the court lodges objections to the contrary.

(d) In the case of a child committed to the department, pursuant to KRS 208.020(1)(d), the juvenile court may set aside an order at any time for procedural reasons. The juvenile court may review a commitment obtained pursuant to KRS 208.020(1)(d) and hold an evidentiary hearing provided: a period of six (6) months has elapsed from the date of commitment; a motion for review is filed by the parents of the child or the guardian or custodian of the child at the time of the commitment; and the department has been given notice at least fourteen (14) days prior to the hearing. If at the evidentiary hearing, the court finds that there is a substantial change in the material circumstances of the parents, custodian or guardian, the court may set aside the order committing the child to the department and may otherwise dispose of the child consistent with this Act.

(2) If, in its decree, the juvenile court finds that the child comes within the purview of subsection (1) or (2) of KRS 208.020, the court may dispose of the child as provided in subsection (1) of this section except that if a child comes within the purview of KRS 208.020(1)(d), the court may not commit the child to the department unless the department has indicated to the court that it has facilities and funds available to care for the child and is willing to accept the commitment.

(3) [(2)] In the event a child who has not reached his eighteenth birthday commits a new offense while under the jurisdiction of the court or during the period of commitment the court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction of the new offense, and may modify all previous orders, including that committing the child to the department. Nothing in this section shall limit the jurisdiction of another court in assuming jurisdiction of wards of the department between the ages of eighteen (18) and twenty-one (21) years who have committed another public offense after attaining the age of eighteen (18).

(4) [(3)] If [After] a child is [has been] disposed of as provided in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) of this section the court may modify or set aside its order at any time, and direct that the child be otherwise disposed of, in accordance with this chapter, except that after a child has been disposed of as provided in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) of this section he may not then be transferred to the circuit court as provided for in KRS 208.170.

(5) [(4)] If a child sixteen (16) years of age or older has been adjudicated delinquent in the commission of an offense classified as a misdemeanor or violation, the court in its discretion may order as follows:

(a) Participation in a community services work program. The work program shall be of a constructive nature designed to promote the rehabilitation of the child. The program shall be appropriate to the age level and physical ability of the child and shall be combined with counseling from a probation officer or other responsible person. The work program shall not be scheduled during such times that would interfere with educational, occupational, or religious obligations of the child. Assignment to a community services work program shall be made to a governmental or nonprofit community organization for a specified period of time, not to exceed one hundred and twenty (120) hours for a child adjudicated delinquent in the commission of a Class A misdemeanor, not to exceed eighty (80) hours for a child adjudicated delinquent in the commission of a Class B misdemeanor, and not to exceed forty (40) hours for a child adjudicated delinquent in the commission of an offense classified as a violation under the penal code. A child may be directed to participate in a community services work program as provided in this subsection for the purposes of restitution authorized by KRS 208.240.

(b) The court may impose a fine for a misdemeanor or violation offense. The imposition of a fine for a misdemeanor or violation offense committed by a child shall be based upon a determination that such disposition is in the best interest of the child and to aid in his rehabilitation. Any such order shall include a finding that the child is financially able to pay such fine.

(c) Fines shall be levied consistent with the schedule set forth below:

For a Class A misdemeanor, not to exceed $150;
For a Class B misdemeanor, not to exceed $75; and
For a violation, not to exceed $50.

When a child is directed by the court to pay a fine, the court may provide for payment to be made within a specified period of time or in specified installments. If such provision is not made a part of the court's disposition, the fine shall be payable immediately.

(6) [(5)] When a child has been ordered to comply with the provisions in subsection (5) [(4)] above and fails to do so, the court upon motion of the prosecuting attorney or upon its own motion may require the child to show cause why he should not be held in detention for noncompliance with the court order. The court may issue an order of custody or a summons for his appearance.

(7) [(6)] Following issuance of a show cause order pursuant to subsection (6) [(5)] above, unless the child can show that noncompliance was not the result of an intentional refusal to comply with the court order or not the result of a failure to make a good faith effort to comply with the court order, the court may order the child detained as follows:

(a) For a period not to exceed five (5) days if the order is imposed for the commission of a Class A misdemeanor;

(b) For a period not to exceed three (3) days if the order is imposed for the commission of a Class B misdemeanor;

(c) For a period not to exceed two (2) days if the order is imposed for the commission of a violation.

Any detention imposed for failure to comply with the court order shall not be scheduled for a time that would interfere with the educational obligations of the child, and shall be in an approved detention facility as provided in KRS 208.130.

(8) [(7)] When in the judgment of the court a disposition stated above in subsection (5) [(4)] is inadequate to aid in the rehabilitation of a misdemeanor offender, the court in its discretion may order a child sixteen (16) years of age or older who has been adjudicated delinquent in the commission of an offense classified as a misdemeanor to detention in an approved detention facility as provided in KRS 208.130 based upon the schedule set forth below:

Class A misdemeanor, 1 to 30 days;
Class B misdemeanor, 1 to 15 days;

provided, that, the court shall advise the child prior to entering its order under this subsection that the child upon demand may receive a trial by jury in the regular session of district court, which trial and any appeal therefrom shall be conducted in accordance with the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

The detention of a juvenile misdemeanor offender shall not be scheduled to interfere with the educational obligations of the child. Detention may be scheduled during periods such as weekends, after school, or overnight. Any portion of a day spent in detention shall be deemed as one day for the purposes of serving a detention term.

(9) [(8)] No adjudication by a juvenile court of the status of any child shall be deemed a conviction, nor shall such adjudication operate to impose any of the civil disabilities ordinarily resulting from a criminal conviction, nor shall any child be found guilty or be deemed a criminal by reason of such adjudication.

Section 3. KRS 208.430 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any child committed to the department may on the recommendation of the child welfare worker, at any time during the period of his commitment, be:

(a) Discharged from commitment, unless [after notice of discharge the court directs otherwise or] he was committed by a circuit court upon a felony conviction and was given a sentence the period of which will extend beyond the age of twenty-one. Notice of discharge shall [must] be given to the committing court not less than thirty (30) days prior to discharge [and to any other parties as may be required by law];

(b) Placed in the home of his parents, or in a suitable foster home, family home or boarding home, upon such conditions as the department may prescribe and subject to visitation and supervision by a child welfare worker;

(c) Placed in one of the institutions operated by the department; except that no child committed to the department, under provision of KRS 208.020(1)(b), (c), or (d) nor any child 10 years of age or under shall be placed in an institution operated by the department for children committed to the department as delinquents;

(d) Placed in a child-caring institution operated by a local governmental unit or by a private organization willing to receive the child, upon such conditions as the department may prescribe;

(e) Disposed of as provided in KRS 208.460 or 208.470.

(2) Unless the child has been discharged from commitment, [or the court has specifically ordered otherwise,] any disposition of a child made under this section may at any time during the period of his commitment be changed and other disposition made in accordance with the provisions of this section.

Section 4. KRS 208.540 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any peace officer who conveys a child from the committing court or from the detention facility of the committing court to an institution or facility operated by the department shall be allowed an amount prescribed by regulation adopted by the executive department for finance and administration calculated by the nearest traveled route, and shall be paid for all necessary expenses for feeding, lodging and transporting the child. The officer shall make out a full account of all expenses so incurred by him and give the distance traveled. The account shall be verified by the officer upon oath before the district court and certified by the circuit clerk to the department, for payment out of funds appropriated for the purpose. [The child's presence shall be necessary at a post-disposition proceeding only as required by court order. Expenses for transportation of a child to such a proceeding from an institution or facility operated by the department shall be paid out of the state treasury.]

(2) Any time that the court reviews a decision after the child has been committed to the department, the expenses, including transportation of the child, if required, shall be borne by the court.

Section 5. KRS 208.205 is repealed.

The department shall then,] Within sixty (60) days of completion of an on-site inspection of an existing dam the department may [the receipt of the completed application for a certificate of inspection,] either grant a [the] certificate of inspection, or deny the certificate of inspection and notify the owner [or disapprove the request] in writing, stating the reasons for denial [disapproval].

(2) In deciding whether or not a certificate of inspection should be issued, the department shall take into account all pertinent facts and conditions, but shall not issue a certificate unless the following conditions have been met:

(a) The proposed action in the judgment of the department will be conducted in such a way that the safety of the public is adequately provided for;

(b) All information requested by the department has been provided; and

(c) The changed flow of the stream or level of the reservoir will not significantly interfere with a beneficial use by other water users.

(4) The department may establish hazard categories for dams based on downstream floodplain use, size, or type of dam, or other criteria, and may impose different conditions or types of conditions on the approval of dams or reservoirs in the different categories.

(5) The department may utilize the results and information provided by or for the United States Army Corps of Engineers pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 92-367 if the information is not more than one (1) year old at the time of use.

In case of an emergency declared by the department, the new conditions shall be effective immediately.

(8) Specific guidelines for issuance and renewal of certificate of inspection shall be provided by regulations.

(9) Plans and specifications submitted to the department shall be the responsibility of and signed by an engineer licensed by the Commonwealth and experienced in the design and construction of dams, as determined by the department.

(2) When the department determines that the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, silt structure, or other water barrier has been abandoned; or where the owner fails, in the judgment of the department, to take satisfactory action toward compliance with an [such] order, issued pursuant to this section; or where an owner fails to maintain a satisfactory rate of progress toward full compliance therewith*;* [,] or where in the judgment of the department, the danger to life or property will not permit delay, the department shall declare that an emergency exists and [request that a state of emergency be declared by the governor, and upon such declaration,] shall take such action as it deems necessary to render the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, silt structure or other water barrier [barriers] safe, which action may include, but is not limited to:

(d) Taking such other steps as may be necessary to safeguard life and property*; or*

(e) Removing the dam, reservoir, levees, embankment, silt structure or other water barrier.

The secretary is authorized to enter into contracts or agreements with other state, local, or federal agencies, or other persons, for work necessary to implement such necessary actions.

(4) [(3)] Any person to whom an order is directed pursuant to this section shall comply therewith immediately, but, on petition to the department, may within five (5) working days have a hearing thereon.

Section 1. KRS 350.110 is amended to read as follows:

If the department authorizes an operator to defer planting to provide vegetative cover for an area of land, it shall set the time within which such planting shall be carried out. If the operator has carried out on that area of land the method of operation, backfilling, grading and reclamation plans approved by the department other than the planting, the department shall issue to the operator and to his surety a release of his surety bond or other securities held on deposit for each acre of land for which such method of operation, backfilling, grading, and reclamation have been carried out, and the soil ph level required by department regulations has been satisfied less the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) for each acre, but in no case shall the bond be reduced below two thousand dollars ($2,000) except as provided in KRS 350.060. The remaining amount of the bond of three hundred dollars ($300) for each acre of land affected shall remain in the possession of the department until a satisfactory planting plan has been carried out, or until it has been forfeited by the operator. If the remainder is forfeited, it shall be expended by the department in a planting program for the area of land for which it has been posted*; unless the surface rights have been severed from the mineral rights, in which case the remainder of the forfeited bond shall be paid to the surface owner for expenditure in a planting program for the area of land for which the bond has been posted.* If the operator does not meet the planting requirements but does not want his bond forfeited, he may pay to the department a sufficient sum to cover the remaining reclamation costs and the bond filed by him as surety may then be released by the department.

Section 2. KRS 350.130 is amended to read as follows:

(1) If any of the requirements of this chapter or rules or regulations adopted pursuant thereto or the orders of the department have not been complied with within the time limits set by the department or by this chapter, the department shall cause a notice of noncompliance to be served upon the operator, or where found necessary, the secretary shall order the suspension of a permit. Such notice or order shall be handed to the operator in person or served by certified mail, return receipt requested or by registered mail addressed to the permanent address shown on the application for a permit. The notice of noncompliance or order of suspension shall specify in what respects the operator has failed to comply with this chapter or the regulations or orders of the department. If the operator has not reached an agreement with the department or has not complied with the requirements set forth in the notice of noncompliance or order of suspension within time limits set therein, the permit may be revoked by order of the department and the performance bond shall then be forfeited to the department*; except as provided in subsection (2) of this Section and in KRS 350.110.*

(2) When a bond is forfeited pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the secretary shall give notice to the attorney general, who shall collect the forfeiture. Bond forfeitures collected in cases where the surface rights have been severed from the mineral rights shall be paid to the surface owner for the purpose of reclaiming in accordance with the provisions of this chapter the same area of land included under the bond.

(3) An operator whose mining permit has been revoked or suspended shall not be eligible to receive another permit or to have suspended permits reinstated until he shall have complied with all the requirements of this chapter in respect to all permits issued him, provided, further, that no operator shall be eligible to receive another permit who has forfeited any bond unless the land for which the bond was forfeited has been reclaimed without cost to the state or the operator has paid such sum as the department finds is adequate to reclaim such lands. The department shall not issue any additional permits to any operator who has repeatedly been in noncompliance or violation of this chapter, or who has had permits revoked on more than three (3) occasions. The department shall issue regulations concerning repeated noncompliance by any operator.

Section 1. KRS 262.760 is amended to read as follows:

Within the first quarter of each calendar year, the board of directors shall prepare an itemized budget of the funds needed for administration, construction, operation and maintenance of works of improvement. After approval of such budget by the board of supervisors, the board of directors shall, by order or resolution, levy a tax sufficient to meet such budget, not to exceed five mills per dollar of the fair cash value, as equalized by the department of revenue, of all real property within the district, except any levy necessary to provide a sinking fund for retirement of bonds authorized by KRS 262.750 and except any levy necessary to provide for the improvement, continuing operation, or maintenance of works of improvement within the district authorized by Section 2 of this Act. A copy of such budget and order or resolution shall be certified to the county clerk of the county or counties involved.

SECTION 2. A NEW SECTION OF KRS 262.745 to 262.750 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Upon determination by the board of directors of a watershed conservancy district that the improvement, continuing operation, or maintenance of a watershed project is necessary, the board of directors may adopt a resolution which shall set out: (a) a list of the benefited lands located in the flood plain, as determined by the board of directors, giving the acreage of such lands and the names of the owners thereof as defined by KRS 262.010(6) with a classification of such lands or parts thereof into classes in order that assessments may be made according to direct benefits, and (b) the annual assessments to be levied upon the lands set out in the resolution on the basis of a certain amount per acre according to benefits received, not to exceed in any one year a sum per acre specified in the resolution.

(2) The board of directors shall cause due notice of the resolution to be given to all the owners of benefited lands, as determined by the board. Said notice shall set out the time and place of a meeting of the board of directors of the watershed conservancy district at which owners of benefited lands who may be liable for the annual assessments may be heard.

(3) At the hearing upon the resolution, owners of benefited lands may voice their views concerning the proposal as to whether it should be undertaken, and the scope thereof, or the degree of benefit received by their lands. The board shall prepare a record summarizing the proceedings. If the board of directors determines as a result of the hearing that the proposal should be carried out as planned, it may make such changes or revisions in the resolution as it deems proper and shall give due notice of an election to be held at which benefited landowners may vote on the question of annual special assessments to defray the cost. The notice of the election shall include the text of the resolution of the board in its final form. The board of directors may give due notice as provided in KRS 262.010(4).

(4) The board of directors shall prepare official ballots to be used in the election which shall state the question: "Should the assessment for improvement, continuing operation, or maintenance proposed by resolution of the-------watershed conservancy district be adopted?" Squares indicating a yes or no answer should follow the question with a direction to insert an "X" mark in the square favored. Only owners of benefited land as set out in the resolution shall be eligible to vote. The board of directors may provide for a meeting of the landowners at which the vote may be cast, in which case qualified voters may vote by absentee ballot. The board shall appoint a polling superintendent and other necessary election officers, giving representation to the opponents of the question as well as to proponents.

(5) If a majority of those voting upon the proposition favor the assessment the board shall give due notice of the vote. Any owner of property to be benefited by the project may, within forty days after publication of such notice, file an action in the circuit court of the county in which his lands are located seeking relief by declaratory judgment or injunction. If a suit is filed, the county attorney shall represent the board of directors in upholding the validity of the proposed assessment. After the lapse of time specified herein all actions by owners of properties to be benefited shall be forever barred.

(6) If no suit is filed and no injunction issued within the time allowed in subsection (5) of this section, the board of directors shall levy annual assessments effective only upon the benefited properties and based on the acreage thereof. The annual assessment shall be made by the board of directors at the same time and in the same manner as provided in KRS 262.765 for taxes generally and shall be collected as provided in KRS 262.770. The assessments shall constitute liens against the land benefited and shall attach to the land, taking precedence over all other liens except state, county and municipal taxes and prior improvement assessments.

Section 3. KRS 262.750 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Bonds authorized by KRS 262.745 shall not be issued until proposed by order or resolution of the board of directors, specifying the purpose for which the funds are to be used and the proposed undertaking, the amount of bonds to be issued, the rate of interest they are to bear and the amount of any necessary tax levy [in excess of the maximum] authorized in KRS 262.760 to establish a sinking fund for the liquidation of bonds as provided in KRS 262.760. Copy of the order or resolution shall be certified to the board of supervisors.

(2) The board of supervisors shall conduct a hearing on such proposal after notice given pursuant to KRS 262.010 (4). If it appears that the proposal is within the scope and purpose of KRS 262.700 to 262.795 and meets all other requirements of the law, the proposal shall be submitted to the landowners of the district by referendum under supervision of the board of supervisors.

(3) Provisions of KRS 262.725, 262.730 and 262.740 as to notice, qualifications of voters, absentee voting and manner of holding referendum election in organizing a watershed conservancy district shall apply to the referendum held under this section.

(4) If two-thirds (2/3) of the landowners voting favor the proposal, subject to the provisions of KRS 66.210, such bonds may be issued.

Section 4. KRS 262.777 is amended to read as follows;

[In the event the income derived by a watershed conservancy district by taxation as provided by KRS 262.745(1) and 262.760 shall prove inadequate to carry out the approved program of the district, or constitutional limitations on indebtedness do not permit the borrowing of funds by the district as authorized by KRS 262.745(4) and 262.750,] A special assessment may be voted and bonds issued which shall be payable solely from the collection of such assessments, as provided in KRS 262.778 and 262.779.

HR 33, A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION relating to sodium nitrate.

WHEREAS, sodium nitrate is used in the preservation of red meat to keep it free of botulism and safe for human consumption; and

WHEREAS, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration has threatened to ban the use of sodium nitrate and, further, this proposed ban has been endorsed by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Foreman; and

WHEREAS, such a ban would sharply increase the cost of fresh meat to consumers and would thereby be likely to reduce consumption of fresh meat, which is important to human health and nutrition; and

WHEREAS, the agricultural economy of Kentucky depends on the production and sale of hogs, sheep and cattle as well as the production and sale of grain used in raising cattle, and such economy would suffer if a ban on sodium nitrate were imposed; and

WHEREAS, test results indicate that a one hundred fifty-four-pound man would have to consume the equivalent of 46,000 pounds of bacon daily in order to show any harmful effects from sodium nitrate consumption;

NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. That the House of Representatives does hereby urge members of Congress, the President and the Secretary of Agriculture to oppose any ban on the use of sodium nitrate as a fresh meat preservative.

(1) Each local government in the state of Kentucky shall employ a building official or inspector and other code enforcement personnel as necessary, or shall contract for such services in accordance with subsections (7) and (9) of this section to enforce the uniform state building code within the boundaries of its jurisdiction, and shall neither adopt nor enforce any other ordinance regulating buildings which conflicts with the uniform state building code, except that a building code adopted by a local government prior to passage of this Act may continue in effect until such time as the uniform state building code becomes mandatory within that local government jurisdiction.

(2) Local governments shall be responsible for the examination and approval or disapproval of plans and specifications for buildings of no more than three (3) stories in height, exclusive of attic and basement, which do not contain more than 20,000 square feet of floor area, and are not intended for assembly, educational, institutional or high hazard occupancy, business or industrial occupancy in excess of 100 persons, or for use as a frozen food locker plant as defined in KRS 221.010. Local governments shall be responsible for the issuance and revocation of building permits, licenses, certificates and similar documents which cover activities within their area of responsibility, and the inspection of all buildings pursuant to the provisions of this act and the uniform state building code. Each local government issuing a building or demolition permit or an initial certificate of occupancy on a new structure shall send a copy of such permit or certificate to the commissioner for his use in maintaining an accurate housing inventory for Kentucky.

(3) Urban county governments may determine service districts within their boundaries within which farm dwellings and other farm buildings, not used in the business of retail trade or as a place of regular employment for ten (10) or more people, shall be exempt from the requirements of the uniform state building code. Such determination may be reviewed and altered by the board.

(4) The department shall be responsible for the examination and approval or disapproval of plans and specifications for all buildings which are not the responsibility of local governments. The department may issue and revoke permits, licenses, certificates and similar documents within its area of responsibility, and shall have concurrent jurisdiction with local governments for the inspection of all buildings pursuant to the provisions of this chapter and the uniform state building code. If the commissioner determines that the local jurisdiction is not adequately performing any portion of their program, he may recommend to the board that the department preempt that portion of a local program. The commissioner shall explain his reasons for preemption in writing and provide a copy to the board and the local jurisdiction. The local jurisdiction may appeal the recommended preemption directly to the board, and the board shall review such appeal according to the procedures found in subsections (8) through (12) of Section 7 of this Act. No preemption by the department shall take place until the final decision of the board. If the department preempts any portion of a local program, it shall collect the fees applicable to that portion of the program.

(5) Any local government may petition the commissioner requesting that additional plan review functions be allocated to that local government. Such petition shall include evidence of the local government's capability to perform additional plan review functions. The commissioner, after review of the petition and supporting evidence, may grant or deny to the local government any part of a request for additional responsibility. A local government may appeal such denial directly to the board, and the board shall review such appeal according to the procedures found in subsections (8) through (12) of Section 7 of this Act. Should the local government be granted additional responsibility by the commissioner or the board, the department shall hold concurrent jurisdiction over such additional responsibility, but the local government shall collect any fees for functions it performs pursuant to such additional responsibility.

The local building official or the representative of the department shall issue a permit if the proposed building satisfies the requirements of the uniform state building code and if the party desiring to construct the building has complied with all other legal requirements concerning the location and construction of said building. The applicant for a building permit, by the act of applying for the permit, is deemed to have consented to inspection, by the local government or the department, of such building during construction and upon the completion of construction for the purpose of determining that such building is constructed in compliance with the uniform state building code. This section shall apply to industrialized building systems but destructive disassembly of industrialized building systems which carry a seal of approval pursuant to a manufactured building law in the state in which they were manufactured, which seal of approval is accepted by the board of buildings, housing and construction, shall not be performed in order to conduct such tests or inspections.

(8) No building on which construction was begun nor any industrialized building system on which site preparation and assembly were begun after the uniform state building code became effective shall be occupied until the local building official or a representative of the department issues a certificate of occupancy certifying that the building was constructed in conformance with the standards of the uniform state building code, or assembled or installed in conformance with applicable instructions.

(9) A local government may contract with other local governments, and may seek the technical assistance of other agencies in order to provide for the local enforcement of the uniform state building code. Such contracts among local governments shall conform to the provisions of KRS Chapter 65.

(10) Each local government and the department may establish a schedule of fees for the functions performed under the provisions of this Act. Such fees shall be designed to fully cover the cost of the service performed but shall in no case exceed the cost of the service performed. Fees payable to the department shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to a trust and agency fund to be used by the department in carrying out the provisions of this chapter. No part of this fund shall revert to the general fund of the Commonwealth.

SECTION 7. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 198B IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Appeals to the board of buildings, housing and construction shall include citation of those provisions of the uniform state building code which are at issue, and an explanation of why the decision of the local appeals board or the local building official relative to those provisions is being contested.

(5) The board of buildings, housing and construction shall serve to hear appeals from the decisions of local appeals boards, when such boards exist, or to hear appeals directly from the decisions of local building officials in cases where no local appeals board has jurisdiction.In no case shall the board hear an appeal directly from a party aggrieved by the decision of a local building official when there is a local appeals board with jurisdiction in the case.

(6) The board shall hear appeals directly from a party aggrieved by the decision of an agent of the department. Such appeals shall include citations of those provisions of the uniform state building code which are at issue, and an explanation of why the decision of the agent of the department relative to those provisions is being contested.

(7) Appeals to the board of buildings, housing and construction shall be addressed to the commissioner who shall immediately notify the board when an appeal is received. The commissioner or a designated employe of his department shall then investigate the evidence pertaining to such appeal and, based upon the results of such investigation, make recommendations to the board on the disposition of the case in question. No employe of the department shall investigate or make recommendations on an appeal to his own decision, but shall defer in such cases to employes who were not party to the decision which led to the appeal. In conducting such investigation, the commissioner or his designated representatives, acting for the department, shall have the authority to administer oaths and affirmations, issue subpoenas authorized by law, rule upon offers of proof and receive relevant evidence, take or cause depositions to be taken, regulate the course of any hearings they may schedule, and hold conferences for the settlement or simplification of the issues by consent of the parties. The commissioner shall complete such investigations and forward written recommendations to the board within thirty (30) days after receiving an appeal.

(8) Upon receiving the written recommendations of the commissioner, the board may decide to accept such recommendations, or it may decide to convene a hearing to consider the question further. Upon receipt of the recommendations of the commissioner, the board shall render a decision on each appeal at its next regularly scheduled meeting, but no later than thirty(30) days after receipt of such recommendations.

(9) Should the board's decision be to schedule a hearing on the appeal, such hearing shall occur within thirty (30) days of such decision, and all parties to such hearing shall be immediately notified in writing of the time and place of such hearing by the commissioner.

The circuit court may affirm the action of the fiscal court, or may deny all or part of the action of the fiscal court and order approval or disapproval of the special district, but may deny the action of the fiscal court only if such decision is found to be arbitrary or capricious. The circuit court may not insert provisions in a charter which were not considered in the original plan of service or in the plan of service as modified during the fiscal court hearing.

(c) The fiscal court desires to provide the service, or desires a city meeting the criteria of Section 4(2) of this Act to provide the service, the city agrees to provide such service, and it would be to the benefit of the users of such services to have the fiscal court or the city provide such services; or

The board shall continue to operate to satisfy its contractual obligations but shall not incur additional contractual obligations without fiscal court approval. Upon the satisfaction of all contractual obligations the special district shall be legally dissolved. All assets of the special district shall become the property of the county and, if the district is a taxing special district, the county clerk shall remove the tax levy from the tax bills of property owners of the special district.

The district shall no longer have the authority to provide such service, or to prevent other parties from providing that service or other services which affect that service. The special district shall be dissolved as provided in subsection (3) of this section.

The circuit court shall review the material pertinent to the proposed land acquisition and reasons for disapproval of the acquisition and shall render a decision either sustaining or overruling the disapproval. Findings of the fiscal court shall be conclusive as to questions of fact. The court may reverse a denial where it finds that the denial was arbitrary or capricious.

The Commission shall thereupon set the application for formal public hearing, and shall give notice to all other water suppliers, whether publicly owned or privately owned, and whether or not regulated by the Commission, rendering services in the general area proposed to be served by said water association, and to any planning and zoning or other regulatory agency or agencies with authority in the general area having concern with the application. The Commission may subpoena and summon for hearing purposes any persons deemed necessary by the Commission in order to enable the Commission to evaluate the application of the proponents of said water association, and reach a decision in the best interests of the general public. Intervention by any interested parties, water suppliers, municipal corporations, and governmental agencies shall be freely permitted at such hearing.

(2) The public hearing shall be conducted by the Commission pursuant to the provisions of KRS 278.020. SECTION 22. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky determines as a legislative finding of fact that reduction of the number of operating water districts in the Commonwealth will be in the public interest, in that mergers and joint operations of such districts will tend to eliminate wasteful duplication of costs and efforts, result in a sounder and more businesslike degree of management, and ultimately result in greater economies, less cost, and a higher degree of service to the general public; and that the public policy favors the merger or joint operation of water districts wherever feasible.

(2) The Public Service Commission of Kentucky is authorized and empowered to initiate, carry out, and complete such investigations, inquiries, and studies as may be reasonably necessary to determine the advisability as to the merger or joint operation of water districts. Prior to ordering a hearing with reference to the merger or joint operation of any water district into one or more additional water districts, the Public Service Commission shall cause to be prepared in writing a feasibility report and study regarding the proposed merger or joint operation, containing such studies, investigations, facts, historical data, and projections as in the circumstances may be required in order to enable the Commission to formulate a proper decision regarding such merger or joint operation.

(3) Based upon the written report and study required to be made incident to any water district merger or joint operation, the Public Service Commission may propose by order that a merger or joint operation of water districts be accomplished, and, upon the issuance of such order, shall give actual notice to all water districts proposed to be merged or jointly operated. Said order shall provide for a formal public hearing to be held before the Public Service Commission on the subject of such proposed merger or joint operation. Actual notice of such merger hearing shall also be furnished to the county judges/executive of each county containing a water district proposed to be merged or jointly operated, and each Water Commissioner of a water district proposed to be merged or jointly operated, and notice of such public hearing shall be afforded to the public served by the respective water districts sought to be merged or jointly operated, by newspaper notice in accordance with the provisions of KRS Chapter 424.

(4) A formal hearing before the Public Service Commission shall be held with reference to such merger or joint operation proposal, and, upon such occasion, all water districts which are sought to be merged or jointly operated into a single entity shall be afforded the right to appear, to present evidence, to examine all exhibits and testimony, to cross-examine all witnesses, and to submit such memoranda, written evidence, and briefs as may be desired. Such public hearing may be adjourned from time to time by the Public Service Commission, and notice of such adjournments may, but need not, be afforded as with reference to the initial public hearing. At the conclusion of such proceedings, the Public Service Commission shall enter its order, either merging the water districts which are the subject of the merger proceedings into a single water district, or directing their joint operation, or abandoning the proposal.

(5) Outstanding obligations of any water district merged in accordance with the provisions of this section which are secured by the right to levy an assessment as provided by Section 10 of this Act, inclusive, or secured by a pledge of the income and revenues of the systems operated by any such merged water district, shall continue to be retired from such moneys and funds as shall be collected from the users of facilities operated by such merged water districts in the original water district area in accordance with the terms and provisions of the enabling laws and the authorizing resolutions or indentures under which the outstanding obligations were issued, until all such obligations have been retired.

(6) In any order ordering the merger or joint operation of water districts, the Public Service Commission shall make such additional orders as may be required in connection with the schedule of rates, rentals and charges for services rendered to be levied by the water district which remains in existence following such merger or joint operation, having due regard to contractual commitments made and entered into by the constituent water districts in connection with the issuance of obligations by such districts.

(7) Upon the effective date of any merger of water districts, the Water Commissioners of the merged water districts shall continue to serve as Water Commissioners for the remainder of the terms for which they were appointed, and, following the expiration of the terms of such Water Commissioners, appointments shall be made in accordance with the charter of the water district or with Section 9 of this Act.

(8) Any order of merger or joint operation entered by the Public Service Commission in accordance with this section shall be subject to all of the provisions of KRS Chapter 278, with reference to petitions for rehearing, and appeal.

(9) Using the authority of this section the Public Service Commission can also cause mergers or joint operations of water associations into water associations or mergers or joint operations of water associations into water districts.

(10) Nothing contained herein shall be construed to prohibit or limit in any respect the acquisition by water utilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission or by municipally owned water utilities of the assets of water districts or water associations or the merger of water districts or water associations and water utilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission or municipally owned water utilities.

Only owners of lands within the soil and water conservation district may vote in the referendum.

(2) No informalities in the conduct of the referendum or in any matters relating to the referendum shall invalidate the referendum or its result if notice of the referendum shall have been given substantially as provided in Section 53 of this Act and the referendum has been fairly conducted.

SECTION 55. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The board of the soil and water conservation district shall not enact a proposed land-use regulation into law unless at least ninety per cent (90%) of the votes cast in the referendum have been cast for approval of the proposed regulation, and unless landowners voting to enact the proposed regulation own at least eighty per cent (80%) of the land within the soil and water conservation district.

(2) The approval of the regulation by ninety per cent (90%) of the votes cast in the referendum shall not require the district board to enact the proposed regulation into law.

(3) Land-use regulations, proposed after the district board has determined that uncontrolled soil erosion on some lands within the soil and water conservation district is causing damage to other lands within the conservation district, and prescribed in regulations adopted by the district board shall have the force and effect of law in the soil and water conservation district.

(4) Land-use regulations apply to publicly owned lands, and shall be observed by agencies administering such lands.

SECTION 56. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Land-use regulations shall be uniform throughout the soil and water conservation district except that the board may classify the lands within the soil and water conservation district with reference to such factors as soil type, degree of slope, threatened or existing degree of erosion, cropping and tillage practices in use, and other relevant factors. The board may provide regulations varying with the type or class of land affected, but uniform as to all lands within each class or type. Copies of land-use regulations adopted shall be printed and made available to all owners and occupiers of lands lying within the soil and water conservation district.

SECTION 57. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Any landowner within a soil and water conservation district may at any time file a petition with the board asking that any or all of the land-use regulations prescribed in any ordinance adopted by the board shall be amended, supplemented or repealed. Land-use regulations shall not be amended, supplemented or repealed except in accordance with the procedure prescribed by Sections 51 through 55 of this Act for adoption of land-use regulations. Referendums on adoption, amendment, supplementation or repeal of land-use regulations shall not be held more often than once in six (6) months.

SECTION 58. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(2) The supervisors may go upon lands within the soil and water conservation district to determine whether land-use regulations are being observed.

SECTION 59. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) Where a board finds that any of the provisions of land-use regulations are not being observed on particular lands, and that the nonobservance tends to increase erosion on those lands and is interfering with the prevention or control of erosion on other lands within the soil and water conservation district, the board may present to the circuit court of the county in which the lands of the defendant lie a verified petition setting forth the adoption of the ordinance prescribing land-use regulations, the failure of the defendant landowner or occupier to observe the regulations and to perform particular work, operations or avoidances as required by the regulations, and that such nonobservance tends to increase erosion on the lands and is interfering with the prevention or control of erosion on other lands within the soil and water conservation district. In all cases where the person in possession of lands is not the owner, the owner of the lands shall be joined as party defendant. The petition shall pray the court to require the defendant to perform the work, operations or avoidances within a reasonable time and to order that if the defendant fails to perform the board may go on the land, perform the work or other operations, or otherwise bring the condition of the lands into conformity with the regulations, and recover the costs and expenses thereof, with interest, from the defendant.

(2) Upon the presentation of the petition, the court shall cause process to be issued against the defendant and shall hear the case. If it appears to the court that testimony is necessary for the proper disposition of the matter, it may take evidence or appoint a referee to take such evidence as it may direct, and report the evidence to the court with his findings of fact and conclusions of law, which shall constitute a part of the proceedings upon which the determination of the court shall be made.

SECTION 60. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The court may dismiss the petition filed under Section 59 of this Act, or it may require the defendant to perform the work, operations or avoidances, and may provide that upon the failure of the defendant to initiate performance within the time specified in the order of the court and to prosecute the work to completion with reasonable diligence, the board of the soil and water conservation district may enter upon the lands involved and perform the work or operations or otherwise bring the condition of those lands into conformity with the regulations and recover the costs and expenses thereof, with interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, from the defendant.

SECTION 61. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The court shall retain jurisdiction of the case until after the work required by the court under Section 60 of this Act has been completed. Upon completion of the work pursuant to the order of the court the board may file a petition with the court, a copy of which shall be served upon the defendant in the case, stating the costs and expenses sustained by the board in the performance of the work and praying judgment for such costs and expenses, with interest. The court shall have jurisdiction to enter judgment for the amount of costs and expenses, with interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum until the costs and expenses are paid, together with the cost of the suit.

SECTION 62. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) A board of a soil and water conservation district that has adopted land-use regulations shall provide by ordinance for the establishment of a board of adjustment consisting of three (3) members, each to be appointed for a term of three (3) years, except that the members first appointed shall be appointed for terms of one (1), two (2) and three (3) years, respectively.

(2) The members of the board of adjustment shall be appointed by the soil and water conservation commission, with the advice and approval of the board of the soil and water conservation district for which the board of adjustment has been established.

(3) Members of the board of adjustment shall be removable, upon notice and hearing, for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office, but for no other reason. The hearing shall be conducted jointly by the soil and water conservation commission and the board of the soil and water conservation district.

(4) Vacancies on the board of adjustment shall be filled in the same manner as original appointments, and shall be for the unexpired term.

(5) Members of the soil and water conservation commission and the board shall be ineligible to appointment as members of the board of adjustment.

SECTION 63. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The members of the board of adjustment shall receive compensation for their services at the rate of five dollars ($5.00) per day for time spent on the work of the board of adjustment, in addition to expenses necessarily incurred in the discharge of their duties. The soil and water conservation district board shall pay the necessary administrative and other expenses of operation incurred by the board of adjustment upon the certificate of the chairman of the board of adjustment.

SECTION 64. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The board of adjustment shall adopt regulations to govern its procedures. The regulations shall be in accordance with this chapter and with any ordinance adopted pursuant to Section 62 of this Act.

(2) The board of adjustment shall select a chairman from among its members, and may, from time to time, change the selection.

(3) Meetings of the board of adjustment shall be held at the call of the chairman and at such other times as the board of adjustment may determine. Any two (2) members of the board of adjustment shall constitute a quorum. The chairman, or in his absence such other member of the board of adjustment as he may designate to serve as acting chairman, may administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. All meetings of the board of adjustment shall be open to the public.

(4) The board of adjustment shall keep a full and accurate record of all proceedings, of all documents filed with it, and of all orders entered, which shall be filed in the office of the board of adjustment and shall be a public record.

SECTION 65. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Any landowner or occupier may file a petition with the board of adjustment alleging that there are great practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of his carrying out upon his lands the strict letter of the land-use regulations and praying the board of adjustment to authorize a variance from the terms of the land-use regulations in the application of such regulations to the lands occupied by the petitioner. Copies of the petition shall be served by the petitioner upon the chairman of the board of the soil and water conservation district and upon the chairman of the soil and water conservation commission.

SECTION 66. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The board of adjustment shall fix a time for the hearing of the petition and cause due notice of the hearing to be given. The board of the soil and water conservation district and the soil and water conservation commission may appear and be heard at the hearing. Any owner or occupier of lands lying within the district who objects to the authorizing of the variance prayed for may intervene and become a party to the proceedings. Any party to the hearing before the board of adjustment may appear in person, by agent or by attorney.

SECTION 67. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

If, upon the facts presented at the hearing, under Section 66 of this Act, the board of adjustment determines that there are great practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of applying the strict letter of any of the land-use regulations upon the lands of the petitioner, it shall make and record that determination and make and record findings of fact as to the specific conditions which establish those great practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship. Upon the basis of such findings and determination, the board of adjustment may authorize such variance from the terms of the land-use regulations, in their application to the lands of the petitioner, as will relieve the great practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship and will not be contrary to the public interest. The variance shall be such that the spirit of the land-use regulations shall be observed, the public health, safety and welfare secured and substantial justice done.

SECTION 68. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Any petitioner who has been aggrieved by an order of the board of adjustment granting or denying, in whole or in part, the relief sought, or the board of the district or any intervening party may obtain a review of the order of the board of adjustment in the circuit court for the county within which the lands of the petitioner lie, by filing in that court a petition with a copy of the order complained of praying that the order of the board of adjustment be modified or set aside. When such a petition is filed with the clerk of the circuit court, he shall issue summons on that petition, directed to be served on the chairman of the board of the soil and water conservation district. The practice and proceedings on any and all such petitions shall then be the same as that provided in the Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure with the right of the parties to appeal to the court of appeals.

SECTION 69. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(1) The soil and water conservation commission as referred to in KRS chapter 146, subject to the supervision of the commissioner of natural resources, to the restrictions provided in Sections 69 through 74 of this Act, and to the requirements of KRS chapters 42 and 45, is hereby authorized to acquire and to make available, or to assist in acquiring or making available to soil and water conservation districts, heavy or specialized machinery or equipment which an individual district cannot itself economically obtain.

(2) When the soil and water conservation commission acquires or makes available to any district the machinery or equipment above referred to, it shall require said district to fully amortize, in the form of rentals, to the division of soil and water conservation, as referred to in KRS chapter 146, any amount so expended by the commission for such assistance. The amount and method of amortization for each piece of heavy or specialized machinery or equipment shall be determined by the commission, subject to approval of the commissioner of natural resources, on the basis of a rental to be charged by the district to the user of such machinery or equipment sufficient (a) to fully amortize to the division the capital outlay for the machinery itself over the period of its reasonably anticipated full usefulness; (b) to cover the cost of operation, maintenance and repairs; (c) to pay the usual cost of providing an operator; (d) to compensate the district for the usual costs of transportation from one job to another.

(3) In giving effect to all of the foregoing, the commission shall estimate the amount of time such equipment would ordinarily be idle.

SECTION 70. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The division of soil and water conservation shall retain title to each piece of heavy or specialized machinery or equipment so purchased and made available to any soil and water conservation district until such time as the soil and water conservation districts fully amortize the commission's investment in such machinery or equipment. After the commission's investment in such machinery or equipment has been fully amortized, it is authorized and empowered to transfer the title thereto to the district.

SECTION 71. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Each soil and water conservation district which receives or uses the machinery or equipment referred to in Section 69 of this Act shall maintain its public records to show for each piece of machinery or equipment: (1) the hours same has worked on each job in each district; (2) the amounts collected from each job in each district; (3) the expense of repairing, moving, manning and other usual cost of operation, and (4) the amount paid by each district for the purpose of amortizing the commission's investment in such machinery or equipment. Each of such soil and water conservation districts shall send a duplicate copy of such records to the commission, who shall retain same in its files for public inspection. In addition thereto, the commission shall at all times maintain an account showing each piece of machinery or equipment, the title to which is vested in it, the amount paid thereon by any soil and water conservation district, and the amount remaining to be amortized.

SECTION 72. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The amount paid by any such district to the division for amortization purposes shall be made monthly when the machinery is in use. This amount shall be credited to a revolving fund and the costs of any new machinery or equipment shall be charged to the same account. Neither the appropriation herein made nor the revolving fund shall be used for any purpose other than to make available to soil and water conservation districts the machinery and equipment of the type referred to in Section 69 of this Act.

SECTION 73. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

HB 51, AN ACT relating to special districts.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

SECTION 1. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky determines as a legislative finding of fact that the oversight of special districts by the counties in which such districts operate will be in the public interest, in that such oversight will tend to eliminate wasteful duplications, result in coordination between various units of local government, guarantee the accountability of special districts, and ultimately result in a higher degree of service to the general public.

SECTION 2. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

As used in this Act unless the context requires otherwise:

(1) The words "district" or "special district" mean a quasi municipal corporation or political subdivision created to perform a limited number of public functions within a limited and prescribed area of jurisdiction. It includes all such entities within the state except a city, a county, any entity whose governing body is, by statute, required to be elected at regular elections, any entity whose jurisdiction comprises the entire area of two (2) or more counties, or any agency, authority, or board created or established on the initiative of the legislative body of a city and/or county or the legislative bodies of cities and/or counties.

(2) The words "taxing special district" mean a special district as herein defined which falls within the meaning of Section 157 of the Constitution.

(3) The word "charter" means a document which enumerates the powers and responsibilities of the special district; describes the service area; provides for the composition of the board of directors; describes the officers, including their number, function, and required bond; and provides for the administration of the affairs of the special district.

(4) The words "fiscal court" shall include the legislative body of the urban county government in counties having an urban county form of government.

(5) The words "county judge/executive" shall include the chief executive of the urban county government in counties having an urban county form of government.

SECTION 3. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

A special district, upon certification of its charter by the fiscal court of the county in which it may be located in whole or in part, may perform any governmental function approved by charter which is not prohibited by statute or the Constitution. These governmental functions include: protection of public health and safety; development of economic and industrial resources; provision of water, libraries and other educational services; protection and enhancement of land, water, air and wild life resources; and, collection and disposal of liquid and solid wastes.

SECTION 4. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The charter of a special district may be approved by the fiscal court of the county in which it may be located only upon satisfaction of the following conditions:

(1) Persons desiring to form a special district shall present to the fiscal court a formation petition meeting the criteria of Section 5 of this Act and signed by twenty-five (25) per cent of the registered voters living in the area to be served as of the last general election. Each formation petition shall be accompanied by:

(a) A charter for the special district;

(b) A plan of service, which may be prepared by an area development district or other qualified public or private agency, showing such of the following as may be germane to the purposes for which the district is being formed:

1. Demographic characteristics of the area including but not limited to population, density, projected growth, and assessed valuation;

2. A description of the service area including but not limited to the population to be served, the date of initial service, the nature and extent of the proposed service, the projected effect of providing service on the social and economic growth of the area, and projected growth in service demand or need;

3. A three (3) to five (5) year projection of cost versus revenue;

4. Justification for formation of the special district including but not limited to the location of nearby governmental and nongovernmental providers of like services and documentation by nearby governmental units stating why they cannot or will not provide the proposed service at least as efficiently as the proposed special district;

5. Any additional information such as land use plans, existing land uses, drainage patterns, health problems, and other analyses which, in the judgment of the fiscal court, bear on the necessity and means of providing the proposed service.

(2) The fiscal court shall send the proposed plan of service to all planning commissions, cities, area development districts, within whose jurisdiction the proposed service area is located and to any state agencies required by law to be notified.

(3) The fiscal court shall schedule a hearing on the proposal for no earlier than thirty (30) nor later than ninety (90) days following receipt of the petition, charter, and plan of service, and shall publish notice according to the provisions of KRS Chapter 424.

(4) At the public hearing, the fiscal court shall take testimony of interested parties and solicit the recommendations of any planning commission, city, area development district, or state agency meeting the criteria of subsection 2 of this section.

(5) The fiscal court may extend the hearing, from time-to-time, for ninety (90) days from the initial date of hearing but must render a decision within thirty (30) days of the final adjournment of the hearing.

(6) Following the hearing, the fiscal court shall set forth its written findings of fact and shall approve, disapprove, or approve with modification, the formation of the special district to provide service as described in the charter and plan of service, and to exercise the powers so described in the charter or plan of service provided for in this Act, or granted by specific statute which may apply to the special district being formed.

(7) If the fiscal court approves the formation of a special district other than a taxing special district, the fiscal court shall certify the charter.

(8) If the fiscal court approves the formation of a taxing special district, the question of the formation of the district shall be submitted to the voters, as set forth in the formation petition, through one of the two following methods:

(a) A certification petition signed by a majority of the registered voters living in the area of the proposed district as of the last general election. The certification petition must be submitted to the fiscal court within one hundred eighty (180) days of the fiscal court's approval of the district; or

(b) A referendum among the registered voters living in the area of the proposed district.

1. If the formation petition for a taxing special district states that voter approval is to be sought through a referendum, the fiscal court, upon approving the district, shall adopt a resolution directing the county clerk to cause the question to be placed on the ballot at the next regular election which is more than sixty (60) days from the fiscal court's approval of the district. The county clerk shall give notice of the referendum pursuant to KRS Chapter 424.

2. The question shall be in substantially the following form: "Are you in favor of establishing a (insert type of district) which shall have the authority to impose a maximum ad valorem tax of (insert maximum tax rate) on each one hundred dollars ($100) worth of property assessed for local taxation in the district for the maintenance and operation of the (insert the name of the district)?"

(9) If a valid certification petition is submitted to the fiscal court or if a majority of the votes cast at a referendum held pursuant to subsection (8) of this section favor the creation of a taxing special district, the fiscal court shall certify the charter of the taxing special district.

(10) For taxing purposes the effective date of the tax levy shall be January 1 of the year following the certification of the charter of the taxing special district.

SECTION 5. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

(4) The certification petition for a taxing special district shall contain a clear statement of the maximum amount of tax to be levied for support of the district.

(5) The statements required by subsections (1) and (4) of this section shall appear at the top of each page of the petition.

SECTION 6. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

The charter of a special district may be amended, two or more special districts may be merged or the area or functions of a special district may be expanded or contracted by a vote of the fiscal court after public notice in accordance with KRS Chapter 424 and a public hearing. Following the hearing, the fiscal court shall set forth its written findings of fact in approving or disapproving the merger or alteration of a district.

SECTION 7. A NEW SECTION OF KRS CHAPTER 65 IS CREATED TO READ AS FOLLOWS:

Any city or state agency meeting the criteria of Section 4(2) of this Act, or any citizen living in the proposed area of the special district may appeal the decision of the fiscal court on the formation of a special district or the modification of its charter to the circuit court. The circuit court may affirm the action of the fiscal court, or may deny all or part of the action of the fiscal court and order approval or disapproval of the special district, but may deny the action of the fiscal court only if such decision is found to be arbitrary or capricious. The circuit court may not insert provisions in a charter which were not considered in the original plan of service or in the plan of service as modified during the fiscal court hearing.

(1) The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky determines as a legislative finding of fact that reduction of the number of operating water districts in the Commonwealth will be in the public interest, in that mergers and joint operations of such districts will tend to eliminate wasteful duplication of costs and efforts, result in a sounder and more businesslike degree of management, and ultimately result in greater economies, less cost, and a higher degree of service to the general public; and that the public policy favors the merger or joint operation of water districts wherever feasible.

(2) The Public Service Commission of Kentucky is authorized and empowered to initiate, carry out, and complete such investigations, inquiries, and studies as may be reasonably necessary to determine the advisability as to the merger or joint operation of water districts. Prior to ordering a hearing with reference to the merger or joint operation of any water district into one or more additional water districts, the public service commission shall cause to be prepared in writing a feasibility report and study regarding the proposed merger or joint operation, containing such studies, investigations, facts, historical data, and projections as in the circumstances may be required in order to enable the Commission to formulate a proper decision regarding such merger or joint operation.

(3) Based upon the written report and study required to be made incident to any water district merger or joint operation, the public service commission may propose by order that a merger or joint operation of water districts be accomplished, and, upon the issuance of such order, shall give actual notice to all water districts proposed to be merged or jointly operated. Said order shall provide for a formal public hearing to be held before the public service commission on the subject of such proposed merger or joint operation. Actual notice of such merger hearing shall also be furnished to the county judges of each county containing a water district proposed to be merged or jointly operated, and each water commissioner of a water district proposed to be merged or jointly operated, and notice of such public hearing shall be afforded to the public served by the respective water districts sought to be merged or jointedly operated, by newspaper notice in accordance with the provisions of KRS Chapter 424.

(4) A formal hearing before the public service commission shall be held with reference to such merger or joint operation proposal, and, upon such occasion, all water districts which are sought to be merged into a single entity or jointly operated shall be afforded the right to appear, to present evidence, to examine all exhibits and testimony, to cross-examine all witnesses, and to submit such memoranda, written evidence, and briefs as may be desired. Such public hearing may be adjourned from time to time by the public service commission, and notice of such adjournments may, but need not, be afforded as with reference to the initial public hearing. At the conclusion of such proceedings, the public service commission shall enter its order, either merging the water districts which are the subject of the merger proceedings into a single water district, or directing their joint operation, or abandoning the [merger] proposal.

(5) Outstanding obligations of any water district merged in accordance with the provisions of this section which are secured by the right to levy an assessment as provided by Section 10 of this Act [KRS 74.130 to 74.230], inclusive, or secured by a pledge of the income and revenues of the systems operated by any such merged water district, shall continue to be retired from such moneys and funds as shall be collected from the users of facilities operated by such merged water districts in the original water district area in accordance with the terms and provisions of the enabling laws and the authorizing resolutions or indentures under which the outstanding obligations were issued, until all such obligations have been retired.

(6) In any order ordering the merger or joint operation of water districts, the public service commission shall make such additional orders as may be required in connection with the schedule of rates, rentals and charges for services rendered to be levied by the water district which remains in existence following such merger or joint operation, having due regard to contractual commitments made and entered into by the constituent [merged] water districts in connection with the issuance of obligations by such districts.

(7) Upon the effective date of any merger of water districts, the Water Commissioners of the merged water districts shall continue to serve as Water Commissioners for the remainder of the terms for which they were appointed, and, following the expiration of the terms of such water commissioners, appointments shall be made in accordance with the charter of the water district or Section 9 of this Act [the appropriate county court or county courts shall appoint and reappoint Water Commissioners to manage the business and affairs of the resultant water district, in the manner provided by KRS 74.020].

(8) Any order of merger or joint operation entered by the public service commission in accordance with this section shall be subject to all of the provisions of KRS Chapter 278, with reference to petitions for rehearing, and appeal.

(9) Using the authority of this section the public service commission can also cause mergers or joint operations of water associations into water associations or mergers or joint operations of water associations into water districts.

(10) Nothing contained herein shall be construed to prohibit or limit in any respect the acquisition by water utilities subject to the jurisdiction of the commission or by municipally owned water utilities of the assets of water districts or water associations or the merger of water districts or water associations and water utilities subject to the jurisdiction of the commission or municipally owned water utilities.

(1) (a) Upon the filing of an application for a certificate or permit or for amendment or for sale, transfer or lease or for change in route or for abandonment of a certificate or permit, the bureau shall, within a reasonable time, fix the time and place for a hearing.

(b) Upon the filing of a petition for the removal of a commodity from the exempted list, the same shall be held in the bureau and accumulated with others filed, if any, and at the end of each quarter of the year, the bureau shall fix the time and place for a hearing on petitions filed in the preceding quarter.

(c) At least thirty (30) days before the hearing, the bureau shall mail written notice of the hearing, and the right to file a protest, in accordance with the regulations of the bureau, to the applicant and every authorized carrier, including railroads, serving any part of the route proposed to be served or abandoned by the applicant. The bureau may also give similar notice to any other person, who, in the opinion of the bureau, may be interested in or affected by the granting of the application.

(2) At the time fixed in the notice the bureau shall hold a public hearing on the application. Any person having interest in the subject matter may, in accordance with the regulations prescribed therefor, file a protest to the granting, in whole or in part, of the application.

(3) If the application is for a nonprofit bus certificate and no protest is filed, the bureau may grant the certificate without a hearing, provided the provisions of subsection (3) of Section 7 of this Act are met.

(4) The bureau, may, if the application is solely for rights previously granted by the interstate commerce commission, dispense with the holding of a hearing.

(5) [(4)] Persons engaged in the transportation in interstate commerce in Kentucky of any commodity exempted by the interstate commerce commission from regulation shall be subject to the same Kentucky requirements and regulations as if such persons were transporting commodities not exempted by the interstate commerce commission, except that in lieu of filing or registering with the bureau a certificate of public convenience and necessity as issued by the interstate commerce commission, such persons shall apply to the bureau for a permit or certificate restricted to interstate commerce and such a permit or certificate may be issued without a hearing.

(6) [(5)] If such applicant has been granted an irregular route common carrier certificate by the interstate commerce commission, the bureau may grant an irregular route common carrier certificate restricted to operation in interstate commerce, and on the granting of same, it shall notify the department of revenue of the applicant's operation.

(7) [(6)] The bureau shall promulgate regulations designating as exempted commodities those commodities or property which are normally and usually not transported by common carriers by motor vehicle and may grant an irregular route common carrier certificate upon application, to transport only such exempted commodities without the holding of a hearing; and the bureau may also remove any commodity so designated at any time with a hearing.

(8) [(7)] The bureau may grant a permit, upon application, to operate a U-drive-it without the holding of a hearing.

Section 7. KRS 281.630 is amended to read as follows:

(1) A certificate of public convenience and necessity shall be issued to any qualified applicant therefor, authorizing the whole or any part of the operation covered by the application, if it is found that the applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform the service proposed and to conform to the provisions of this chapter and the requirements and the rules and regulations of the bureau thereunder, and further that the existing transportation service is inadequate, and that the proposed service, to the extent to be authorized by the certificate, is or will be required by the present or future public convenience and necessity, and that the proposed operation, to the extent authorized by the certificate, will be consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this chapter; otherwise such application shall be denied, provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed so as to require the bureau to give, to any existing carrier authorized to render service to, from or between any point on the route proposed to be served by the applicant, any notice regarding the quality or quantity of its service to, from or between such points or to require the bureau to give to such existing carrier any opportunity to improve its existing service or to render the service found to be needed before the issuance of a certificate to the applicant.

(2) In granting a certificate, of public convenience and necessity, the order, among other things, shall specify the route or routes of service and territory to be served, provided that where the certificate to be granted specifies a route or routes or portion of a route or routes common to a certificate or certificates authorizing the same type of operation held by the applicant, all such certificates shall constitute but a single operating authority over that portion of the route or routes common to the certificates. The order granting a certificate shall not limit the number of vehicles to be operated by the motor carrier except that, in the granting of a certificate for the operation of taxicabs, the order shall specify the maximum number of taxicabs to be operated thereunder.

(3) A nonprofit bus certificate shall be issued to any qualified applicant therefor authorizing in whole or in part the operations covered by the application if it appears from the application and any hearing held thereon that the applicant is fit, willing and able properly to render the proposed service and to conform to the applicable provisions of this chapter and the rules and regulations of the bureau thereunder, that the proposed service, to the extent authorized by the certificate, will not unreasonably compete with or divert business from any authorized carrier of passengers then adequately serving the same area, and further that the proposed operation, to the extent authorized by the certificate, will serve the public interest; otherwise such application shall be denied. If no protest to the application is filed, it shall be taken to mean that no unreasonable competition or diversion will occur, and the commissioner may, if satisfied from the application that the applicant is a fit one and that the proposed operation will serve the public interest, issue a nonprofit bus certificate without a hearing.

(4) A carrier shall be entitled to have issued to it by the department as many certificates, and of such types, as will cover its entire authorized operation.

(5) [(4)] A permit shall be granted to any qualified applicant therefor authorizing in whole or in part the operations covered by the application, if it appears from the application and the hearing held thereon that the applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform the service of a contract carrier by motor vehicle and to conform to the provisions of this chapter and the lawful requirements, rules and regulations of the bureau thereunder, and that the proposed operation to the extent authorized by the permit will be consistent with the public interest and the transportation policy declared in this chapter, and that it will not unreasonably impair the efficient public service of any authorized common carrier than adequately serving the same territory, and if it further appears that the existing transportation service is inadequate, and that it appears that the proposed service is needed; otherwise such application shall be denied. The bureau shall specify in the permit the business of the contract carrier covered thereby and the scope thereof, and shall attach to it at the time of issuance, and from time to time thereafter, such reasonable terms, conditions and limitations consistent with the character of the holder as a contract carrier as are necessary to carry out, with respect to the operations of such carrier, the requirements established by the bureau.

(6) [(5)] Amendment or change of route or abandonment of a certificate or permit shall be granted upon the same basis that an original certificate or permit is granted.

(7) [(6)] Any certificate or permit, or portion thereof, may be sold, assigned, leased or transferred, after a hearing and notice to interested parties as provided for in KRS 281.625 and subject to such terms and conditions and such modifications as the bureau shall find to be just and reasonable, provided the transferee is fit, willing and able to render the proposed service and the proposed transaction, subject to such terms, conditions and modifications as the bureau may impose, will not [, unless it would] be against the public interest, and provided further that the commissioner may approve the sale and transfer of a certificate or permit, or portion thereof, without a hearing if, after due notice of the proposed sale or transfer is given to all interested parties in accordance with the rules and regulations of the bureau, no protest is filed to the proposed sale or transfer and the commissioner believes that it will be in the public interest.

(8) [(7)] For the purpose of this section, a transfer of the controlling stock of a corporation owning a certificate or permit may be considered a transfer of said certificate or permit.

(9) [(8)] Upon the consummation of a merger or consolidation of motor carriers as effected under the provisions of KRS Chapter 271A, the surviving or new corporation, as the case may be, shall own and possess all of the certificates, permits, authorizations, licenses, rights, privileges, franchises and properties owned or possessed by each of such motor carriers; and if such merger or consolidation is set aside, the certificates, permits, authorizations, licenses, rights, privileges, franchises and properties acquired by the surviving or new corporation through the merger or consolidation shall become revested in the corporation from which acquired, unless disposed of, subject to such indebtedness and liens as may be equitable, and all other properties of the surviving or new corporation shall become vested in the constituent corporation in such manner as may be fair and equitable.

(10) (9) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (4) [(3)] of this section, where a motor carrier has been granted two (2) or more certificates or permits authorizing the same type of operation over a route or routes or a portion of a route or routes common to two (2) or more of the certificates or permits, the carrier shall be deemed to possess only one operating authority over that portion of the routes common to the certificates or permits.

(b) The bureau is authorized to recall any certificates and to reissue one or more certificates covering the exact authority.

Section 8. KRS 281.632 is amended to read as follows:

(1) To enable the provision of service for which there is an immediate and urgent need to or from a point or points or within a territory having no carrier service capable of meeting such need, the bureau, may, in its discretion and without hearings or other proceedings, grant temporary authority for such service by a common carrier or contract carrier by motor vehicle or by an applicant for a nonprofit bus certificate, as the case may be. Such temporary authority, unless suspended or revoked for good cause, shall be valid for such time as the bureau shall specify but for not more than an aggregate of one hundred eighty (180) days, and shall create no presumption that corresponding permanent authority will be granted thereafter.

(2) Pending the determination of an application filed with the bureau for approval of a consolidation or merger of the properties of two (2) or more motor carriers, or of a purchase, lease, or contract to operate the properties of one or more motor carriers, the bureau may, in its discretion, and without hearings or other proceedings, grant temporary approval, for a period not exceeding one hundred eighty (180) days, of the operation of the motor carrier properties sought to be acquired by the persons proposing in such pending application to acquire such properties, if it shall appear that failure to grant such temporary approval may result in destruction of or injury to such motor carrier properties sought to be acquired, or to interfere substantially with their future usefulness in the performance of adequate and continuous service to the public.

Section 9. KRS 281.675 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Every rate, fare and charge demanded or received by any certificate holder [common carrier or irregular route common carrier] shall be just and reasonable, and every holder of a certificate [such carrier] shall furnish adequate, efficient, safe and reasonable service.

(2) Every contract made by a contract carrier for transportation service shall be just and reasonable, and shall be comparable to the rate charged by any common carrier for the same or similar service, and such contract carrier shall furnish adequate, efficient, safe and reasonable service.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this chapter:

(1) All cities of the commonwealth are vested with the power to sell franchises or, where no franchise is sold, grant authorizations for the operation of city buses over their streets and highways; Provided, however, no person shall apply for or obtain any such franchise or authorization from any city without a prior finding by the bureau of vehicle regulation, after a hearing, that there is a demand and necessity for the service sought to be rendered, which finding shall be valid and effective for a period of one (1) year from and after the date thereof, exclusive of any delay due to the order of any court. Upon certification by the bureau to such city that there is a demand and necessity for the service sought to be rendered, any city may award any duly qualified person a franchise or authorization covering the proposed operation. Upon acquiring such a franchise or authorization, the holder thereof shall apply to the bureau of vehicle regulation for a city bus certificate which shall be issued to the holder of the franchise or authorization without a hearing. The governing body of any city of the first five (5) [three] classes which does not have a city bus service, may determine that there is a demand and necessity for a city bus service, and may thereafter apply to the bureau of vehicle regulation for a city bus certificate to be operated by said city which may be issued without a hearing, provided that the bureau determines that it will be in the public interest. Unless a certificate is exercised within one (1) year from the grant thereof, exclusive of any delay due to the order of any court, the authority conferred by the issuance of the certificate of convenience and necessity shall be void.

(2) The applicant for a certificate or renewal of a certificate to operate a city bus shall at the time of application file with the bureau a map or maps showing the route or routes and territory proposed to be served, together with a time schedule, and shall thereafter, during the license year, file only such additional maps or time schedules as the commissioner may require.

(3) The governing body of any city of the first four (4) classes in the commonwealth in which city buses operate shall have supervisory and regulatory power over such city buses, while operating in such city, and shall have authority to enforce all ordinances or regulations pertaining to routes, services, time schedules and operation of said city buses and the drivers thereof, provided that any interested party may appeal to the bureau from any action, finding or order of any such city within thirty (30) days after the entry of such action, finding or order, and a hearing shall be held before the bureau in the same manner as other hearings are held as provided for in this chapter; Provided, however, That any such action, finding or order of any such city shall be sustained if there is substantial evidence or reason to support it; otherwise the bureau shall make such orders as it deems necessary and proper. However, where a carrier's entire operation is confined to intracity transportation within the corporate limits of a single city, there shall be no appeal to the bureau from the actions, findings or orders of such a city. Provided further, That where any city bus is subject to the regulatory powers of more than one (1) city and such regulations are in conflict or such as to impede the transportation facilities serving such cities, or the carrier is failing to furnish safe, adequate and convenient service to the public, the bureau may, upon complaint or on its own initiative, call a hearing and enter such orders as are necessary and proper.

(4) The governing body of any city of the first five (5) classes in the commonwealth in which taxicabs operate shall have supervisory and regulatory power over taxicabs certificated to operate in said city, and while operating in said city, and shall have authority to enforce all ordinances or regulations pertaining to the number and operation of taxicabs, provided that any interested party may appeal to the bureau from any action, finding or order of any city within thirty (30) days after the entry of such action, finding or order, and a hearing shall be held before the bureau in the same manner as other hearings are held as provided for in this chapter; Provided, however, That any such action, finding or order of any such city shall be sustained if there is substantial evidence or reason to support it; otherwise the bureau shall make such orders as it deems necessary and proper. However, where a carrier's entire operation is confined to intracity transportation within the corporate limits of a single city, there shall be no appeal to the bureau from the actions, findings or orders of such a city.

(5) The governing body of any city of the first five (5) classes in the commonwealth is hereby vested with the exclusive power to prescribe the qualifications with respect to the health, vision, sobriety, intelligence, ability, moral character and experience of the drivers of taxicabs certificated to operate in said city, and while operating in said city, and may issue permits for qualified drivers. However, any taxicab driver must also possess a Kentucky operator's license.

(6) Until such time as any city of the commonwealth enacts such ordinances or prescribes such rules and regulations as may be reasonably necessary to exercise the prior powers herein delegated to such cities respecting the supervision and regulation of city buses, taxicabs and taxicab drivers, the bureau shall possess such powers and may, by regulation, prescribe such rules as may be reasonably necessary to supervise and control city buses, taxicabs and taxicab drivers, having regard for the public safety and the public need for service.

(7) If any city fails to exercise any of the authority granted it herein, such authority shall be vested in the bureau.

(8) The bureau may, under the provisions of this chapter, originate, establish, change, promulgate and enforce any rate that has or may be fixed by any contract, franchise or agreement between the holder of any city bus certificate and any city, and all rights and obligations arising out of such contract regulating any such rate shall be subject to the jurisdiction and supervision of the bureau, but no such rate shall be changed nor any contract, franchise or agreement affecting it be abrogated or changed until a hearing has been had.

Section 11. KRS 281.700 is amended to read as follows:

(1) No common carrier shall abandon or change any route or service, except upon an application heretofore provided for; except, however, if it becomes necessary, on account of the condition of the highways or other emergency, a common carrier may make temporary changes in route, service or schedules by notifying the bureau of such change. However, any carrier operating under a suburban bus certificate may make such changes in routes and schedules as may be necessary for the public convenience and shall not be required to notify the bureau of such changes, unless such changed condition is to continue for a period longer than ten (10) days, in which event the carrier shall notify the bureau of the additional time that it desires such change or changes to remain in effect, and the reason therefor, and the bureau may grant such extension of time without a hearing.

(2) If after the granting of a certificate of public convenience and necessity, a nonprofit bus certificate or a permit, operation is not begun within sixty (60) days thereof, said certificate or permit will become null and void, and cannot be reinstated; Provided, however, That the bureau may grant an additional time to begin such operation, provided application therefor is made within the sixty-day period.

(3) If, after any [a] motor carrier has operated in good faith, there is an abandonment of the whole or any part of said operation, the bureau may notify said motor carrier to immediately begin such operation, and if such motor carrier fails to do so within thirty (30) days thereof, the bureau may enter an order cancelling said certificate or permit, with or without a hearing, or it may enter an order requiring the motor carrier to operate such abandoned route.

Section 12. KRS 281.720 is amended to read as follows:

The bureau shall prescribe and furnish a distinguishing plate or plates, which shall at all times be displayed on each motor vehicle authorized to be operated under a certificate of public convenience and necessity or permit. Where a carrier is the holder of one or more city bus certificates, or the carrier holds both a city bus certificate or certificates and a suburban bus certificate or certificates, the bureau shall issue to it for each vehicle operated thereunder a city bus license plate which shall authorize the operation of said vehicle under either one or all the certificates so held. No person shall transfer such plates from one motor vehicle to another except by the authority and with the consent of the bureau.

Section 13. KRS 186.281 is amended to read as follows:

(1) On or before January 1 of each year, and as a condition precedent to the use of the highways, every motor carrier primarily engaged in transporting passengers for hire shall pay to the department of motor transportation for the privilege of using the highways an annual tax upon each motor vehicle so used, as follows: Four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50) for each regular seat for the first thirty-one (31) seats, and eight dollars ($8.00) for all seats in excess of thirty-one (31); except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, except that holders of nonprofit bus certificates shall be exempt from payment hereunder and except that taxicabs, city buses, industrial buses, suburban buses, and U-Drive-Its, shall pay the fees set forth in subsection (4) of this section.

(2)(a) Any such motor carrier engaged in regular route interstate commerce or combined interstate and intrastate commerce and operating two (2) or more vehicles in Kentucky shall be required to pay only that portion of a tax imposed by subsection (1) as the number of miles operated by such fleet of motor vehicles in Kentucky bears to the total miles operated by such fleet in any license year, or portion thereof.

(b) Any such motor carrier shall prior to January 1 of each license year, and as a prerequisite to operating on the highways of this state, obtain a permit from the department of motor transportation and at that time shall pay its estimated tax hereunder, as determined by the department of motor transportation's applicable regulations, and execute bond for any additional tax which might be due, with or without surety thereon, as the department of motor transportation in its discretion and according to its regulations might require.

(c) The department of motor transportation is authorized and directed to promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary to effectuate the apportionment of taxes prescribed in subsection (2). Such regulations shall provide that the estimate of such taxes for any license year shall be that proportion that would have been due in the prior license year and shall further provide for a license year-end accounting with a system of credit or deficiency assessment in any amount by which the estimate differs from the tax due hereunder.

(3) Every motor carrier primarily engaged in transporting passengers for hire shall pay to the department of motor transportation for the privilege of using the highways, including deadhead mileage, a mileage tax as follows: Buses with one (1) to twenty (20) regular seats inclusive, none; buses with twenty-one (21) to twenty-nine (29) regular seats, inclusive, one-fourth (1/4) of a cent per mile; buses with thirty (30) to thirty-four (34) regular seats, inclusive, one-half (1/2) of a cent per mile; buses with thirty-five (35) to thirty-nine (39) regular seats, inclusive, three-fourths (3/4) of a cent per mile; buses with forty (40) regular seats or more, one cent per mile, except that holders of nonprofit bus certificates shall be exempt from payment hereunder and except that taxicabs, city buses, industrial buses, suburban buses and U-Drive-Its shall pay the fees set forth in subsection (4) of this section, in addition to all fees set forth in KRS 186.050 (1) if applicable.

(4) Taxicabs, city, suburban and industrial buses, and U-Drive-Its, shall pay the following annual license fees:

Each taxicab	$3.00 per seat
Each city bus	5.00 per vehicle
Each industrial bus	2.50 per seat
Each suburban bus	5.00 per vehicle
Each U-Drive-It passenger car	2.50 per seat

(5) All cities of the commonwealth are hereby authorized to impose an annual license tax on all taxicabs certificated by the department of motor transportation for operation in said city, which license tax shall not exceed thirty dollars ($30.00) per taxicab.

(3) Determine the amount of entrance and/or registration fees and approve the qualifications for admission to the public institutions of higher education. The council shall report these data annually as a separate section in its official enrollment report.*

(4) Consider the requirements and review the budget requests, which shall be prepared in the manner and submitted by the institutions to the council by dates prescribed by the council, of the institutions of public higher education as to their appropriate level of support considering the functions of the institutions and their respective needs. Penalty for Illegal Placement

The sending, bringing, or causing to be sent or brought into any receiving state of a child in violation of the terms of this compact shall constitute a violation of the laws respecting the placement of children of both the state in which the sending agency is located or from which it sends or brings the child and of the receiving state. Such violation may be punished or subjected to penalty in either jurisdiction in accordance with its laws. In addition to liability for any such punishment or penalty, any such violation shall constitute full and sufficient grounds for the suspension or revocation of any license, permit, or other legal authorization held by the sending agency which empowers or allows it to place, or care for children.

ARTICLE V
Retention of Jurisdiction

(a) The sending agency shall retain jurisdiction over the child sufficient to determine all matters in relation to the custody, supervision, care, treatment and disposition of the child which it would have had if the child had remained in the sending agency's state, until the child is adopted, reaches majority, becomes self-supporting or is discharged with the concurrence of the appropriate authority in the receiving state. Such jurisdiction shall also include the power to effect or cause the return of the child or its transfer to another location and custody pursuant to law. The sending agency shall continue to have financial responsibility for support and maintenance of the child during the period of the placement. Nothing contained herein shall defeat a claim of jurisdiction by a receiving state sufficient to deal with an act of delinquency or crime committed therein.

(b) When the sending agency is a public agency, it may enter into an agreement with an authorized public or private agency in the receiving state providing for the performance of one or more services in respect of such case by the latter as agent for the sending agency.

(c) Nothing in this compact shall be construed to prevent a private charitable agency authorized to place children in the receiving state from performing services or acting as agent in that state for a private charitable agency of the sending state; nor to prevent the agency in the receiving state from discharging financial responsibility for the support and maintenance of a child who has been placed on behalf of the sending agency without relieving the responsibility set forth in paragraph (a) hereof.

ARTICLE VI
Institutional Care of Delinquent Children

A child adjudicated delinquent may be placed in an institution in another party jurisdiction pursuant to this compact but no such placement shall be made unless the child is given a court hearing on notice to the parent or guardian with opportunity to be heard, prior to his being sent to such other party jurisdiction for institutional care and the court finds that:

1. Equivalent facilities for the child are not available in the sending agency's jurisdiction; and
2. Institutional care in the other jurisdiction is in the best interest of the child and will not produce undue hardship.

ARTICLE VII
Compact Administrator

The executive head of each jurisdiction party to this compact shall designate an officer who shall be general coordinator of activities under this compact in his jurisdiction and who, acting jointly with like officers of other party jurisdictions, shall have power to promulgate rules and regulations to carry out more effectively the terms and provisions of this compact.

ARTICLE VIII
Limitations

This compact shall not apply to:

(a) The sending or bringing of a child into a receiving state by his parent, step-parent, grandparent, adult brother or sister, adult uncle or aunt, or his guardian and leaving the child with any such relative or non-agency guardian in the receiving state.

(b) Any placement, sending or bringing of a child into a receiving state pursuant to any other interstate compact to which both the state from which the child is sent or brought and the receiving state are party, or to any other agreement between said states which has the force of law.

ARTICLE IX
Enactment and Withdrawal

This compact shall be open to joinder by any state, territory or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and, with the consent of Congress, the Government of Canada or any province thereof. It shall become effective with respect to any such jurisdiction when such jurisdiction has enacted the same into law. Withdrawal from this compact shall be by the enactment of a statute repealing the same, but shall not take effect until two years after the effective date of such statute and until written notice of the withdrawal has been given by the withdrawing state to the Governor of each other party jurisdiction. Withdrawal of a party state shall not affect the rights, duties and obligations under this compact of any sending agency therein with respect to a placement made prior to the effective date of withdrawal.

ARTICLE X

Construction and Severability

The provisions of this compact shall be liberally construed to effectuate the purposes thereof. The provisions of this compact shall be severable and if any phrase, clause, sentence or provision of this compact is declared to be contrary to the constitution of any party state or of the United States or the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person or circumstance is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of this compact and the applicability thereof to any government, agency, person or circumstance shall not be affected thereby. If this compact shall be held contrary to the constitution of any state party thereto, the compact shall remain in full force and effect as to the remaining states and in full force and effect as to the states affected as to all severable matters.

Section 4. KRS 199.370 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The provisions of KRS 199.350 shall not apply to a parent, step-parent, grandparent, adult brother or sister, or adult uncle or aunt [relative] going to any other state or country and bringing a child into this state for the purpose of giving it a home in his own family, and may be waived by the department for any child brought into the state under the supervision of the division or licensed child-caring or child-placing institution or agency by written agreement with the responsible [state] agency of the other state or country, or under special circumstances agreed to in writing by the department and the persons wishing to import a child.

(2) The provisions of KRS 199.350 shall not apply to placements made pursuant to the interstate compact on the placement of children.

Section 5. KRS 199.460 is amended to read as follows:

In addition to the other duties, functions, and responsibilities imposed by law, the department, through its authorized representatives, shall have general supervision and management of all matters contained in KRS 199.350 to 199.370 and shall, wherever possible:

(1) Locate and plan for all children who are dependent, neglected or abused, abandoned or in danger of becoming delinquent;

(2) Cooperate with and assist the juvenile courts of the various counties;

(3) Assist circuit courts through services to children whenever requested by the court; and

(4) Perform such other services as may be deemed necessary for the welfare of children.

Section 6. KRS 199.473 is amended to read as follows:

(1) All persons other than a licensed child-placing agency or institution, the department or persons excepted by KRS 199.470(4) or (5) who wish to place or receive a child shall make written application to the secretary for permission to place or receive a child. Upon receipt of an application to place or receive a child the secretary shall cause an investigation to be made of the home and the background of the person or persons wishing to receive the child. The purpose of the investigation shall be to determine the suitability of the applicants to receive a child, taking into account at all times the best interest of the child for whom application to receive has been made. The child welfare worker making the investigation shall make a finding in writing recommending either that the application be granted or that the application be denied. In either case reasons for the child welfare worker's recommendation shall be given in writing. The recommendation of the child welfare worker shall then be reviewed by the secretary. Based on the report and recommendation of the child welfare worker making the investigation, the secretary shall grant or refuse permission for the applicant to place or receive a child as early as practicable, but, in any case, the decision shall be made within sixty days after the receipt of the application. In reaching his decision the secretary shall be guided by the ability of the persons wishing to receive the child to give the child a suitable home, and shall at all times consider the best interest of the child from a financial, medical, psychological and psychiatric standpoint. If the application is refused the secretary shall in general terms furnish in writing the reasons for his refusal.

(2) In any case where the department refuses to approve the placement of a child for adoption when requested by the parent or parents of the child, or refuses the request of any person or persons that a child be placed with him or them for adoption, the decision of the secretary in so refusing shall be final unless within ten days after notice of refusal, the natural or proposed adopting parent or parents shall appeal to the circuit court of the county in which the adoption is proposed, provided however that no placement shall be disapproved on the basis of the religious, ethnic, racial or inter-faith background of the adoptive applicant, if such placement is made with the consent of the parent. The department shall be made a party defendant to the appeal. In the hearing of an appeal the court shall review the findings of the secretary and shall determine if the secretary has acted arbitrarily, unlawfully, or in such a manner as to constitute an abuse of discretion.

(3) No person, association or organization, other than the department or a licensed child-placing institution or agency shall place a child or act as intermediary in the placement of a child for adoption or otherwise; except in the home of a stepparent, grandparent, sister, brother, aunt or uncle, or upon written approval of the secretary. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit the department for human resources in carrying out its aid to dependent children program in accordance with KRS Chapter 205.

(4) In the event a child who does not fall within the exception provided for in KRS 199.470(4) or (5) is placed or received in a home without the permission of the secretary for human resources, or in the event permission to receive a child has been denied, a representative of the department may petition the juvenile court of the county in which the child is found setting out the facts concerning the child. When such petition has been filed, the juvenile court shall take jurisdiction of the child and shall provide for it as it would provide for a dependent [needy], neglected or abused [dependent] child under KRS 208.020 except that the child may not be placed in the home of the applicants to receive him unless permission to do so is granted by the secretary or such action is ordered by a circuit court, the Kentucky Court of Appeals or Supreme Court of Kentucky.

(5) Nothing in this statute shall be construed to limit the authority of the department or a licensed child-placing institution or agency to determine the proper disposition of a child committed to it by the juvenile court or the circuit court, prior to the filing of an application to place or receive.

Section 7. KRS 199.470 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person who is eighteen (18) years of age and who is a resident of this state or who has resided in this state for twelve (12) months next before filing may file a petition for leave to adopt a child in the circuit court of the county in which the petitioner resides.

(2) If the petitioner is married, the husband or wife must join in a petition for leave to adopt a child unless the petitioner is married to a natural parent of the child to be adopted, except that if the court finds the requirement of a joint petition would serve to deny the child a suitable home, such requirement may be waived.

(3) No petition for the adoption of any child under the age of sixteen (16) shall be filed until after the child has lived continuously in the home of the petitioner for at least three (3) months immediately prior to the filing of the petition unless the child has been placed for adoption by the department or an agency licensed to place children for adoption by the department. In the case of a child placed for adoption by the department or an agency licensed by the department, the petition may be filed at the time of placement. No child placed by the department or a licensed child-placing agency shall be considered placed for the purpose of adoption unless or until the prospective adoptive parents have been notified in writing by the department or agency that the child has been placed with them for the purpose of adoption.

(4) No petition for adoption shall be filed unless prior to the filing of the petition the child sought to be adopted has been placed for adoption by a licensed child-placing institution or agency or by the department, or the child has been placed with written approval of the secretary; but no such approval shall be necessary in the case of:

(a) A child sought to be adopted by a stepparent, grandparent, sister, brother, aunt or uncle;

(b) A child received by the proposed adopting parent or parents from an agency without this state with the written consent of the secretary.

(5) Subsection (4) of this section shall not apply to those children placed for adoption prior to June 14, 1962.

Section 8. KRS 199.500 is amended to read as follows:

(1) No adoption shall be granted without the sworn consent of the living parent or parents of a legitimate child or the mother of the child born out of wedlock, or the father of the child born out of wedlock if paternity is established in a legal action or if an affidavit is filed stating that the affiant is the father of the child, except that such consent of the living parent or parents shall not be required if:

(a) Such parent or parents have been adjudged incompetent and such judgment shall have been in effect for not less than one (1) year prior to the filing of the petition for adoption;

(b) The parental rights of such parents have been terminated under KRS 199.600 to 199.630; or

(c) The living parents are divorced and the parental rights of one (1) parent have been terminated under KRS 199.600 and consent has been given by the parent having custody and control of the child.

(2) A minor parent who is a party defendant may consent to an adoption but a guardian ad litem for such parent shall be appointed.

(3) In the case of a child twelve (12) years of age or older, the consent of the child shall be given in court, provided that the court in its discretion may waive this requirement.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, an adoption may be granted without the consent of the natural living parents of a child if it is pleaded and proved as a part of the adoption proceedings that any of the provisions of subsections (1) or (2) of KRS 199.600 exist with respect to such child.

(5) In no case shall an adoption be granted or a consent for adoption be held valid if such consent for adoption is given prior to the fifth day after the birth of the child.
